frequently asked questions

Q Am I entitled to receive notice of the meeting and attend the meeting?

A Yes, if you are a holder of common shares or non-voting shares of TELUS as of March 13, 2007, which is the record date for the meeting.

Q Am I entitled to vote and what am I voting on?

A If you hold common shares as of the close of business on March 13, 2007, you are entitled to cast one vote per common share on the election of directors and the appointment of auditors. If you hold non-voting shares as of the close of business on March 13, 2007 you have the right to attend and be heard at the meeting.

Q Am I a registered or non-registered shareholder?

A You are a registered shareholder if you have a share certificate registered in your name.

You are a non-registered shareholder if:

- your common shares are registered in the name of an intermediary (for example, a bank, a trustee or an investment dealer) or the name of a clearing agency of which the intermediary is a participant; or
- you hold your common shares through the TELUS Employee Share Purchase Plan.

Q How can I vote my common shares?

A You can vote either by attending and voting your common shares at the meeting or, if you cannot attend the meeting, by having your common shares voted by proxy. How you exercise your vote depends on whether you are a registered or non-registered shareholder.

Voting by attending the meeting – registered and non-registered shareholders

If you are a registered shareholder, you are entitled to attend the meeting and cast your vote in person.

If you are a non-registered shareholder, you are entitled to attend the meeting and cast your vote in person, provided you have submitted a properly executed proxy, inserting your name in the blank space provided and returning it in the envelope provided. When you arrive at the meeting, advise the registration staff that you are a proxy appointee. If you have received a voting instruction form, please follow the instructions on the form.

Computershare Trust Company of Canada (“Computershare”) is the trustee of all common shares (the “employee shares”) held on behalf of members of the TELUS Employee Share Purchase Plan.

Holders of employee shares are treated in the same manner as non-registered shareholders. If you hold employee shares, you are entitled to attend the meeting and cast your vote in person, provided you have submitted a properly executed proxy, inserting your name in the blank space provided and returning it according to the instructions on the form. When you arrive at the meeting, advise the registration staff that you are a proxy appointee.

Voting by proxy

How you vote depends on whether you are a registered shareholder, a non-registered shareholder or a holder of employee shares.

Voting by proxy – registered shareholders

If you are a registered shareholder, you may vote your proxy in one of three ways:

- by paper proxy to be returned by mail or delivery;
- by telephone; or
- by Internet.

Whichever method you choose, your proxy must be received by TELUS’ Corporate Secretary, c/o Computershare Trust Company of Canada (9th floor, 100 University Avenue, Toronto, Ontario, M5J 2Y1), no later than 5:00 p.m. (local time) on April 30, 2007 or, if the meeting is adjourned, by 5:00 p.m. (local time) on the second-last business day before the adjourned meeting date.

- Proxy and voting by mail or delivery:

To vote by mail or delivery, your paper proxy must be completed, signed and returned in accordance with the instructions on the paper proxy.

- Proxy and voting by telephone:

To vote by telephone, call the toll-free number shown on the proxy form that was sent to you by mail or e-mail. Using a touch-tone telephone to select your voting preferences, follow the instructions and refer to your holder account number and proxy access number provided on your proxy.

Note that you cannot vote by telephone if you wish to appoint as a proxy someone other than the person named on the proxy form. In that instance, your proxy should be voted by mail, delivery or Internet.

- Proxy and voting by Internet:

To vote your proxy by Internet, visit the website address shown on the proxy form that was delivered to you by mail or e-mail. Follow the online voting instructions and refer to your holder account number and proxy access number provided on your proxy.

Voting by proxy – non-registered shareholders

If you are a non-registered shareholder and you receive these materials through an investment dealer or other intermediary, complete and return the materials entitling you to vote, by following the instructions provided to you by the investment dealer or other intermediary.

If you hold employee shares, use one of the three voting procedures outlined above (mail, telephone or Internet), to direct Computershare, in its capacity as trustee, as to how your employee shares are to be voted. Computershare, in its capacity as trustee, will deliver the proxy forms for use at the meeting for all votes to be cast at the meeting as indicated on all paper, telephone or Internet proxies.

The voting rights attached to employee shares will be voted for or against or withheld from voting only in accordance with the specifications made by the employees. If a proxy is not received by Computershare in its capacity as trustee according to the above procedures, the employee shares will not be voted by the trustee.

For employee shares to be voted at the meeting by the trustee or a duly appointed proxy, proxies must be received by TELUS' Corporate Secretary, c/o Computershare, (9th floor, 100 University Avenue, Toronto, Ontario, M5J 2Y1) no later than 5:00 p.m. (local time) on April 30, 2007 or, if a meeting is adjourned, by 5:00 p.m., (local time), on the second-last business day before the adjourned meeting date.

