Dear Biathlon Family

My longstanding involvement in winter sports has enabled me to combine the passion and competitive spirit of a former professional athlete with deep professional expertise in finance, auditing, and regulatory compliance.

In my roles as Vice President of the BMW IBU World Championships Lenzerheide 2025 and Vice President of Swiss-Ski, I have experienced firsthand the remarkable power of biathlon to inspire communities, engage new audiences, and create lasting impact.

I bring proven economic and strategic expertise and will work collaboratively to ensure that the IBU remains financially strong, resilient and future-oriented in an increasingly demanding environment. At the same time, I understand the sporting realities and differing needs of large, medium-sized and small federations, and I firmly believe that targeted investments in development and solidarity are essential to strengthen biathlon globally and secure its long-term success.

With this background and conviction, I am seeking a position on the IBU Executive Board to contribute my experience and leadership to shaping the future of our sport – together with all member federations.

What I am committed to

Ensuring a Long-Term Financial and Investment Policy

I bring together a lifelong passion for sport and a professional background in finance, auditing and regulatory compliance. Supporting the IBU's existing efforts to maintain a stable and forward-looking financial foundation would be one of my priorities. I want to contribute to a balanced and transparent approach that aligns strategic priorities with responsible investment decisions, helping ensure that resources are used effectively for the long-term development of our sport, whether in small, medium-sized or large biathlon nations. By strengthening this alignment, we can create the conditions for biathlon to innovate and expand its global presence.

Strengthening the Visibility and Relevance of Biathlon

Biathlon and para biathlon have strong foundations, yet there is still further potential to expand their visibility and reach. Having contributed to the first Biathlon World Championships ever held in Switzerland, I have seen how much positive momentum can be created when the sport is brought closer to people in a country that has not previously hosted major events. I want to support initiatives that help biathlon reach new audiences and strengthen its position in countries where biathlon has still significant growth potential – from modern event concepts to digital opportunities that enhance engagement.

Promoting Responsible Governance and Development

Good governance and sustainability are essential for the credibility and resilience of sport. Through my experience in financial oversight, risk management, and organisational governance, I want to contribute to a culture of transparency, responsibility and collaboration. My goal is to help ensure that biathlon continues to grow in a responsible and future oriented way, supporting the diverse needs of all our federations.
