Alta Finance Launches Earn V2, Bringing Real Estate to Crypto

LEHI (May 23, 2022) – Crypto platform Alta Finance (ALTA) announced that it has launched V2 of its Earn saving protocol to bring real estate yield to the DeFi community.

“We are pleased to release this major update to our native Earn lending protocol putting us on an incredible trajectory to bring real estate into the crypto community,” said Jeremy Crane, CEO and Founder of Alta Finance. “This product release will allow the crypto community access to a stable, long-term yield generated from innovative and exciting real estate assets all while earning ALTA token rewards.”

Alta Finance has an innovative approach beginning with their first product, the Earn lending protocol, and the ALTA token. Crypto investors can use their web3 wallets to lend crypto and earn a stable, long-term yield as well as earn bonus ALTA token rewards.

Alta Finance will utilize the funds lent via the Earn protocol to purchase cash-flowing real estate assets to be placed in either the Short-term, Long-term, or Dream Funds held in the Alta Finance Treasury. Detailed Alta Treasury holdings will be published monthly in the Net Asset Value reports for ALTA token holders to view. Earn is available at launch on Ethereum and Polygon networks, with additional networks launching over the next ninety (90) days.
