

CONTENTS

Preface to the Third Edition	xix
Preface to the First Edition	xxi
Acknowledgments	xxiii

CHAPTER 1

“SO YOU WANT TO STUDY MEDIATION?”

An Introduction to the Processes of Mediation and the Skills of Effective Mediators

	1
§1.1 What This Book Is About, and a Word on its Perspective	1
§1.2 What Is Mediation?	3
§1.3 Where Does Mediation Fit in the Range of Dispute Resolution Processes? What Are its Distinctive Characteristics, Advantages and Disadvantages for Potential Users?	4
Rosa Lopez and Texitron, Inc.	4
§1.4 Why Are People, Courts and Other Institutions Increasingly Using Mediation? What Concerns Might This Raise?	9
§1.5 The Mediator’s Role and Function: An Introduction	12
§1.6 The Skills of Effective Mediators: An Introduction	14
§1.7 How This Book Is Organized	15
Video Case Summaries	15

CHAPTER 2

NEGOTIATIONS, AND WHY THEY FAIL

	21
§2.1 What Does it Mean to Say that Negotiations Fail?	21
§2.2 Introduction to Negotiation Theory: Competitive Versus Problem-Solving Negotiation	26
§2.3 Basics of Competitive (Distributive) Bargaining	28
Bellow &amp; Moulton, The Lawyering Process	29
§2.4 Basics of Problem-Solving (Integrative) Negotiation	34
§2.5 Strategic Barriers to Settlement and the Mediator’s Role	39
§2.6 Psychological Barriers to Settlement	40

§2.7	Cognitive and Motivational Barriers to Settlement: Biases that Distort our Judgment	49
§2.7.1	Distortions in Developing and Evaluating a Case for Settlement	51
§2.7.2	Distortions in Planning for Negotiation: The Problem of the Mythical Fixed Pie	54
§2.7.3	Distortions at the Negotiating Table: Misinterpreting Opponents' Motives and Miscalculating Their Settlement Offers	55
§2.8	Cultural and Structural Barriers to Settlement	61

CHAPTER 3

	THE ROLE OF THE MEDIATOR: Differing Approaches, Fundamental Norms	65
§3.1	The Many Faces of Mediation	65
§3.2	Differing Conceptions of the Mediator's Role: Historical Roots	68
§3.3	The Mediator's Goals in Action: A Case of a Broken Car Mirror	70
§3.4	Mediation Outcomes: Should "Solving the Problem" Be the Goal? If So, What Problem and What Kind of Solution?	72
§3.5	The Transformation Objective: Emphasizing Personal Growth and Improved Communication	74
§3.6	From Goals to Actions: How Much Influence Should the Mediator Exert?	76
	Riskin, Mediator Orientations, Strategies and Techniques	79
§3.7	The Facilitative-Evaluative Debate: Case Examples and a Hypothetical Discussion	82
	An Imaginary Discussion between Facilitative (F) and Evaluative (E) School Representatives	84
§3.8	Three Fundamental Norms: Self- Determination, Impartiality and Neutrality	87
§3.9	"Context-Driven" Mediation: Employing the Right Approach at the Right Time	89
§3.10	Variables in Determining the Right Goal and Role Review Problem	91 94

CHAPTER 4

	PREPARING TO MEDIATE	97
§4.1	Introduction: Can Mediations Be Planned?	97
§4.2	The Importance of Planning: Providing Procedural Justice	98
§4.3	A Key Determinant of the Extent of Planning: How the Case Got to Mediation	98

§4.4	Is This Case Appropriate for Mediation?	100
§4.5	Am I the Right Mediator?	102
§4.6	Should There Be a Written Mediation Agreement?	106
§4.7	Who Should (and Who Should Not) Be Present at the Mediation?	107
§4.8	How Should the Physical Setting Be Arranged to Enhance the Likelihood of Success?	110
§4.9	How Formal or Informal Should I be?	115
§4.10	When Should the Mediation Take Place? How Long Will it Last?	116
§4.11	Substantive Preparations: Anticipating and Analyzing the Problem	119
§4.12	Should This Case be Co-Mediated? Should I Have Contacts with the Parties Before Convening the Press?	123
§4.13	Should I Have Contacts with the Parties Before Convening the Process? Review Problem	125 128
CHAPTER 5
MEDIATION AS A STRUCTURED PROCESS		131
§5.1	Introduction	131
§5.2	The Need for Structure: Lessons from a Story	133
§5.3	The Progressive Structure of a Model Mediation	138
§5.4	The Limits of a Model Structure	140
CHAPTER 6
OPENING THE PROCESS, DEFINING THE PROBLEM		141
§6.1	The Mediation Begins	141
	§6.1.1 Goals for the Opening Stage	141
	§6.1.2 Begin Together or Separately?	142
§6.2	The Mediator's Introduction	142
	Video Illustrations	144
§6.3	A Key Process Choice: To Start in Joint Session or Caucus?	147
§6.4	Developing Information: Mediation as an Interview	149
§6.5	A Progressive Model of Information Gathering in Mediation: Moving from Non-Directive and Party-Centered to More Directive and Mediator-Generated Questioning	151
§6.6	Inviting and Assisting the Participants' Opening Statements	153
	§6.6.1 In General, Begin with Very Open Questions	153
	§6.6.2 The Parties' Opening Statements: Who Gets to Speak First?	156
	§6.6.3 Responding to Initial Party Narratives	158
§6.7	Throughout the Process: The Critical Importance of Good Listening	160

