US Mobile Bank MoneyLion Raises $100 million at 'Near Unicorn' Valuation

"New York City-headquartered MoneyLion...said today it has raised $100 million in a new round to accelerate its growth in the U.S. market."

"This means MoneyLion has raised more than $200 million to date, with its current round valuing the startup at nearly $1 billion."

"MoneyLion, which describes itself as a mobile bank, operates a part lending, part savings and part wealth management app."

"Choubey declined to share the Company's revenue, saying the startup is in 'hypergrowth stage.'"

"The all-in-one platform allows users to connect all their bank accounts and credit cards and receive personalized advice on how to better spend their money and also secure loans from within the app."

"The startup makes most of its money from subscription services — that cost $19.99 per month...The subscription offering bundles banking, core investment management and access to financing."

"Last year, the app bandied out over $12 million in cashback rewards to its members, and 70% of its users saw their credit score climb up by 30 points."

"You will see us investing heavily in broker dealer capabilities, training capabilities and stock investing capabilities. We think of ourselves approaching financial services just like Netflix approaches content. We want to keep users hooked to the platform."
