Peering into other people's lives.

Gladstone Gallery, 515 West 24th Street; through April 19.

This exhibition of 11 paintings is a revelation of vision, chops, a muted sense of dusky color, and smooth, frescolike surfaces. A man sits up in his hospital bed; a woman cradles a child in her lap; a hole in a wall shows a glimpse of a convenience store. The mystery, dignity, and pathos built into these works is gripping. Gilbert should be in the next Whitney Biennial. —J.S.
