dormakaba joins International WELL Building Institute as cornerstone member

INDIANAPOLIS, March 10, 2025 – dormakaba is proud to announce its participation in the International WELL Building Institute (IWBI) membership program as a Cornerstone Member, reinforcing its commitment to creating healthier, safer, and more sustainable buildings worldwide.

As part of this commitment, dormakaba ESA Sliding Automatic Doors™ have achieved alignment with WELL standards, demonstrating the company's dedication to supporting access solutions that promote well-being and efficiency in the built environment. The full dormakaba profile and WELL-aligned products can be explored in the IWBI Membership Directory: dormakaba WELL Directory.

"The IWBI membership community's steady growth complements a growing global commitment to people-first places," said Rachel Hodgdon, President & CEO of IWBI. "Health and well-being are investments that we know pay dividends in times of struggle and of success. We're excited and humbled to work alongside these global leaders to advance this movement toward a better and healthier future for everyone, everywhere."

By joining as a Cornerstone Member, dormakaba gains access to IWBI's extensive knowledge base, thought leadership, and a global network of organizations dedicated to advancing human health and wellness in the built environment. This collaboration highlights dormakaba's role as an industry leader in safe and sustainable access solutions while furthering the WELL movement's impact across the industry.

"Joining the International WELL Building Institute is a natural step in dormakaba's commitment to co-creating sustainable, people-centric spaces with our customers," said Stephanie Ossenbach, VP Group Sustainability Officer for dormakaba. "At dormakaba, we recognize that sustainability goes beyond environmental responsibility—it's also about fostering health, well-being, and safety in the built environment. Through this collaboration, we are reinforcing our mission to provide innovative access solutions that help our customers achieve their sustainability goals while creating spaces that enhance the well-being of those who use them."
