FAQ

Q: Why is the eye area particularly prone to wrinkles?

A: The signs of aging show up in the delicate eye area first. This is because the eye contour has the thinnest and most fragile skin on the entire face. Lacking in sebaceous glands, collagen, and elastin fibers, it's also under the strain of 22 muscles in perpetual motion and 10,000 blinks per day. It's no wonder why the eye contour is the first area to show signs of aging.

Q: Is Oi-Lin Replenish Gel suitable for all skin types?

A: Yes, our botanically based anti-aging gel is formulated to be suitable for all skin types. The use of soothing botanical ingredients like sea buckthorn oil (high in oleic acid) and evening primrose oil, which has a high linolenic acid content, promotes healthy skin and skin repair* and even calms skin irritation and inflammation.

HOW TO USE

INGREDIENT HIGHLIGHTS

SEA BUCKTHORN OIL

Rich in omega fatty acids and powerful antioxidants, sea buckthorn helps seal in moisture, neutralize free radicals, and minimize the appearance of fine lines and wrinkles. This natural emollient is also high in oleic acid, which is beneficial for dry, irritated, or prematurely aging skin.

BETA-CAROTENE

Derived from the red pigment found in plants and fruits, beta carotene is considered a provitamin due to its conversion into the active form of vitamin A (retinol). This essential nutrient plays a key role in supporting skin renewal, promoting both skin health and beauty.

EVENING PRIMROSE OIL

The oil from this wildflower helps to calm and soothe the skin. These properties, together with the linoleic acid, helps restore the skin's protective moisture barrier and promote soft, smooth, and more youthful-looking skin.

PANTHENOL

A form of vitamin B5, panthenol acts as a skin moisturizer, helping to keep skin soft, smooth, and supple. It may also stimulate cell growth and tissue repair.*