If an employee holds common shares other than employee shares, another proxy must be completed to vote those shares, unless the employee attends the meeting and votes the common shares in person.

Q Who votes my shares?

A Each person named in the proxy to represent shareholders at the meeting is a director and/or officer of the Company. You can appoint someone else to represent you at the meeting, however, you must appoint that person by either paper proxy or Internet proxy by inserting his or her name in the appropriate space on the proxy form, or completing another acceptable paper proxy. The person you appoint does not need to be a shareholder but must attend the meeting in order for your vote to be cast.

Q How will my shares be voted if I return a proxy?

A By completing and returning a proxy, you are authorizing the person named in the proxy to attend the meeting and vote your shares on each item of business you are entitled to vote on, according to your instructions. If there are no instructions with respect to your proxy, your common shares will be voted in favour of:

1. electing as a director each person nominated by the Company for the ensuing year; and
2. appointing Deloitte & Touche LLP as auditors for the ensuing year and authorizing the directors to fix their remuneration.

Q Can I revoke a proxy?

A Yes, if you are a registered shareholder and have voted by paper, telephone or Internet proxy, you may revoke it by delivering a duly executed proxy by paper, telephone or Internet with a later date or a form of revocation of proxy.

Such paper proxies can be delivered to the registered office of the Company, to the attention of TELUS' Corporate Secretary, 21 – 3777 Kingsway, Burnaby, B.C. V5H 3Z7, any time up to and including April 30, 2007, or if the meeting is adjourned, on the business day before the date of the adjourned meeting.

Alternatively, you may revoke your proxy and vote in person, by delivering a form of revocation of proxy to the Chair of the meeting at the meeting or any adjournment thereof before the vote in respect of which the proxy is to be used is taken. You may also revoke your proxy in any other manner permitted by law.

If you are a non-registered shareholder, you may revoke your proxy or voting instructions by contacting the individual who serves your account.

As a holder of employee shares, if you have provided your proxy (by paper, telephone or Internet) you may revoke it by delivering another proxy (by paper, telephone or Internet) with a later date or a form of revocation of proxy, no later than 5:00 p.m. (local time) on April 30, 2007 or, if a meeting is adjourned, by 5:00 p.m. (local time) on the second-last business day before the reconvened meeting date.

Q Who has discretionary authority to vote on amendments or variations to any of the business items and on any other matter that may properly come before the meeting?

A Your voting instructions provided by paper, telephone or Internet proxy give discretionary authority to the person you appoint to vote as he or she sees fit on any amendment or variation to any of the matters identified in the notice of the meeting and any other matters that may properly be brought before the meeting, to the extent permitted by law. As of March 9, 2007, neither the directors nor senior officers of the Company are aware of any variation, amendment or other matter to be presented for a vote at the meeting.

Q Is my vote by proxy confidential?

A Yes, your vote by proxy is confidential. Proxies are received, counted and tabulated by our transfer agent, Computershare, in a way that preserves the confidentiality of individual shareholders' votes, except:

- as necessary to meet the applicable legal requirements;
- in the event of a proxy contest; or
- in the event a shareholder has made a written comment on the proxy.

Q Who is soliciting my proxy?

A Your proxy is being solicited on behalf of TELUS management. The solicitation of proxies will be made either by mail to your latest address shown on the register of shareholders or by electronic mail to the e-mail address you provided. In addition to solicitation by mail, employees or agents may solicit proxies by telephone or other ways at a nominal cost to the Company. The Company may, if determined advisable, retain an agency to solicit proxies for the Company in Canada and in the United States. The cost of solicitation is paid for by the Company.

Q What are the quorum requirements for the meeting and how many common shares are outstanding?

A A quorum at the meeting will consist of at least two persons present who are, or represent by proxy, holders of common shares holding in the aggregate at least 20 per cent of the issued and outstanding shares entitled to be voted at the meeting. On March 9, 2007, the Company had 177,671,014 common shares issued and outstanding.

Q Does any shareholder beneficially own 10 per cent or more of the common shares that are outstanding?

A No. To the knowledge of the directors and senior officers of TELUS, on March 9, 2007, no persons beneficially own, directly or indirectly, or exercise control or direction over, common shares carrying more than 10 per cent of the voting rights attached to all common shares entitled to be voted at the meeting.

