Transaction Commentary

"The Natural Capital Exchange has always been about enabling society to value all the benefits forests provide. We started with applying our forest data, AI-driven remote sensing, and rigorous accounting practices to carbon in the United States, but if we are going to make a significant impact on climate goals, it is going to take more than just US forests. We also know that society values forests for reasons beyond carbon and timber, such as wildlife habitat and water yield. NCX is going to apply our data, science, and forestry practices to build markets that create the forests society wants and needs."

Zach Parisa
Co-Founder & CEO

"The global voluntary carbon market is growing rapidly as the private sector addresses the urgency of offsetting emissions. When it comes to decarbonization, time is of the essence – and NCX's solution reflects the importance of reducing emissions today while setting a new standard for transparency and quality. This market is still in its earliest of innings, and we're excited to partner with NCX as they enable more companies and communities to take positive action towards climate change."

NCX Overview

Company Overview

CEO:	Zack Parisa
Headquarters:	San Francisco, CA
Founded:	2010

- NCX is a forest carbon marketplace that connects American landowners with 'net-zero pioneers' to monetize the benefits of forest stewardship and allow enterprises to achieve net-zero goals
- The Company leverages satellite images and machine learning software to capture the forest inventory in the United States, which it first sold to federal agencies
  - After building its tree-mapping software, NCX developed a marketplace to bring together forest landowners with corporations seeking to buy the resulting carbon credits to offset emissions
- The Company offers verified carbon credits for companies interested in investing in local communities, channel partners searching for offset and enterprises pursuing net zero goals
  - To date, nearly 2,500 landowners have used the platform to list roughly 4.3 million acres of forestland on the marketplace

Selected Clients

Product Overview

The Exchange

- NCX connects corporations to landowners, habitats and communities they impact through its carbon marketplace
- Leveraging remote-sensing, AI and NCX's proprietary forest data set, the Exchange opens participation to forests that were previously excluded from these opportunities
- Further, NCX's data-driven approach reduces setup costs for landowners and delivers verified carbon credits for corporations

Basemap

- The Basemap forest data set is foundational to the Natural Capital Exchange (NCX)
- Its probabilistic model provides acre-by-acre information regarding location, diameter and species of trees across the US
- By combining its forest cover and composition data with economics, timber-harvest pricing, and regional information, NCX provides accurate assessments of land value at no cost to landowners

Plot Hound

- Plot House is landowner's all-in-one platform to set up, manage and report timber cruises in a digital location, available as an app on both Apple and Android devices
- The app allows landowners to view, analyze and export cruise results to give users a deeper understanding of their land
- Currently, Plot Hound has 9,000 users and is available in all 50 states
