WORKOUT TRACKER

Progress can be tracked in several ways and is completely your preference. It's a good idea to write down weights and repetitions to track your progress – this can also help you to keep your motivation up and to build a good habit.

Below you can plan or track your workouts per week and you can also add other forms of training, such as walking, running or a group class if you wish.

We hope you have fun during this journey!

WEEK	MONDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY	FRIDAY	SATURDAY	SUNDAY
WEEK 1
WEEK 2
WEEK 3
WEEK 4
WEEK 5
WEEK 6
WEEK 7
WEEK 8

WEEK 1 / WORKOUTS

FOCUS THIS WEEK:

You are now about to get to know the fitness floor and the machines at the gym. Use light weights and focus on good technique. Aim for 12-15 repetitions and rest 1-2 minutes between sets. Start the session with a warm-up. For this, do 5 minutes on the treadmill and then do some dynamic mobility. We use dynamic mobility so that we can move freely throughout our joints with control and also to prepare the body for the workout. We focus on hip openers, t-spine and shoulder mobilizations.

WARM UP

5 minutes on treadmill or another cardio machine, like the rowing machine or a Skierg.

Squat to stand	x 6 reps
World's greatest stretch	x 6 reps/side
Glute stretch bench	x 6 reps/side
Wall slides	x 6 reps

DAY 1

1. Leg press	3 set x 12-15 reps
2. Chest press machine	3 set x 12-15 reps
3. Seated cable row	3 set x 12-15 reps
4. Leg extension	3 set x 12-15 reps
5. Mountain climbers	3 x 20 sec

DAY 2

1. Air squats @ 3211*	3 set x 12-15 reps
2. Back extensions	3 set x 12-15 reps
3. Lat pulldown	3 set x 12-15 reps
4. Backwards lunges	3 set x 12-15 reps

*@ 3211, tempo, 3 sec down, 2 sec in bottom, 1 sec up, 1 sec at top.

WEEK 2 / WORKOUTS

FOCUS THIS WEEK:

Well done! You have now passed the first week and will now recognize both the gym and some machines. We continue with almost the same movements as last week. Repetition is the key to learning! If possible, add some more weights from last week. But first, give yourself a high five for being you, at the gym!

WARM UP

5 minutes on treadmill or another cardio machine, like the rowing machine or a Skierg.

WEEK 3 / WORKOUTS

FOCUS THIS WEEK:

This week we use dumbbells, or kettlebells, and barbells in the workout. Training with dumbbells, kettlebells and barbells opens up for infinite possibilities. Let us help guiding you! If you are uncertain what weight to use, always start with a lighter weight for the first set. Increase if possible, so you can do 10-12 repetitions. Rest 1-2 minutes between sets. Focus on good technique on every repetition.

WEEK 5 / WORKOUTS

FOCUS THIS WEEK:

One month has passed in the blink of an eye and you may now start to feel different! This week we add a bit more complex exercises that will require more time to learn, while other exercises are easier to get started with. It can feel both wobbly and uncomfortable but over time the movement will feel more natural. For this week, try to find a weight so you can do 8-10 repetitions. Rest 1-2 minutes between sets. Focus on good technique on every repetition, always. Enjoy!

WARM UP

5 minutes on treadmill or rowing machine

Air squats	x 8 reps
World's greatest stretch	x 8 reps/side

2. Horizontal row	3 x 8-10 reps
3. Weighted walking lunges	3 x 8-10 reps/side
4. Standing landmine press	3 x 8-10 reps

WEEK 7 / WORKOUTS

FOCUS THIS WEEK:

There's something powerful about picking up a barbell and learning how to squat and do a deadlift. We will show you how! Most standard barbells weigh 20 kg, but we also have 5-, 10- and 15 kg barbells. Even an empty barbell can be heavy. Start working on the technique before slowly start to add weight to the bar. Congrats! You're using barbells!
