

PREFACE FOR STUDENT USERS
OF
BUSINESS ORGANIZATIONS
2023-2024

Dear Student Users,

In the online Student Materials prepared to accompany Business Organizations you will find several different types of material, including

- A supplemental basic business and finance module called “Solving for X and Other Friends from High School”
- A chapter-by-chapter set of supplemental readings keyed to the boxed features appearing throughout the text
- the answers to all of the “Test Yourself” questions found at the end of each chapter of the text
- a complete set of “What Does It Look Like?” sample documents
- a statutory supplement containing every statute or rule referenced in the text
- transaction/drafting exercises your professor may assign in conjunction with each Part of the text

With respect to the chapter-by-chapter supplemental readings, do note that throughout Business Organizations you will find a number of boxed features such as “Room to Argue” and “More to the Story.” They frequently raise issues or provide information that will let you consider the basic material in the text more deeply. In some cases, they invite you to consult the online supplement to read further. The readings that we have selected, keyed by page number and the heading of the relevant box, appear in the Supplemental Readings section of the Student Materials.

You should ask your professor whether any of the supplemental readings are part of the assignment. If they are not, you nonetheless may find them helpful. In some cases, the same readings are relevant to more than one chapter and may appear twice. There are, however, some chapters that do not cross-reference any supplemental readings, so nothing will appear online.

You probably are aware that Business Organizations is part of the Connected Casebooks series and that additional features (like an outlining function and additional self-testing questions) are available at www.casebookconnect.com if you are the first purchaser of your text. We think you’ll enjoy them and would love to get your feedback on them, as well as on the other material on this website.

Best,

Theresa Gabaldon (tgabaldon@law.gwu.edu)
