The documents that make up your insurance contract

Your insurance contract consists of this policy document and your most recent policy schedule.

Your policy document and policy schedule are designed to be read together.

This policy document Your policy schedule Insurance contract

When read together, your policy schedule and policy document outline your cover, which is the insurance we agree to provide you. This cover is governed by the limits, terms and conditions set out within this policy document and your policy schedule.

Your policy schedule takes priority if the information in this policy document and your policy schedule is different.

We agree to provide cover as long as you have paid your premium.

You can access this policy document on our website at any time or you can contact us to request a copy.

Please contact us if you have any questions or need more information about this policy document.

Your policy schedule

Your policy schedule is sent to you when you first take out this policy, at each renewal, and if you make any changes to your policy.

Your policy schedule contains important information related to this policy document, including who's insured, your cover type, your sum insured and excesses.

Please contact us if you have any questions or need to request a copy of your most recent policy schedule.

This policy has standard and optional benefits

Your policy has standard benefits. These benefits are automatically included in your insurance cover.

Your policy also has optional benefits. To receive these benefits, you have to choose them and you will need to pay an additional premium. Optional benefits will appear on your policy schedule.

You have a cooling-off period if you change your mind

We provide you with a 21-day cooling-off period if you change your mind. You can cancel your policy within 21 days from the day your policy started, as long as you have not made a claim.

If you choose to cancel your policy within this period, we will cancel your policy back to the policy start date and refund you the full amount of any premium paid. The cooling-off period does not apply if you renew your policy.

If you have a concern

We value our customers and aim to deliver the best service possible. We also appreciate and encourage your feedback – the good and the bad. If you're unhappy with one of our policies, our service or a decision on your claim, please tell us. Often a quick conversation can help sort things out.

If your policy schedule shows your home is used for 'Private use', your contents are only covered when used for private or domestic purposes.

This policy does not cover your contents if your home is used for any activities in connection with a profession, occupation or business, other than for a home office.

We consider your home unoccupied when you or a person you authorise are not living in your home as a residence.

If your policy schedule shows 'Owner occupied' or 'Tenanted'

If your policy schedule shows your contents are usually kept in your 'Owner occupied' or 'Tenanted' home, the additional 'Unoccupied excess' shown on your policy schedule applies. This excess will apply to any loss occurring on or after day 61.

If your policy schedule shows 'Holiday home'

If your policy schedule shows your contents are usually kept at your 'Holiday home', we will continue to provide cover when your holiday home is left unoccupied.

Limits on what we will pay

The most we will pay for any one event is the total of:

- the sum insured for your contents
- $2 million for your legal liability
- the maximum you are entitled to under the standard benefit 'Temporary accommodation' on page 8.

We will reduce the amount we pay by the total applicable excess and any other deductions set out in this policy.

We limit cover for some contents

We provide limited cover for some categories of contents. We outline these items below.

If any of your contents items belong to these categories, the limit we show is the maximum amount we will pay for each category of items in any one event.

You must pay your excess towards each individual event, even if the items you are claiming for are limited.

Some contents have adjustable event limits

If any of your contents items belong to the categories below, you can adjust their event limits. The adjustable event limit is the highest amount we will pay for each category of items, for a single event. If we agree, you will need to pay an extra premium. The updated 'Adjustable event limit' will be shown on your policy schedule.

If you choose not to adjust the below event limits, the amounts listed below are the most we will pay for each individual event.

You must comply with all the following conditions

When you make a claim, there are specific conditions you must comply with.

What you must do immediately after an event

Immediately after an event, you must:

- take all reasonable steps to prevent further loss
- make a complaint to the police in the case of theft, burglary or vandalism, or the attempt of these
- tell us if you or any person covered by this policy is charged with any offence (other than in connection with the use of a vehicle) that has resulted in bodily injury.

What you must not do after an event

You must not do any of the following:

- admit liability
- incur any expense or negotiate, pay, settle, or make any agreement about any claim without our consent
- make any offer of reparation (including as part of any case management conference or sentencing hearing) without getting our consent in writing.

Information you must give us after an event

As soon as possible, you must tell us:

- that the event happened, giving full details and circumstances of what has happened, including details of everyone involved
- if any of your lost or stolen property is recovered.

Other conditions you must comply with after an event

As soon as possible, you must:

- get our permission before you incur any expense, other than the reasonable cost of urgent work to prevent further loss
- send us all relevant communications you receive
- keep damaged property for our inspection, and allow us to inspect any building or other property where loss has occurred.

