Q. How is SomaDerm + CBD different from SomaDerm?

A. SomaDerm has long since been a reliable solution for overall hormone health by supporting endogenous HGH production. The benefits are vast and work through the systemic processes of the endocrine system. SomaDerm + CBD works through innovative ingredients to support systemic issues like inflammation as well as provide acute solutions for discomfort and stress on the body. As the marketplace for natural solutions, such as SomaDerm, continues to increase, so does the marketplace for solutions that address acute processes like inflammatory balance, pain, and stress.

SomaDerm + CBD was created to support these acute issues through CBD while simultaneously addressing hormone health. SomaDerm + CBD is designed to address hormone health, systemic inflammatory balance, acute discomfort, stress, and provide relief through hormone mechanisms, making it the most advanced hormone product on the market.
