New & improved Seeker Portal experience

A full text transcript of the Housing Seeker Portal walkthrough.

Welcome to your Housing Seeker Portal. Here's where you can find a home or housemates or a host that are right for you. Everyone's different, so finding somewhere to live that suits you can be hard. But you can get your Seeker Portal to do a lot of the hard work for you.

First up, put in your basic info and tell the Housing Hub what you're looking for. A home to move into whether that's on your own with family or friends or a host or if you want connect with some new housemates on the Housing Hub and search for your new home together. Or look for a housemate for the home you currently live in. Whether that's a home you own, SDA, a home with SIL supports or a mainstream rental. Or maybe you just want to learn a bit more about what's possible.

If you're looking for a home, the next thing to do is put in where you want to live and who you want to live with, your NDIS info, your accessibility needs and what you're looking for in an ideal home. Remember your Seeker Portal is about finding what's right for you for your lifestyle and accessibility needs. The more complete your profile is on your Seeker Portal, the better it'll work for you.

The progress bar at the top show you how much you've done. As you go through choose 'continue' to go to the next step, Or 'save and continue' later if you're not ready to keep going just yet. Down the left side are tabs for things you might want to come back to often.

And because this is your Seeker Portal you control who can see your information. Only the people you choose. Ready to give it a go? Fill in your Seeker profile today and start exploring great housing options that are right for you.
