This document is the result of a scanning project to provide better access to the descriptions of the record groups which have yet to be captured on Archway. This is to provide interim access to the contents until they have been fully captured on Archway.

The original record group folders have been accessioned under Archives New Zealand’s Disposal Authority 350 and are now part of our archival holdings under accession W5657.

There are three ways of navigating this document:

- Scroll through using the mouse or the scroll bar.
- Use the folder contents page to choose which pages might be relevant to you. Enter the page number into the page number box and press enter.
- Click on the ‘Bookmarks’ tab and use the links to go straight to the information you want.

Researching the NASH collection

The finding aids for the NASH record collection comprise 12 folders. Following is an outline of the contents of these folders, and how they may be used to better assist research. This introduction also includes an outline of photographs, records and films found within the collection, the restrictions which apply to some papers in the NASH collection, and how to check whether or not a given record is restricted.

Researchers should be aware that the physical arrangement of the NASH collection is folios (papers) grouped into bundles. An explanation of how to request bundles from the NASH collection is given on the yellow sheet ‘Requesting NASH records’, which follows this introduction.

Folders 1-2: Original bundle lists
Folder 3: Introduction/series lists/access definitions/quinquennial list
Folders 4-9: Bundle descriptions
Folder 10: Bundle status list
Folders 11-12: Status sheets

Folders 1-2: Original bundle lists

Folder 1: Original bundle list, 1-1308 (blue folder)
Folder 2: Original bundle list, 1309-2573 (red folder)

What are these folders useful for?

They provide an overview of all the papers in the collection up to and including bundle 2573. Entries are arranged numerically by bundle number, and include a brief description and sometimes the date/date range of the bundle. These folders record the papers as they arrived at Archives New Zealand in 1969 from Sir Walter Nash’s house in Lower Hutt and from Parliament Buildings.

- If you are interested in a bundle, you can go to the bundle descriptions (folders 4-9), where fuller descriptions of contents and restrictions are given for many of the bundles.
- To request a bundle, see the yellow sheet ‘Requesting NASH records’.
- To check if restrictions apply to a bundle, see ‘Folders 10-12: Restrictions’ at the end of this introduction.
This folder includes a useful introduction to the collection, its transfer to Archives New Zealand and arrangement of records once transferred, and access restrictions (pink sheets).

What is this folder useful for?

It includes lists which allow access to the NASH collection by either date or subject matter. It also provides access to a number of subject files which originated with Sir Walter Nash’s Labour predecessor, Rt. Hon. Peter Fraser (Prime Minister, 1940-1949), and to later accession W4592.

a) Later accession W4592. This small accession contains only two items, speech notes and a Christmas card. To request items from this accession, see the yellow sheet ‘How to request items from NASH W4592’ next to this accession list in folder 3.

b) Quinquennial list: this list allows access to the NASH collection by date. It places each bundle for which dates have been established into the relevant five-year period, e.g. 1920-1925, 1926-1930 etc.

c) The following lists provide access to the NASH collection by subject matter:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Series</th>
<th>Description</th>
<th>Date</th>

</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>

<td>General correspondence</td>
<td>1935-1942</td>

<tr>

<td>c.1936-1949</td>
</tr>
<tr>

<td>(typed list and original handwritten copy)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

For each series there is a series description and date range (yellow sheets) and then a list of items. The NASH reference number is noted next to each item. This includes a bundle number, and sometimes specific folio (page) numbers within a bundle.

- If you are interested in a bundle, you can go to the bundle descriptions (folders 4-9), where fuller descriptions of contents and restrictions are given for many of the bundles.
- To request a bundle, see the yellow sheet 'Requesting NASH records'.
- To check if restrictions apply to a bundle, see ‘Folders 10-12: Restrictions’ at the end of this introduction.
Folders 4-9: Bundle descriptions

Folder 4  Bundle descriptions, 1-433
Folder 5  Bundle descriptions, 434-1394
Folder 6  Bundle descriptions, 1404-1756
Folder 7  Bundle descriptions, 2001-7350
Folder 8  Bundle descriptions, 2-150
Folder 9  Bundle descriptions, 151-515

Please note that there is some overlapping of bundle numbers in these folders (folders 4 and 5 overlap folders 8 and 9). If information on a particular bundle is not included in folders 4 and 5, check in folders 8 and 9.

