FAQs

Q: Isn't bacteria harmful?

A: Bacteria gets a bad rap. While the idea of consuming bacteria can be unsettling, it's important to know the facts: Probiotics, or "friendly bacteria," are naturally found in foods like yogurt and miso, as well as inside your body. These beneficial bacteria can help improve gut health, boost immunity, and support many of your body's systems.

Q: How does beneficial bacteria become depleted?

A: Colonies of beneficial bacteria live inside your gut to help you properly digest food and absorb nutrients. Illness, gastrointestinal disorders, autoimmune diseases, chronic alcohol use, antibiotics, laxatives, and poor diet can deplete these critical colonies, wreaking havoc on your digestive system and causing abdominal discomfort, bloating, and constipation. VitaDophilus® is a convenient, effective way to naturally help rebuild gut flora and restore digestive balance.