Restriction on ownership of shares

The Company and certain of its subsidiaries must comply with the Canadian Telecommunications Common Carrier Ownership and Control Regulations (the “Telecommunications Regulations”), the Telecommunications Act (Canada) (the “Telecommunications Act”), the Broadcasting Act (Canada) (the “Broadcasting Act”) and the Radiocommunication Act (Canada) (the “Radiocommunication Act”) in order to provide its wireline, wireless and digital television services. These statutes and their regulations restrict the ownership of voting shares by non-Canadians. To maintain the eligibility of certain of its subsidiaries that are Canadian common carriers under these statutes and their regulations, the level of non-Canadian ownership of the Company’s common shares cannot exceed 33⅓ per cent and the Company must not otherwise be controlled by non-Canadians. The Telecommunications Regulations give carrier-holding corporations of Canadian common carriers certain powers to monitor and control the level of non-Canadian ownership of voting shares. As a carrier-holding corporation, the powers and constraints of the Telecommunications Regulations have been incorporated into the Articles of the Company and were extended to also ensure compliance under both the Radiocommunication Act and the Broadcasting Act. The powers include the right to: refuse to register a transfer of voting shares to a non-Canadian; require a non-Canadian to sell any voting shares; convert voting shares to non-voting shares; and suspend the voting rights attached to the voting shares. The Company monitors the level of non-Canadian ownership of its common shares and provides periodical reports to the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission.

Non-voting shares

Subject to the prior rights of the holders of first preferred shares and second preferred shares of the Company, holders of non-voting shares are entitled to participate equally with the holders of common shares with respect to the payment of dividends and the distribution of assets of the Company on the liquidation, dissolution or winding up of the Company. The non-voting shares cannot be subdivided, consolidated, reclassified or otherwise changed unless the common shares are changed in the same manner.

Generally, the holders of non-voting shares are entitled to receive notice of, attend and be heard at all general meetings of the Company and are entitled to receive all notices of meeting, information circulars and other written information from the Company that the holders of common shares are entitled to receive from the Company, but are not entitled to vote at such general meetings unless otherwise required by law. To ensure that the holders of non-voting shares can participate in any offer made to holders of common shares (but that is not made to the holders of non-voting shares on the same terms), the offer must, by reason of applicable securities legislation or the requirements of the stock exchanges on which the common shares are listed, be made to all or substantially all the holders of common shares who are in any province of Canada to which such requirements apply (an “exclusionary offer”). Each holder of non-voting shares will, for the purposes of the exclusionary offer only, be permitted to convert all or part of the non-voting shares held into an equivalent number of common shares during the applicable conversion period. In certain circumstances (namely, the delivery of certificates, at specified times, by holders of 50 per cent or more of the issued and outstanding common shares to the effect that they will not, among other things, tender to such exclusionary offer or make an exclusionary offer), these conversion rights will not come into effect.

If the Telecommunications Act, the Radiocommunication Act, and the Broadcasting Act and the regulations thereunder relating to ownership and control are changed so that there is no restriction on non-Canadians holding common shares, holders of non-voting shares will have the right to convert all or part of their non-voting shares into common shares on a one-for-one basis. The Company will have the right to require holders of non-voting shares who do not make such an election to convert their non-voting shares into an equivalent number of common shares.

election of directors

General

All of the directors were elected by the holders of common shares on May 3, 2006.

The Board has fixed the number of directors at 12. At the meeting, shareholders are asked to vote for the 12 nominees proposed by the Company for election as directors of the Company. Each holder of common shares will be entitled to cast their votes for, or withhold their votes from, the election of each director. Unless otherwise instructed, the persons named in the accompanying proxy as proxyholders (the "management proxyholders") intend to vote for the election of all 12 nominees whose names are set forth on pages 7 to 9. As described on page 9, the Company's majority voting policy applies to this election.

Management believes that all nominees are able to serve as directors. If, prior to the meeting, any nominee is unable or unwilling to serve, the management proxyholders, unless directed to withhold the common shares from voting for the election of directors, reserve the right to vote for another nominee or nominees in their discretion if additional nominations were made at the meeting. Unless his or her office is vacated in accordance with applicable law or the Articles of the Company, each director elected at the meeting will hold office until the next annual meeting or until his or her successor is elected or appointed.

Majority voting policy

In February 2007, the Board reviewed and adopted a majority voting policy on the recommendation of the Corporate Governance Committee. Under this new policy, a director who is elected in an uncontested election with more votes withheld than cast in favour of his or her election will be required to tender his or her resignation to the Chair of the Board. The resignation will be effective when accepted by the Board. The Corporate Governance Committee will consider the resignation and make its recommendation to the Board on whether the resignation should be accepted. The Board expects that resignations will be accepted unless there are extenuating circumstances that warrant a contrary decision. The Board will announce its decision (including the reasons for not accepting any resignation) via press release within 90 days of the meeting where the election was held. The Board will not re-nominate for re-election any director who fails to comply with this policy.

Director compensation

Each director of the Company who is not an employee of the Company receives an annual retainer for acting as a director on the Board and each committee served, and a fee for each Board and committee meeting attended. Darren Entwistle, the only employee director, is not entitled, however, to receive any compensation or benefits for serving as a director of TELUS.

