English Practice Section

(5 minutes)

This practice section gives an example of the sort of questions you will be faced with in this test, with the correct answer filled in on the answer sheet so that you can see how to do it.

There are also some practice questions that don't have the answers filled in, so that you can practise working them out for yourself and filling in the answer sheet.

Read this passage carefully and then answer the questions that follow.

The Keeper of the Light

- 1 The lighthouse had stood at the cliff's edge for over a century, its white walls bleached
2 pale as bone by the salt wind. Every evening, old Maren climbed the spiral staircase
3 alone, her knees aching with the familiar effort. She did not mind. The moment the great
4 lamp blazed to life, flooding the dark water below with gold, the tiredness left her
5 entirely. Ships crept past in the distance like slow thoughts, and Maren watched each
6 one until it vanished into the horizon. She had never once let the light go out.

Answer these questions. Look at the passage again if you need to. You should choose the best answer and mark its letter on your answer sheet.

A Example

What does the final sentence suggest about Maren?

- A She is afraid of the dark.
- B She enjoys watching ships for entertainment.
- C She is deeply dedicated to her duty.
- D She has worked at the lighthouse for only a few years.
- E She is lonely and wishes for company.

The answer is C. The last sentence suggests she loves her work and is dedicated to her duties at the lighthouse.

The answer C has been marked on your answer sheet.

Now try this practice question. You should choose the best answer and mark its letter on the answer sheet.

1 Practice

'Its white walls bleached pale as bone by the salt wind.'

What literary device is used in this phrase?

- A Personification
- B Alliteration
- C Metaphor
- D Simile
- E Onomatopoeia

2 Practice

What does the word 'bleached' mean, as it is used in the passage?

- A Crumbled
- B Darkened in colour
- C Polished
- D Strengthened
- E Drained of colour

In this type of question, you have to choose the best word, or group of words, to complete the sentence so that it makes sense and is written in correct English. You should choose one of the five answers and mark its letter on the answer sheet.

B Example

The sudden flash of lightning

calmed	dazzled	organised
--------	---------	-----------

A B C

collected	rested
-----------	--------

 everyone in the room.

The answer is B because 'dazzled' is the word that makes the most sense in the sentence as a whole.

Now try this practice question. Choose the best word to complete the sentence so that it makes sense and is written in correct English. Mark its letter on the answer sheet.

3 Practice

He

eagerly	cheerfully	reluctantly	rapid	frequently
---------	------------	-------------	-------	------------

agreed to tidy his room after being asked three times by his mother.

In this type of question, you have to identify a spelling or punctuation error in a sentence. Take a look at Example C below.

In each sentence, there may be a spelling mistake. Find the group of words with the mistake in it and mark its letter on your answer sheet. If there is no mistake, mark N.

C Example

We booked our accomodation in advance to avoid disappointment.

---	---	---	---

The word 'accommodation' is spelt incorrectly. Therefore the answer is B.

The answer B has been marked on the answer sheet.

Now try this practice question. In each sentence, there may be an error in the use of capital letters or punctuation. Find the group of words with the mistake in it and mark its letter on your answer sheet. If there is no mistake, mark N.

4 Practice

The scientist carefully measured the temperature of the solution.

A	B	C	D

English

(25 minutes)

Read this passage carefully and then answer the questions that follow.

The Hound of the Baskervilles* by Arthur Conan Doyle.

Sir Henry Baskerville and Dr. Mortimer were ready upon the appointed day, and we started as arranged for Devonshire. Mr. Sherlock Holmes drove with me to the station and gave me his last parting injunctions and advice.

5 "I will not bias your mind by suggesting theories or suspicions, Watson," said he; "I wish you simply to report facts in the fullest possible manner to me, and you can leave me to do the theorizing."

"What sort of facts?" I asked.

"Anything which may seem to have a bearing however indirect upon the case, and especially the relations between young Baskerville and his neighbours or any fresh 10 particulars concerning the death of Sir Charles. I have made some inquiries myself in the last few days, but the results have, I fear, been negative. One thing only appears to be certain, and that is that Mr. James Desmond, who is the next heir, is an elderly gentleman of a very amiable disposition, so that this persecution does not arise from him. I really think that we may eliminate him entirely from our calculations. There remain the people who 15 will actually surround Sir Henry Baskerville upon the moor."

"Would it not be well in the first place to get rid of this Barrymore couple?"

"By no means. You could not make a greater mistake. If they are innocent it would be a cruel injustice, and if they are guilty we should be giving up all chance of bringing it home to them. No, no, we will preserve them upon our list of suspects. Then there is a groom at 20 the Hall, if I remember right. There are two moorland farmers. There is our friend Dr. Mortimer, whom I believe to be entirely honest, and there is his wife, of whom we know nothing. There is this naturalist, Stapleton, and there is his sister, who is said to be a young lady of attractions. There is Mr. Frankland, of Laffer Hall, who is also an unknown factor, and there are one or two other neighbours. These are the folk who must be your very 25 special study."

"I will do my best."

"You have arms, I suppose?"

"Yes, I thought it as well to take them."

"Most certainly. Keep your revolver near you night and day, and never relax your 30 precautions."

Our friends had already secured a first-class carriage and were waiting for us upon the platform.

"No, we have no news of any kind," said Dr. Mortimer in answer to my friend's questions.

"I can swear to one thing, and that is that we have not been shadowed during the last 35 two days. We have never gone out without keeping a sharp watch, and no one could have escaped our notice."

"You have always kept together, I presume?"

"Except yesterday afternoon. I usually give up one day to pure amusement when I come to town, so I spent it at the Museum of the College of Surgeons."

40 "And I went to look at the folk in the park," said Baskerville.

"But we had no trouble of any kind."

"It was imprudent, all the same," said Holmes, shaking his head and looking very grave.

"I beg, Sir Henry, that you will not go about alone. Some great misfortune will befall you if you do. Did you get your other boot?"

45 "No, sir, it is gone forever."

"Indeed. That is very interesting. Well, good-bye," he added as the train began to glide down the platform. "Bear in mind, Sir Henry, one of the phrases in that queer old legend which Dr. Mortimer has read to us, and avoid the moor in those hours of darkness when the powers of evil are exalted."

50 I looked back at the platform when we had left it far behind and saw the tall, austere
figure of Holmes standing motionless and gazing after us.

The journey was a swift and pleasant one, and I spent it in making the more intimate acquaintance of my two companions and in playing with Dr. Mortimer's spaniel. In a very few hours the brown earth had become ruddy, the brick had changed to granite, and

55 red cows grazed in well-hedged fields where the lush grasses and more luxuriant vegetation spoke of a richer, if a damper, climate. Young Baskerville stared eagerly out of the window and cried aloud with delight as he recognized the familiar features of the Devon scenery.

"I've been over a good part of the world since I left it, Dr. Watson," said he; "but I have 60 never seen a place to compare with it."

Answer these questions. Look at the passage again if you need to. You should choose the best answer and mark its letter on your answer sheet.
