INGREDIENT HIGHLIGHTS

LINGONBERRY EXTRACT

Lingonberries are packed with antioxidant power in the form of plant chemicals called polyphenols. Studies have shown lingonberries prevent fat deposition and thus lingonberry extract may support weight loss.

MANGOSTEEN

This tropical fruit is a natural source of hydroxycitric acid (HCA), a compound that research suggests may prevent fat storage, help control appetite, and support a healthy metabolism.

GREEN TEA CONCENTRATE

This herbal extract contains tea catechins, naturally occurring polyphenols that may have a positive effect on both lipid and carbohydrate metabolism.

FAQs

Q: How does Action Caps® Fit help me burn fat?

A: Key to this formula's effectiveness is how it targets a specific type of fat in the body. Your body has brown fat (energy burning) and white fat (energy storing). Brown fat has the unique capacity to reduce white fat by activating thermogenesis, a metabolic process in which brown fat uses white fat as fuel and burns energy (calories) to be used for body heat. Action Caps® Fit is designed to support this process.

Q: Why is brown fat considered a "good fat" and white fat considered a "bad fat"?

A: Because brown fat burns calories, this type of fat can help you maintain a healthy weight, in addition to helping you stay warm. Brown fat is actually more closely related to muscle than to white fat, and it becomes activated when you get cold. Activated brown fat uses white fat as fuel and burns more energy (calories) to be used for body heat.

White fat is the adipose fat found below the skin and around the organs. White fat is much more plentiful than brown fat. White fat does help us to regulate our temperature by insulating organs, but it does little to burn calories like brown fat does. You generate white fat by consuming too many calories and expending too few calories. Typically found on the belly, buttocks, and thighs, it's the fat we attempt to lose when embarking on a weight-loss program.
