In 2003, David Gooding co-founded Gooding & Company with Dawn Ahrens; in 2024, the entity was acquired by global luxury leader and auction house Christie's, a monumental milestone for both respective companies. Throughout the years, the Gooding team has established itself as the leading international full-service collector car enterprise that also specializes in private treaty and estate sales. A faithful relationship with clients is one of the pillars upon which Gooding Christie's was founded, and David Gooding has become an internationally recognized leader of the collector car market through years of expertise.