Directors may elect to receive their annual retainers and meetings fees in any combination of cash, deferred share units (“DSUs”) and TELUS shares, except that a director who has not met the equity ownership target must receive one half of the annual board retainer in shares or DSUs until the target is reached.

A fulsome review of directors’ compensation was conducted in 2006. The Corporate Governance Committee considered compensation principles, alignment with shareholder value, executive compensation principles and the extent to which they are relevant, and the magnitude of pay. The Corporate Governance Committee engaged Hewitt Associates to assist in determining a comparator group and gather comparators’ information. The Corporate Governance Committee selected a comparator group that focused on public companies in similar industries as well as public companies of comparable complexity and size in different industries.

The Corporate Governance Committee concluded that:

- the level of compensation must be sufficient to attract and retain qualified directors with the experience and skills to lead the Company;
- equity is an important element of compensation to emphasize alignment with shareholder value;
- the magnitude of equity pay should be fixed at a specified value rather than a specified number of DSUs to better maintain alignment with market; and
- compensation should be reviewed and set each year to ensure that it remains current and aligned with market.

The Corporate Governance Committee determined that it is appropriate to target cash compensation for a director (excluding meeting fees) at the 50th percentile and total compensation (excluding meeting fees) at the 75th percentile.

The Corporate Governance Committee then reviewed the principles against the market data compiled by Hewitt Associates, and recommended that cash compensation should be increased for the Board and the Audit Committee Chair while equity grants should be determined based on a specified dollar value rather than a specified number of equity to better reflect market value at the time of grant. These principles were approved by the Board. Applying them, the Board approved certain changes to directors’ compensation for the 2007 year.

The schedule of retainer and meeting fees payable for 2006 and 2007 is set forth in the following table. Meeting fees paid to directors (other than the Chair and the Chief Executive Officer, or CEO, who do not receive such fees) for board and committee meeting attendance in 2006 ranged from $24,000 to $27,000 each.

Cease trade orders, bankruptcies, penalties or sanctions

Other than as disclosed, for the ten years ended December 31, 2006, TELUS is not aware that any current director or officer of TELUS had been a director or officer of another issuer which, while that person was acting in that capacity, became bankrupt or made a proposal under any legislation relating to bankruptcy or insolvency or was subject to or instituted any proceedings, arrangements or compromises with creditors or had a receiver, receiver manager or trustee appointed to hold its assets.

In December 1998, John Lacey was asked by a group of shareholders to lead the Loewen restructuring, as Chairman of the Board, a position he held at the time of Loewen's filing under Chapter 11 of the U.S. Bankruptcy Code and the Companies' Creditors Arrangement Act (Canada) ("CCAA"). In March 2006, Mr. Lacey was appointed to the board of directors of Stelco Inc. ("Stelco") as a nominee of Tricap Management Limited ("Tricap"). Stelco filed for bankruptcy protection under the CCAA in January 2004. Mr. Lacey's appointment as a director was part of a court supervised restructuring, from which Stelco emerged on March 31, 2006 and pursuant to which Tricap had the right to appoint four of Stelco's nine directors. Charles Baillie is a director of Dana Corporation, which filed for bankruptcy in March 2006 under Chapter 11 of the U.S. Bankruptcy Code. The company has indicated that it expects to emerge from bankruptcy in late 2007.

Other than as disclosed, for the ten years ended December 31, 2006, TELUS is not aware that any current director or officer of TELUS had been a director or officer of another issuer which, while that person was acting in that capacity, was the subject of a cease trade or similar order or was subject to an event that resulted, after the director or executive officer ceased to be a director or executive officer, in the company being the subject of a cease trade or similar order that denied the company relevant access to any exemption under securities legislation for a period of more than 30 consecutive days. On June 14, 2006, and at the request of Cognos Incorporated ("Cognos"), the Ontario Securities Commission ("OSC") issued a cease trade order against all directors of Cognos, including Pierre Ducros, in connection with a delay in filing its annual report with Canadian regulators. The delay was related to a review by the United States Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") of the way Cognos allocated revenue between post-contract customer support and licence fees. The OSC lifted the cease trade order on August 3, 2006 after the SEC concluded that it did not object to Cognos' revenue recognition policy.

In 2002, upon the recommendation of the Audit Committee, the Board of Directors appointed Deloitte & Touche LLP to fill the vacancy that resulted from the Company's then current auditors, Arthur Andersen LLP, ceasing to practice public accounting in Canada. Deloitte & Touche LLP were re-appointed auditors of the Company on May 3, 2006 at the annual general meeting of the Company.