This includes all the following:

- activities associated with making your claim
- your claim settlement
- the defence of any potential claim against you
- any action against anyone else.

You must also allow us, at our expense and in your name, to:

- take any action necessary against any other party

You must let us take ownership of damaged and recovered items

What happens if you do not comply with any of the claims conditions

If you do not comply with any of the claims conditions, we can:

- decline your claim
- recover from you what we have already paid.

You must give full and accurate information when making a claim

We rely on the accuracy of the information that you, or anyone on your behalf, give us. When making a claim, you must provide full and accurate information.

You must also answer all questions we ask you honestly, correctly and completely.

You must answer our questions truthfully. We may refuse your claim if you provide any incorrect, incomplete or fraudulent information when you:

- make a claim
- answer any of our questions
- provide us with any information.

We may also end your policy and any other policy you have with us from the date you supplied false or misleading information or statements.

If we refuse your claim due to incorrect, incomplete or fraudulent information or statements, you must return any claim payments we have made to you.

You will have to pay an excess

You must pay an excess for each individual event. We may deduct your excess from the total settlement amount.

The circumstances of your claim determine the value of the excess you need to pay. You might have to pay more than one type of excess for each claim. Your policy schedule tells you the amount and types of excess.

If you claim under more than one policy with us for loss caused by a single event at the same location, you will only pay the excesses that are payable under one policy. These will be the excesses payable under the policy with the highest total applicable excess.

We will choose to settle your claim in any of the following ways:

- Repairing your item
- Replacing your item
- Paying the market value
- Paying your claim as a total loss.

We will only pay to repair or replace items that have suffered loss. We will not pay for any decrease in value, or for the repair or replacement of any undamaged items to match part of a pair, set or collection.

Repairing your item

Where we consider your item is repairable, we will settle your claim in the following ways:

- repairing your item using a supplier of our choice
- paying you the amount our supplier would have charged us.

Replacing your item

Where we consider that your item is not repairable, and a suitable nearest equivalent item is available, we will settle your claim in the following ways:

- replacing your item with the nearest equivalent item
- paying you with cash, a voucher or a store credit for the replacement value of the item.

Paying the market value

Where we consider that your item is not repairable, and there is no nearest equivalent item available, we will pay you what we determine as the market value. We will pay you with cash, a voucher or a store credit.

All clothing, footwear and cosmetics will always be paid at the market value.

Paying your claim as a total loss

We can choose to settle your claim as a total loss if the total value of your contents claimed is more than the sum insured.

What happens if your claim is a total loss

If we have chosen to settle your claim as a total loss, we will pay you the sum insured in any of the following ways:

- replacing your items with the nearest equivalent items paying you the replacement value with cash, vouchers or store credits.

Where we consider that no nearest equivalent item is available, we will pay you the market value for that item. How we will pay you is outlined in the section 'Paying the market value'.

Your premium and policy when your claim is a total loss

When your claim is a total loss, you must pay the total premium for the entire period of insurance shown on your policy schedule in full before we can settle your claim. If you are paying your premium by instalments, we will deduct any unpaid instalments from your settlement payment.

Your policy will end on the date of the event and you will not be able to claim on any subsequent event. You will not receive any refund of your premium.

Standard benefits – cover automatically included

Your cover automatically includes the following benefits. Your excess will be deducted from any benefit limits unless otherwise stated. These benefits provide additional cover to what is included in 'What you are covered for' on page 3.

- the loss is to land only.

What happens if you are already receiving temporary accommodation

This section applies if you are already receiving temporary accommodation and another event occurs.

The most we will pay for all claims or events combined is the amount you are entitled to under 'Owner occupied homes' or 'Tenanted homes'.

If you or any family member have a 'Temporary accommodation' benefit with us under any other policy, we will only pay this benefit under one policy per event.

Spoiled food

We will pay up to $500 for any one event where food is spoiled as a result of any of the following:

- your refrigerator or freezer stopping or breaking down
- a power surge
- the power supply being accidentally disconnected.

Your excess will not apply for spoiled food claims, provided there is no loss to any other item of your contents.

You are not covered for food that has been kept in connection with a business.

Moving to a new home

If you move to a new home, we will cover your contents at both addresses for 21 days from when you start moving.
