

Commitment and dedication

- The Swiss Red Cross is an independent and neutral relief organization.
- Your personal details and those of the person you wish to trace will be treated in the strictest confidence.
- A suitable approach will be developed in consultation with you.
- When trying to trace missing persons worldwide the SRC Tracing Service works in collaboration with the ICRC and the 187 tracing services of other National Red Cross or Red Crescent Societies.
- Before any direct contact is established, the persons being traced are asked whether they would like to be reunited.
- The services of the SRC Tracing Service are free of charge; however, donations are always gratefully received.

SRC Tracing Service

The Swiss Red Cross (SRC) helps people trace their loved ones.

SRC Tracing Service

The SRC Tracing Service is available to anyone living in Switzerland who wants to find a missing family member or close friend.

Family members can be separated by war, natural disasters or migration. But sometimes even disputes, adoption or other reasons can lead to families being split up.

The SRC Tracing Service can provide personal counselling and keeps you up to date on the status of the search.

Our services

- Tracing missing persons
- Passing on Red Cross messages
- Providing attestations of detention from the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC)
- Research into the fate of missing persons and about burial locations
- Support and assistance in the search for personal documentation and obtaining access to files
- Being present when families are reunited, once authorization is given by the competent authorities

Direct search at www.familylinks.icrc.org

On the ICRC's Restoring Family Links website you can:

- Search for your relatives during an acute disaster
- Consult lists of missing persons from various conflict situations worldwide
- Find the photos and names of people in Europe who are looking for relatives
- Publish your own photo and name if you are looking for someone in Europe
- Forward information about missing persons
- Find further information about our network

The website provides worldwide access to the services of the Restoring Family Links Network of the Red Cross and Red Crescent.