What are these folders useful for?

They provide a description of the contents of a given bundle; a date or date range; the bundle number; the folio number (i.e., how many pages in the bundle); and the access category. You can look through these folders to select bundles to view. Alternatively, you may prefer to use the original bundle lists (folders 1 and 2), or the date/subject arrangement of the bundle lists in folder 3.

- To request a bundle, see the yellow sheet 'Requesting NASH records'.
- To check if restrictions apply to a bundle, see 'Folders 10-12: Restrictions' at the end of this introduction.

Photographs, records and films

Folder 7 (Bundle descriptions, 2001-7350)

This folder includes descriptions of NASH bundles 3100-3113, which include volumes, art works, artefacts and a considerable number of photographs. The descriptions are prefaced by an introduction to how this later part of the collection was given to Archives New Zealand in 1987-1988 by Mr J A D Nash, the son of Sir Walter Nash.

NASH 6

A supplementary photographic finding aid (NASH 6) is also held at the Reference Desk. This contains the following:
a) Index list of NASH photographs, alphabetical by subject. Entries include a title, sometimes a date, and also a bundle/folio number NASH reference.

b) Bundle list of NASH photographs, numerical by bundle number. This includes a short list of all the bundles up to and including bundle 3029 which contain photographs, a total of 2063 images. This is followed by a more comprehensive bundle listing, which provides descriptions of the photographs and sometimes dates. Both lists include bundle/folio number NASH references.

c) List of Rt. Hon. Peter Fraser photographs which are part of bundle 2063. The list is arranged numerically by folio number within the bundle, and includes descriptions and some dates for the photographs.

d) Bundle list of NASH photographs, continued. Details as for (b.)

e) List of NASH records and 16mm film.

f) Bundle description lists for NASH bundles 3102, 3103, 3105, 3107 and 3109 (photographs and photograph albums). These are duplicates of those found in folder 7 (Bundle descriptions, 2001-7350), outlined at the beginning of this section on NASH photographs.

- To request a bundle, or folios from a bundle, see the yellow sheet 'Requesting NASH records'.
- To check if restrictions apply to a bundle, see 'Folders 10-12: Restrictions', below.

<table>
<thead>

</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Folder 10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Folder 11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Folder 12</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Restrictions apply to some of the bundles, or specific folios (pages) in bundles, in the NASH collection. There are a number of different access categories, e.g. A (open without restriction) or B (open with a few restricted items). A full list of all access category codes and definitions is given in folder 10 (Bundle status list).

How to check whether restrictions apply to a bundle you are interested in viewing:

(a.) Identify the number of the bundle.
(b.) Check this bundle number in folder 10 (Bundle status list). Next to the bundle number, the status category will be noted thus:

E.g.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Bundle no.</th>
<th>Folios (pages)</th>
<th>Access</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>002</td>
<td>C</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

(i.e. there are a total of 2 pages in this bundle).

(c.) Status category ‘A’ indicates that all the papers in the bundle are open, and may be viewed.
(d.) For any other status category, go to the status sheets (folders 11 and 12). These two folders are arranged by bundle number.
(e.) Check the relevant bundle number entry. This will state the reason for the restriction, and the particular folios (pages) in the bundle to which the restrictions apply. In some cases, the whole bundle may be restricted.

Nash – getting files vetted

Some bundles in the NASH collection have not yet been examined to have their access status clarified. Others were vetted in the 1970’s and had access restrictions placed on them, that may no longer apply.

Archives New Zealand does not have the resources at this time to fully review the access restrictions of the entire NASH collection. However, a reader may request that a bundle or bundles of the NASH collection have their access restriction reviewed. A reader can also request that a bundle that is closed because it has yet to be examined, be examined.

To get a bundle or file vetted give Reference Desk Staff details of the bundle or file to be vetted, your contact details and the timeframe

Please be aware that this may take some time depending on the number and size of the bundles, the number of Government agencies needing to be consulted and the availability of vetting staff.

Please check with desk staff if you require further assistance.
Requesting NASH records

- Records in the NASH record group are arranged in bundles, with each page in the bundle having its own individual page (folio) number.

- When requesting records from NASH, for example the following bundle, please provide the information outlined below:
