Integrations as easy as 1, 2, 3

Whispir works with major CRMs

Communicating with your contacts should be easy and efficient. We've perfected our API to seamlessly connect with any CRM so you can focus on what really matters – your business.

With Whispir, you'll be able to boost audience and customer engagement with branded, easy-to-build communications that can be sent across any channel. Our integration will automatically pull contact updates from your CRM in the background, so you can always be sure that you're sending messages to the right people. It's that simple.

We'll handle the implementation in 3 easy steps

We take integrations seriously. That's why we've built our process to be quick and easy – requiring a minimal amount of effort from our clients. During our onboarding session, here's what you can expect to see in one day:

1

You give us your credentials

2

We review together and deploy the integration

3

Whispir works with you to test and ensure everything is aligned

What about calendar reminders?

We thought of that integration, too. Whispir's automated appointment reminders reduce no-shows without increasing your workload, helping save you time and money – and they integrate with all major calendar providers, like Gmail and Office 365. You'll be able to set the initial text reminder for however far in advance you'd like customers to receive it, and also automate follow-up responses based on if or how they responded to the text.

Automation

Your staff has better things to do with their time. Schedule SMS appointment reminders to send automatically.

Follow-up responses

Create a friendlier, more human interaction by automating follow-up responses based on if or how a recipient confirms their appointment.

Cost savings

Forgetfulness is a primary reason people miss appointments, so an appointment reminder text can make all the difference – and save you lots of money.
