The principles of Midas Manifestation are founded on decades-old research that linked past, present, and future thoughts, words, emotions, and occurrences.

Vincent Smith, the developer of Midas Manifestation, utilizes information from Egyptian writings to assist individuals in manifesting their dreams.

The Alexandria Library manuscript he discovered, contains pictures and information few people can access. While interpreting the chakras, he discovered that the tenth chakra is the wealth-related root chakra.

Individuals can access their chakras using the Midas Manifestation program's vibrational frequencies.

He utilizes music to stimulate the chakras, making it simple for consumers. Vincent employs inspiration to teach individuals how to use the power of their ideas to generate a vibration that attracts prosperity.