§6.8	A Brief Note on Note-Taking	162
§6.9	Encouraging an Unstructured Conversation: The Process of “Exchange”	164
§6.10	Key Communication Enhancing Interventions	165
§6.10.1	Establish Empathy and Encourage Communication Through Active Listening	166
§6.10.2	Decrease Perceptual Barriers by Pointing Out Commonalities	168
§6.10.3	Reduce Perceptual Distortions by Clarifying Meaning	169
§6.10.4	Reduce the Sting of Angry, Negative Statements by “Productive Reframing”	170
§6.10.5	Reduce Tension by Coaching People to Express their Anger Productively	172
§6.10.6	Ensure Balance by Enforcing Ground Rules	173
§6.11	The Challenges of Multi-Tasking in the Opening State of Mediation	174
	Review Problem	176

CHAPTER 7

EXPANDING INFORMATION 179

§7.1	Introduction	179
§7.2	The Mediator’s Goals in Information Expansion	181
§7.3	A Model of Information Expansion in Mediation	183
§7.4	Organizing the Inquiry	185
§7.4.1	Begin by Fleshing out the Parties’ Own Statements, Ideas and Feelings	185
§7.4.2	Focus on Both the Past and the Future	188
§7.4.3	In General, Question Topically, Not Chronologically	190
§7.5	Beyond What the Parties Offer: Goal-Driven Information Categories and a Logical Progression for Asking About Them	196
§7.5.1	Probe to Increase Empathy and Mutual Understanding	197
§7.5.2	Probe for More Issues, More People and More Resources	198
§7.5.3	Probe for Future Dealings and Interdependencies	200
§7.5.4	Probe for Readiness: Ensuring that the Matter is Ripe for Mediation	202
§7.5.5	Inquire about Previous Discussions of the Dispute and Past Negotiations	203
§7.5.6	Inquire about Other Persons Who Must Be Satisfied with a Proposed Resolution	203
§7.5.7	Probe for Needs, Interests and Priorities	204

§7.5.8	Probe for Uncertainty and Doubt	208
§7.5.9	Probe for Negotiation Norms, Standards and Past Practices	213
§7.5.10	Probe for Alternatives to a Negotiated Settlement and the Impact of Non-Resolution	214
§7.6	Beyond Categories: The Role of Intuition and Curiosity	216
§7.7	Caucusing During Information Gathering	217
§7.8	Conducting the Information Caucus	219

CHAPTER 8

IDENTIFYING AND FRAMING NEGOTIATING ISSUES, ORGANIZING AN AGENDA 225

§8.1	Introduction	225
§8.2	Issue Identification and Agenda Construction: The Benefits	226
§8.3	What Is a “Mediable” (Negotiable) Issue?	227
§8.4	Proposing and Framing Mediation Issues	232
§8.5	How Negotiation Agendas Emerge	234
§8.6	Constructing an Agenda: Complexity vs. Manageability	237
§8.7	Sequencing a Multi-Issue Agenda	238
	Review Problem	243

CHAPTER 9

GENERATING MOVEMENT THROUGH PROBLEM-SOLVING AND PERSUASION 245

§9.1	Introduction	245
§9.2	The Prevalence of Persuasion in Mediation; Persuasion and Problem-Solving Defined	245
§9.3	Effective Persuasion: A Conceptual Overview	247
§9.4	Setting the Table for Persuasion: “Conditioning” the Parties	251
§9.5	Generating Movement: A “Progressive” Model of Problem-Solving and Persuasion	256
§9.5.1	Persuasion Based on Perspective-Taking: Role Reversal	257
§9.5.2	Persuasion Based on “Considering the Opposite”	259
§9.5.3	Persuasion Through Healing: Apology	261
§9.5.4	Persuasion by Appealing to Interests: Problem-Solving	265
§9.5.5	Persuasion Through Doubt: Providing Feedback and Evaluation	267
	Review Problem	275