Upon the recommendation of the Audit Committee, holders of common shares will be asked at the meeting to approve the appointment of Deloitte & Touche LLP as auditors and authorize the directors to fix the remuneration of the auditors. This re-appointment will become effective only if approved by at least a majority of the votes cast by the holders of common shares present in person or by proxy, entitled to vote at the meeting.

The management proxyholders intend to vote for the appointment of Deloitte & Touche LLP as auditors of the Company, unless the holder of common shares specifies that his or her proxy be withheld from voting.

mandate and report of the corporate governance committee

The mandate of the Corporate Governance Committee is to assist the Board in fulfilling its oversight responsibilities to ensure that the Company has an effective corporate governance regime. The Corporate Governance Committee is responsible for monitoring corporate governance developments, emerging best practices and the effectiveness of the Company's corporate governance practices. The Corporate Governance Committee is also responsible for identifying, recruiting and recommending nominees for election as directors, and providing ongoing development for directors and overseeing Board and director evaluations. The Corporate Governance Committee assesses and makes recommendations to the Board for its determination of the "independence" and "financial literacy", "financial expertise", "accounting or related financial management expertise" of directors as defined under corporate governance rules and guidelines.

Membership

The current members of the Corporate Governance Committee are Ron P. Triffo (Chair), R.H. Auchinleck, R. John Butler and John S. Lacey. All members are independent.

Meetings

The Corporate Governance Committee meets at least once each quarter and reports on its activities to the Board. Activities reviewed are based on its mandate and annual work plan. At each regularly scheduled quarterly meeting, it holds an in-camera session without management present. The Corporate Governance Committee met four times during 2006 and held four in-camera sessions.

Highlights

In 2006, the Committee undertook an extensive review of the following practices that went beyond its annual activities.

Removal of mandatory retirement requirement on directors

The Board removed the requirement that directors retire at the age of 70. This decision was based on an extensive review led by the Corporate Governance Committee. The Corporate Governance Committee examined the purpose for the requirement, the correlation between a director's age and effectiveness, and the need for regular Board rejuvenation. It considered the profile and age of the current directors and their years of service, the Board renewal that has taken place organically, the robust annual evaluation of directors already in place, the need to keep crucial talent on the Board beyond age 70, the expectation of increased competition for qualified directors among large public companies, and the fact that five out of the 12 directors would reach age 70 before the 2010 annual general meeting including relatively new directors who would have served on the Board for well under ten years at that time. Maintaining a mandatory retirement age of 70 would cause the Company to lose qualified directors who would have served on the Board for a relatively short tenure. The Corporate Governance Committee considered alternatives such as raising the mandatory retirement age to 72 or another age, setting maximum terms of service and creating an explicit discretion to waive the requirement on an exception basis.

Ultimately, the Corporate Governance Committee concluded that, with a vigorous evaluation process in place, mandatory retirement is not the optimal means of ensuring Board renewal and age is not the optimal means of ensuring director effectiveness, and that with the present tenure and profile of the Board, maintaining a mandatory retirement age at 70 or another age is not in the best interests of the Company. This assessment was supported by data on market trends which indicate that more companies are waiving retirement age in order to retain board talent, shifting towards a reliance on competence assessment rather than age, and increasing the average age of directors to overcome increasing difficulty in recruiting current CEOs from other businesses to serve on boards.

Succession planning and committee composition

The Corporate Governance Committee focused on Board committee composition in its 2006 review on succession planning. It considered and then recommended to the Board a set of guidelines, some of which have been informally put into practice in previous years. They include:

- rotating directors onto all Board committees so that over time, during their tenure on the Board, they acquire a detailed understanding of all areas of responsibilities through the committees and all have an opportunity to chair a Board committee;
- enhancing Board renewal by setting general guidelines for minimum and maximum term of service on Board committees and for Committee Chairs;
- establishing transition periods where necessary when committee chairs step down; and
- ensuring rotation does not negatively impact stability and continuity of operations of these committees.

The Corporate Governance Committee specifically reviewed the tenure of each director on each committee as well as succession planning for the Audit Committee financial expert.

The Board accepted the Corporate Governance Committee's recommendations and, as an immediate step, appointed Don Woodley to chair the Pension Committee and begin the transition that will enable John Butler to step down from that committee following his lengthy service.

Enhanced commitment to corporate governance

During 2006, the Corporate Governance Committee undertook the following initiatives as part of its commitment to best practices for corporate governance:

- recommended to the Board for approval the adoption of a majority voting policy;
- recommended to the Board for approval, together with the Human Resources and Compensation Committee, pre-approval of compensation consultant engagement for material non-Board work;
- recommended to the Board for approval changes to the Board Policy Manual to reflect changes in practice or actual practice;
- prior to aborting the Company's proposal to convert into an income trust, reviewed and discussed with management the principles to be adopted upon conversion of the Company into an income trust, and supported management in the development of a best-in-class governance structure. In that regard, the Corporate Governance Committee received a briefing from management on the views of governance stakeholders, model legislation as well as industry research data;
- received and considered with management frequent updates on changing laws and regulations, rules and corporate governance initiatives taken by securities regulators and other stakeholders, emerging best practices and their implications for the Company; and
- reviewed the implications of secondary market civil liability in Ontario and other provinces where similar legislation was being adopted, including the impact on the Company's policies and processes.

