

BUSINESS CONTINUITY SUMMARY DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

Events such as disasters, power outages, cybersecurity events, and war can significantly disrupt business operations. Crowd Street has developed a Business Continuity Plan ("BCP") that describes how we will respond to events that significantly disrupt our business.

We plan to quickly recover and resume business operations after a significant business disruption ("SBD") and respond by safeguarding our employees and property, making a financial and operational assessment, protecting books and records, and enabling members to access the Platform. Our objective is to resume business operations within one business day of a disruption, however, the scope and severity of the event will impact our ability to achieve this objective.

Our BCP addresses matters such as connectivity, data backup and recovery, mission critical systems, financial and operational assessments, alternative communications with members, employees, and regulators, alternate physical location of employees, critical vendor and bank impacts, regulatory reporting, and assuring members prompt access.

Crowd Street benefits from a widely distributed workforce with cloud-based systems hosted in many cases by large national providers with multiple failover systems and redundancies. As a result, Crowd Street and its major vendors expect to be able to manage a local or regional business disruption without extensive disruption to Crowd Street's operations by transferring operations outside the affected area. However, no operation is immune to business interruption, particularly in the event of a cybersecurity attack on Crowd Street or a major vendor or during a national or global crisis. Moreover, many of the opportunities available on the Platform and the sponsors that manage them are inherently local or regional and subject to more significant disruption during even a localized event.

In the event of a business disruption, Crowd Street intends to provide members with updates and information on its website at crowdstreet.com. Crowd Street also may contact members directly.

If you have questions about our BCP, you can contact us at legal@crowdstreet.com. Please note, our BCP is subject to change at any time, at our sole discretion. For more information, please see our Terms of Use.