Broadridge Acquires RPM Technologies

Transaction Summary

Transaction Summary

- On May 21, 2019, Broadridge Financial (NYSE:BR) announced that it has agreed to acquire Canadian wealth management software provider RPM Technologies for approximately $300 million
 - RPM Technologies' current owners include Bayshore Capital
 - The closing of the transaction is subject to completion of an intercompany reorganization by RPM
- Headquartered in Toronto, RPM is a provider of enterprise wealth management solutions and services, with platforms that support over 15 million customer accounts
- Broadridge is a provider of investor communications and technology solutions to banks, broker-dealers and corporate issuers
- This transaction will bolster Broadridge's Canadian Wealth Management business, adding new technological capabilities and solutions for the retail banking sector
 - The transaction is expected to contribute $40-50 million in revenues to Broadridge in fiscal year 2020, though it is not expected to have a material impact on the Company's EPS

Transaction Commentary

"The addition of RPM Technologies broadens and deepens our wealth management product offering in Canada. We are very pleased to add RPM's state-of-the-art platforms and blue-chip client roster. This investment underscores our commitment to bring value-added technology solutions to the industry, and it supports our longer-term strategy of building a strong North American Wealth business."

Broadridge

Tom Carey
President, Global Technology & Operations

"Broadridge is a global FinTech leader with deep commitment to the Canadian market and is the best future partner to extend RPM's growth. With our combined technology and innovation capabilities, clients will gain deep product expansion opportunities, superior digital channel capabilities and seamless enterprise solutions."