Initiatives relating to directors

The Corporate Governance Committee undertook the following additional initiatives related to directors:

- reviewed and recommended to the Board for approval nominees for election as directors;
- considered the resignations of several directors tendered automatically upon a change in their employment, as required by the Board Policy Manual, and recommended to the Board refusal of those resignations on the basis that they do not negatively affect the directors' service;
- continued the ongoing education program for all directors;
- conducted an annual review of the succession planning process for the Board Chair and the Committee Chairs;
- conducted an annual review of the eligibility criteria to act as a director; and
- conducted an annual evaluation of the Board as a whole, and of each director of the Company, the Chair of the Board and the Chairs of each committee.

For more information on director compensation see the tables on page 11.

Compensation Committee Advisors

The Compensation Committee has retained the services of an external executive compensation consultant, Hewitt Associates. The nature and scope of services rendered by Hewitt Associates to the Compensation Committee is described below:

For 2006, this work included flexible benefits and pension redesign, and consulting on certain employee-related communications. The Hewitt Associates representative who advises the Compensation Committee has no involvement in the provision of any TELUS management-retained work. Commencing in 2007, Hewitt Associates is required to obtain prior approval from the Compensation Committee Chair (or his or her delegate) for any material non-Board work.

In addition, Hewitt Associates was engaged by the Corporate Governance Committee in 2006 to assist in determining a comparator group and to gather comparators’ information on director compensation. This information was used by the Corporate Governance Committee in its determination of the Company’s director compensation.

For 2006, the Company paid to Hewitt Associates for Compensation Committee and Corporate Governance Committee work fees totaling approximately $308,000. The Company also paid to Hewitt Associates approximately $315,000 for management-retained work.

mandate and report of the human resources and compensation committee continued

In 2006, the Compensation Committee engaged independent legal advisors to review and provide their opinion on the appropriateness of change of control provisions in the Company's option plans prior to recommending their adoption to the Board.

- reviewed and approved the succession plan for each member of executive management, including specific development plans and career planning for potential successors for both normal career progression and emergency replacement situations.

Equity plans

- reviewed and recommended to the Board for approval the annual stock option and restricted stock unit ("RSU") grants to management (including executive management) for 2006 performance;
- received reports on the status of the option share reserves and monitored and approved discretionary long-term incentive awards;

- reviewed and recommended to the Board for approval a change to the option exercise price under the Management Plan, from a weighted average trading price of the underlying share on the day before the grant date to a weighted average trading price over a five-day period, to match the formula for determining the allocation price of RSUs under the RSU Plan. This change was made to better reflect market value (a five-day average is likely to be more reflective than a one-day average) and to promote consistency in the grant price of different types of long-term incentives;

In its deliberations, the Compensation Committee considered the implications of this proposal including positive impact on tax (to the Company and option holders), accounting treatment, reduced share dilution, option reserve depletion, likely market reception, regulatory approvals, and net income volatility. The Compensation Committee also received input from the compensation consultant and management on market practices and precedents;

- reviewed and recommended to the Board for approval the creation of a discretionary pool of options that may be granted at the CEO’s discretion to non-executive management for reward, retention and recognition purposes, subject to the parameters specified by the Compensation Committee and oversight by the Compensation Committee; and

Report on executive compensation

An important mandate of the Compensation Committee is to design a compensation arrangement for the Company's executive leadership team that supports its business strategy to enhance the growth and profitability of the Company and allow the Company to attract and retain the key talent necessary to achieve the business objectives of the Company, as approved by the Board.

Compensation objectives and principles

The Compensation Committee is a strong proponent of pay-for-performance by linking compensation directly to the achievement of business objectives. It has approved a performance management philosophy that creates a clear and direct linkage between compensation and the achievement of business objectives in the short-term, medium-term and long-term by providing appropriate components of fixed compensation, compensation at risk, and future income.

Executive leadership team members are evaluated on their achievement of results, leadership skills, retention risk and value to achieving strategy using the personal value-add assessment model ("PVAAM") as the assessment tool.

PVAAM ratings, in conjunction with competitive market compensation data and the corporate balanced scorecard results, are then used to determine each executive leadership team member's base pay, annual variable pay, restricted stock unit allocations and share option grants.

