State outlook

As Vermont's population ages, older residents will play a critical role in the state's economic growth, fueling innovation and making economic and social contributions that benefit people of all ages. Policymakers, business leaders and elected officials must ensure programs and policies are in place to unlock the full potential of this economic engine.

Key findings

Vermont's 50-plus residents contribute more to the state's economy than their share of the population.

Their impact totals $25 billion—50% of the state's GDP in 2024—while people 50-plus account for 42% of the population. This contribution will grow to $44 billion by 2060 (51% of GDP), reinforcing their role as a key driver of economic growth.

The economic activity of Vermont's 50-plus population will drive substantial tax revenue for decades.

In 2024, the activities of people 50-plus supported $2.5 billion in state and local taxes (45% of Vermont's total). That figure will expand to $4.9 billion by 2060.

Methodology

This profile details the contribution of the 50-plus population, both in-state and through interstate commerce, to the state's economy. The overall impact includes the direct effects of their spending, work contributions and taxes paid. It also includes the ripple effects this generates—via business supply chains and through the wages and spending of other workers. All forecasts are informed by data from REMI, the Bureau of Economic Analysis, Bureau of Labor Statistics, United States Census Bureau, Harvard's Joint Center for Housing Studies and Economist Enterprise's macroeconomic forecasts.
