 Selah—JOHN 1:9

The true light that gives light to everyone was coming into the world.

As we read this verse from the book of John, it is easy to focus on the repeated word, Light. But what if we looked at the impact of the word light and its reflection in our neighbourhoods?

The light was given to everyone. Christ's redemption is for every person, not just one person or another, but everyone. Amid seasons like the one we are walking together now, it is easy to forget those who are lonely and forgotten, in their houses in our local communities.

Those in aged care and hospitals, who don't get visited, or those whose home is found on the streets. The forgotten, the unsure, those who have lost connection in our communities.

Christ's light was shed for all.

Remember a time when you felt lonely. What helped you feel more connected?

Dear Jesus

Fulfil your promise to those who are lonely and help to set them in families this year. We reflect on the isolated, those without community and those who are afflicted. Please bring your light into their days. Amen.