In addition, executive leadership team members are assessed annually on their potential for growth and development using a strategic staffing model. This model is a comprehensive assessment tool and is relied on to design and update succession plans for executive positions.

Benchmarking

The Compensation Committee has adopted a market-based approach to ensure that the Company provides competitive compensation. The Compensation Committee relates total compensation levels for the executives to the compensation paid to executives of other Canadian telecommunications companies as well as executives of companies in the general Canadian industry with revenue similar to that of the Company, as approved by the Compensation Committee. The comparator group is selected by the Compensation Committee upon receiving input from management and the compensation consultant.

Total compensation (base salary, short-term incentive and longer-term incentive) is generally targeted to be at or around the 75th percentile of the selected comparator group, but only if performance warrants as described below. The Compensation Committee also considers other elements of an executive's total compensation including health and welfare benefits, retirement programs and perquisites.

In establishing the appropriate compensation levels, the Compensation Committee engages and receives expert advice from the compensation consultant who conducts surveys and provides competitive data and market trends. The Compensation Committee also considers recommendations from management, and its decision may reflect other relevant factors and considerations.

Compensation mix

The key elements of the Company's executive compensation program are base salary and at-risk compensation, which comprises annual variable pay, medium-term incentives and long-term incentives. Additional compensation, such as retention awards and signing bonuses, may be paid from time to time if the Compensation Committee feels it is appropriate.

Base salary

In accordance with its market-based approach, the Compensation Committee has targeted base salaries of the executive leadership team to be at approximately the 50th percentile of the comparator group. Individual base salaries are adjusted by the Compensation Committee to recognize varying levels of responsibility, prior experience, breadth of knowledge, overall individual performance and internal equity, as well as the pay practices of companies in the comparator group.

At-risk incentive pay

At-risk incentive pay for the executive leadership team is made up of three components, annual variable pay, medium-term incentives, and long-term incentives. The target award for the annual and medium-term incentives is in each case 50 per cent of an executive’s base salary, while the target award for the long-term incentives is the amount necessary to bring total compensation to 75th percentile based on performance.

Partially meeting objectives would result in a reduced award. Exceeding objectives could result in an award of more than 100 per cent of base salary. This approach ensures that at-risk incentive pay reflects actual performance and requires truly outstanding results to deliver payments exceeding the target award.

1. Annual variable pay

This component implements the Company’s pay-for-performance philosophy by providing executives with direct financial incentive in the form of an annual cash award based on the achievement of results.

Corporate, business unit and individual performance objectives are set each year. Annual variable pay is determined at the end of the year by rating the extent to which the performance of the Company, each business unit, each customer-facing (revenue generating) business unit, as well as individual performance, meet or exceed these objectives.

The Company selects quantifiable goals that are easily measurable and auditable, and tests the goals and targets against prior year actual performance before adoption to check for year-over-year consistency. Targets to determine when these goals have been met or exceeded are set out in the corporate balanced scorecard and business unit balanced scorecards, and the executives’ personal performance objectives.

All corporate and business unit scorecard goals are tied to the six strategic imperatives of TELUS:

- building national capabilities across data, Internet protocol (IP), voice and wireless;
- providing integrated solutions that differentiate TELUS from its competitors;
- partnering, acquiring and divesting to accelerate the implementation of the Company’s strategy and focus our resources on core business;
- focusing relentlessly on the growth markets of data, IP and wireless;
- going to market as one team, under a common brand, executing a single strategy; and
- investing in internal capabilities to build a high-performance culture and efficient operation.

The weighting given to corporate, business unit and personal objectives in calculating variable pay for each named executive officer in 2006 is set out in the following table:

Position	Component weighting					Target award
	Corporate	Business Unit (“BU”)	Average BU	Average customer-facing BU	Personal	Percentage of base salary
President and CEO Darren Entwistle	30%	–	20%	30%	20%	50%
EVP – CFO Robert McFarlane	30%	20%	–	30%	20%	50%
EVP – Business Solutions Joe Natale	50%	30%	–	–	20%	50%
EVP – Network Operations Joe Grech	30%	20%	–	30%	20%	50%
EVP – Consumer Solutions John Watson	50%	30%	–	–	20%	50%

Since the CEO is responsible for the performance of all business units in the organization, his variable pay was specifically tied to the performance of all business units. Given the nature of the Company's business, a portion of his variable pay was also specifically tied to the performance of the customer-facing business units who have direct line of sight to our customers.

For each executive vice-president, a portion of the award was specifically tied to the performance of the business unit led by that executive rather than all business units. For those executive vice-presidents who lead support functions, such as Finance, Human Resources and Corporate Affairs, their variable pay was based in part on the success of the Company's customer-facing business units to ensure direct line of sight to the achievement of customer-facing business unit objectives.

