6. Cookies and Other Automatic Data Collection Technologies

When you visit our website or use our mobile applications, we collect certain information by automated means, using technologies such as cookies, pixel tags, browser analysis tools, server logs, and web beacons. For example, when you visit our website, we place cookies on your computer. Cookies are small text files that websites send to your computer or other Internet-connected device to uniquely identify your browser or to store information or settings in your browser. Cookies allow us to recognize you when you return. They also help us provide a customized experience and enable us to detect certain kinds of fraud. In many cases, you can manage cookie preferences and opt-out of having cookies and other data collection technologies used by adjusting the settings on your browser.

All browsers are different, so visit the “help” section of your browser to learn about cookie preferences and other privacy settings that may be available.

Pixel tags and web beacons are tiny graphic images placed on website pages or in our emails that allow us to determine whether you have performed a specific action. When you access these pages or open or click an email, the pixel tags and web beacons generate a notice of that action. These tools allow us to measure response to our communications and improve our web pages and promotions.

Automatically Collected Data. We collect many different types of data from cookies, pixel, tags, web beacons, and other online tracking technologies such as browser analysis tools. For example, we collect data from the device you use to access our website, such as your operating system type, browser type, domain, and other system settings, as well as the language your system uses and the country and time zone where your device is located. Our server logs also record the Internet Protocol (IP) address assigned to the device you use to connect to the Internet. An IP address is a unique number that devices use to identify and communicate with each other on the Internet. We may also collect data about the website you were visiting before you came to WorkMarket and the website you visit after you leave our site.

In many cases, the data we automatically collect using cookies and other online tracking technologies is only used in a non-identifiable way, without reference to Personal Data. For example, we use data we collect about website users to optimize our websites and to understand website traffic patterns. In some cases, we do associate the information we automatically collect using cookies and other online tracking technologies with your Personal Data. This Privacy Statement applies to such automatically collected data when we associate it with your Personal Data.

Do Not Track. Although our website currently does not have a mechanism to recognize the various web browser Do Not Track signals, we do offer consumers choices to manage their preferences that are provided in sections 19 and 20 below. To learn more about browser tracking signals and Do Not Track please visit <http://www.allaboutdnt.org/>.

YouTube Videos. Our website may include embedded YouTube videos. When you click on an embedded YouTube video that video is loaded from a domain operated by YouTube. Although we have enabled the Privacy-Enhanced mode for embedded YouTube videos, which prevents YouTube from placing tracking cookies on your device when viewing these videos on our site, YouTube may collect your IP address and other devices information for their own purposes. To learn more about YouTube's Privacy-Enhanced mode visit the YouTube support page at <https://support.google.com/youtube/answer/171780?hl=en-GB&ref=axbom.com#>. You may receive advertisements based on information relating to your access to and use of WorkMarket and other websites or online services on any of your devices, as well as on information received from third parties. These companies place or recognize a unique cookie on your browser (including through the use of pixel tags). They also use these technologies, along with information they collect about your online use, to recognize you across the devices you use, such as a mobile phone and a laptop.

If you would like more information about this practice, and to learn how to opt out of it in desktop and mobile browsers on the particular device on which you are accessing this Privacy Statement, please visit <http://optout.aboutads.info/#/> and <http://optout.networkadvertising.org/#/>. We also process opt-out preference signals, such as the Global Privacy Control (GPC). The GPC is a mechanism that enables consumers to automatically communicate their privacy preferences to opt-out of sale and sharing of their personal information to this website. This ensures that the consumer's opt-out preference is honored through compatible browsers or extensions that support GPC, consistently across all websites accessed through the browser or device you are using. Go to your browser's setting to enable GPC. If enabled you will receive notification or see a visual indication (e.g., banner or pop-up message) on our site confirming that your GPC signal has been detected and your opt-out request has been processed. We may also share your device's physical location, combined with information about the advertisements you viewed and other information we collect, with our marketing partners to enable them to provide you with more personalized content and to study the effectiveness of advertising campaigns. When you enable, or grant permission to use, the GPS/geo-location feature of WorkMarket through your mobile device, we may access and process your location data to provide your location data information to actual or potential clients and other users of the platform, find work near you on the public marketplace, and/or check you in and out of a work assignment. In some instances, you may be permitted to allow or deny such uses and/or sharing of your device's location, but if you do, we and/or our marketing partners may not be able to provide you with the applicable personalized services and content. We also process opt-out preference signals, such as the Global Privacy Control (GPC). The GPC is a mechanism that enables consumers to automatically communicate their privacy preferences to opt-out of sale and sharing of their personal information to this website. This ensures that the consumer's opt-out preference is honored through compatible browsers or extensions that support GPC, consistently across all websites accessed through the browser or device you are using. Go to your browser's setting to enable GPC. If enabled you will receive notification or see a visual indication (e.g., banner or pop-up message) on our site confirming that your GPC signal has been detected and your opt-out request has been processed. For information about how to use the Global Privacy Control, please visit <https://globalprivacycontrol.org/>.

We will not unlawfully discriminate against you for exercising your rights under applicable US consumer privacy law.
