We are delighted that you are interested in joining the Associate Schools Programme.

By becoming an Associate School, you will join a regional and national network of schools and theatres committed to transforming experiences of Shakespeare and live theatre for young people.

We want to build a local community of schools to share practice, pedagogy, and performance. We are looking for schools with at least two teachers that will lead the programme in their school, have senior management and governor support and will be committed to engage fully for a minimum of two years.

Please complete the questions on the next page.

Please tell us how the Associate Schools Programme aligns with your school's current plans and future ambitions.

How would the activity help you to achieve your curriculum aims, either for a particular group, subject area or across the whole school?

How would becoming an Associate School benefit your teaching staff and what might they contribute to the Network?

Head Teacher's statement of commitment.
