

Report Disclaimer

The content of the GS1 Savings Calculator is provided by GS1 as is, without any kind of guarantees, explicitly, implicitly or otherwise. GS1 expressly refuses any and all guarantees, including (but not limited to) guarantees for availability and suitability for a particular purpose in relation to the content or any materials and information either existing or generated.

In no circumstances will GS1, its affiliated companies, licensees or employees be liable, whether any infringement of the agreement, any warranty, any offence (including negligence) or any other type of product liability is concerned.

In particular, no liability is assumed for:

- Special or incidental damages, direct, indirect or other consequential damages (including data losses or damage, interruptions, computer errors, access errors, hazardous components such as computer viruses or financial losses) resulting from the use or the inability to use the GS1 Savings Calculator;
- Loss of income, business or profits (direct or indirect) resulting from the use or the inability to use the Savings Calculator;
- Any loss or damage You have suffered as a result of:
  - The use or the inability to use the created outputs and deliverables);
  - the temporary or permanent suspension or termination of this agreement on the part of GS1;
  - the release of a new version of the GS1 Savings Calculator or the decision not to release a new software version to You;
- The reliability or accuracy of any information or the content of the GS1 Savings Calculator and its associated websites and web pages ("GS1 Savings Calculator"). GS1 is not obligated to ensure that the content of the GS1 Savings Calculator is accurate or complete, up-to-date or current, free from technical or typographical errors or alterations by third parties; or
- The quality of all information or materials displayed which are bought or downloaded.

These restrictions regarding to the liability and the disclaimer and any warranty provided under the terms and conditions of use are applicable in any case, even if claims have been asserted to GS1, its affiliated companies or the respective employees.

You accept that GS1 is entitled (but not obligated, unless there is a legal requirement) to amend, withdraw or otherwise modify the content of the GS1 Savings Calculator and its websites, webpages and software at any time and without prior notice or notification to You.