Mastercard Acquires Transactis

Transaction Overview

FT PARTNERS RESEARCH

Transaction Summary

- On May 3, 2019, Mastercard (NYSE: MA) announced that it entered into a definitive agreement to acquire Transactis, a digital platform that helps businesses deliver bills and receive payments
- With the acquisition of Transactis, Mastercard will now be able to address bill payment needs in online bank applications as well as in biller websites with enhanced end user interfaces, expanded payment options and digital bill presentment capabilities
- The acquisition is expected to close in Q2 2019
- The acquisition follows the debut last fall of Mastercard Bill Pay Exchange, a platform that lets consumers set up bill payments for mortgages, utilities, rent, credit cards and other bills
 - The exchange will fully launch later this year

Management Commentary

"We see Transactis as strengthening our support of the bill payments space. Transactis' technical and commercial know-how, combined with our reach and comprehensive payment options will greatly simplify the entire process. We'll be able to deliver a better real-time consumer experience, from sign-up to viewing and paying bills, leveraging the investments that have been made in the core infrastructure."

Colleen Taylor
EVP, North America

"Mastercard has been a great partner and pushed the industry forward in this space. Historically, neither the Bank Bill Pay nor Biller Direct models has delivered the ideal experience or the complete solution. We see this as a unique opportunity to bring our complementary technologies together to deliver a better bill pay experience accelerating the migration of paper bill and checks to these online channels."