CHAPTER 10
CONDUCTING THE BARGAINING, DEALING WITH IMPASSE	277
§10.1 Introduction	277
§10.2 Conducting the Actual Bargaining: A Range of Formats	277
§10.3 Face-to-Face Negotiations	278
§10.4 Caucused Negotiation or “Shuttle Diplomacy”	279
§10.5 Group Brainstorming: Multiplying Options Through Collaboration	281
§10.6 Using Mixed Negotiation Formats	284
§10.7 Conducting the Actual Bargaining: The Mediator’s Role	285
§10.8 What Offers and Concessions Will Be Made, and When?	286
§10.9 Communicating Offers: How Will They Be Framed and Justified, and by Whom?	289
§10.10 How Will Offers Be Received and Evaluated?	292
§10.11 In General: Keeping the Talks Moving and Avoiding “No”: Varied Approaches	294
§10.12 Dealing with Impasses	297
§10.12.1 Step One: Analyze the Case Objectively to Determine Whether it “Should” Settle	298
§10.12.2 Step Two: When Facing an Apparent Impasse, Analyze and Address the Remaining Barriers to Settlement	300
§10.13 When Time is Running Out: “End Game” Settlement Techniques	306
§10.14 Some Final Thoughts on Impasse	308
CHAPTER 11
CONCLUDING THE MEDIATION	311
§11.1 Introduction	311
§11.2 The Importance of Closure	311
§11.3 Formalizing Agreements: Is a Writing Needed?	313
§11.4 Who Should Draft the Agreement?	314
§11.5 Drafting Settlement Agreements: Principles and Objectives	315
Settlement Agreement: Wilson v. DiLorenzo	316
§11.6 Better than Nothing: Partial or Interim Agreements	325
§11.7 When No Resolution Is Reached	326
Review Problem	328

CHAPTER 12
THE ETHICS OF MEDIATING	331
§12.1 Introduction: Is Mediation a Regulated Profession?	331
The Model Standards of Conduct for Mediators (August 2005)	333
§12.2 Should I Mediate this Case? Issues of Competence, Conflicts of Interest and Disclosure	337
Problem One: What Must the Mediator Disclose?	337
Problem Two: What if I Know One of the Parties?	338
§12.3 Do I Have any Responsibility for the “Fairness” of the Parties’ Agreement?	338
Problem Three: “Procedural” Power Balancing?	341
Problem Four: “Informational” Power Balancing?	343
Problem Five: Power Balancing by Negotiation Coaching?	343
§12.4 Mediation and the Problem of Criminal and Other Unlawful Conduct	346
Problem Six: Problematic Agreements	346
§12.5 Ethical and Policy Issues Regarding Confidentiality	349
Problem Seven: Describing Mediation Confidentiality	353
Problem Eight: Confidentiality and Discovery	354
§12.6 Pursuing Settlement: What Are the Ethical Limits?	356
Problem Nine: Mediator Pressure and Party Self-Determination	356
Problem Ten: “Move Things Along”	358
Problem Eleven: The Mediator as Fact Investigator	358
Problem Twelve: Mediator Non-Disclosure of Information	359
Problem Thirteen: Tailoring Legal Evaluations	361
§12.7 Self-Determined Decisions: Addressing Advisor Interference	363
Problem Fourteen: Circumventing the Lawyer	363
§12.8 Mediators Crossing Professional Lines	363
§12.9 On Developing Judgment: Some Concluding Thoughts	365
CHAPTER 13
REPRESENTING CLIENTS IN MEDIATION	367
§13.1 Introduction	367
A Campus Death: The Yanni Case	368
§13.2 Deciding Whether to Enter Mediation: The Roles of Lawyer and Client	369
Problem One: Counseling About Choice of Process	373
§13.3 Initiating Mediation	374
Problem Two: Proposing Mediation	374
Problem Three: Choosing the Right Mediator	376
§13.4 Preparing for the Proceedings	376
Problem Four: Who Should Attend?	377
Defendant’s Confidential Memorandum to the Mediator	379

§13.5	Preparing the Client for Mediation	381
	Problem Five: The Client's Role at the Mediation	382
	Problem Six: Establishing Settlement Authority	384
	Preparing the Client for Mandatory Mediation:     What Constitutes "Good Faith" Participation?	385
§13.6	Developing an Overall Negotiation Strategy	386
	Problem Seven: A Plan for the Yanni Mediation	389
§13.7	At the Table: Representing the Client's Interests	389
	Problem Eight: Party Opening in Yanni	391
	§13.7.1 Enlisting the Mediator's Help in the Bargaining Process	392
	§13.7.2 Suggesting Changes to the Game	396
§13.8	Closing the Circle: Process Pluralism Revisited	397
Appendix A	Video Clip Transcripts for Analysis	399
Appendix B	Model Standards of Conduct for Mediators (September 2005)	511
Appendix C	Model Standards of Practice for Family and Divorce Mediation (2001)	519
Appendix D	Uniform Mediation Act (Excerpts)	529
Appendix E	Selected Excerpts, Delaware Lawyers' Rules of Professional Conduct (as amended through May 2010)	533
Appendix F	Tolman Screening Model (Modified)	543
Appendix G	Sample Agreements to Mediate	547
	Video Clip Index	557
	Index	561