The personal performance component of each member of the executive leadership team (other than the CEO) is assessed by the CEO, and the performance of the CEO is assessed by the Compensation Committee with the input of the Board. Each individual is assessed based on the extent to which he or she has achieved results and exhibited leadership skills determined in accordance with objectives set forth annually in his or her personal performance objectives. The Compensation Committee then reviews and approves the at-risk pay to the executive leadership team other than the CEO based on the recommendation of the CEO, and the Board reviews and approves the at-risk pay to the CEO based on the recommendation of the Compensation Committee.

2. Medium-term incentives

The ESU Plan is a medium-term incentive plan that was first implemented in 2002 for executive leadership team members and expanded in 2004 to include designated senior management team members. The purpose of this plan is to link a portion of the at-risk compensation to both the achievement of performance targets and total shareholder return, and to promote the retention of executives. Under the ESU Plan, participants are allocated restricted stock units ("ESUs"). The amount and terms of any allocation to executive leadership team members are approved by the Compensation Committee annually.

Generally, the number of ESUs allocated to an executive is based both on the achievement by the executive of performance targets and the share price performance of non-voting shares during the plan year. Achievement of performance is determined in the same manner as achievement for the purpose of determining annual variable pay. To link this award to shareholder return, the actual number of ESUs awarded is determined by taking the dollar value of the executive's annual cash variable pay award and dividing it by the value of TELUS non-voting shares at the beginning or end of the performance year (being the year preceding the year of allocation), whichever is higher.

Unless otherwise determined with respect to any particular allocation, ESU awards to non-executive participants are determined in the same manner, except that the target awards of these participants may differ.

This linkage, under the ESU Plan, to the share price of non-voting shares further aligns the interests of the recipients with the interests of shareholders. In this manner, any decline in the price of non-voting shares of the Company over the performance year directly reduces the value of the participant's incentive compensation, despite the fact that performance goals for the grants have been met.

Each ESU is equal in value to the price of one non-voting share calculated in the manner provided in the plan. When dividends on non-voting shares are paid during the life of an ESU, a participant receives an equivalent credit that is converted to additional ESUs in the participant's account. These dividend equivalents do not vest unless the ESUs vest.

Retention is promoted through the vesting of ESUs. ESUs allocated under the ESU Plan vest and become payable in equal annual instalments over approximately a three-year period, with all ESUs being paid out before the end of the second year after the year of allocation. If the participant resigns during this period, all unvested ESUs are forfeited. The value of the ESUs at payout is based on the value of non-voting shares at that time, calculated as required by the ESU Plan. In this manner, the price of non-voting shares of the Company directly impacts the value of the participant's incentive compensation at payout. Payments under the ESU Plan may be in cash or non-voting shares purchased in the market or, subject to all necessary corporate and regulatory approvals, in non-voting shares issued from treasury.

In 2006, the ESU Plan was amended to incorporate accelerated vesting upon a change of control. A full description of the change of control provisions, when they may be triggered under the Management Plan, the reasons they were added, and the Board's discretion relating to them, is set out on pages 39 and 40 of this circular.

3. Long-term incentives

Long-term incentives are provided under the Management Plan and the RSU Plan. The purpose of these plans is to align the interests of executives with those of shareholders and to provide incentive compensation based on the value of non-voting shares. This strategy provides an opportunity for executives to acquire, through share options and restricted stock units ("RSUs"), an increased ownership interest in the Company.

The amount and terms of any long-term incentive compensation determined by the Compensation Committee will be consistent with the overall compensation philosophy and objectives as set out above. As noted previously, long-term incentive compensation is awarded based on two main factors: competitive market compensation considerations and each executive leadership team member's PVAAM ratings. The resulting assessment has a direct bearing on the long-term incentive awards.

Share options are granted at an exercise price not less than the market value of the non-voting shares. Market value is based on the arithmetic average of the daily weighted average trading price on the Toronto Stock Exchange (excluding certain block trades and trades after a certain time in the day) for the five trading days before the grant date.

The Compensation Committee recommends to the Board the vesting schedule and the term of the share options. If no recommendation is made, then the share options will vest on the third anniversary of the grant and have a term of seven years. The term of the share options may not exceed 10 years. Share options may not be transferred or assigned by a participant.

Similar to the ESUs allocated under the ESU Plan, all RSUs allocated annually under the RSU Plan must be paid out before the end of the second year after the year of allocation. Each RSU is equal in value to the price of one non-voting share calculated as provided in the RSU Plan. When dividends on non-voting shares are paid during the life of an RSU, a participant receives an equivalent credit which is converted to additional RSUs in the participant's account. These dividend equivalents do not vest unless the RSUs vest. The value of the RSUs at payout is based on the value of non-voting shares at that time, calculated in the manner required by the RSU Plan. In this manner, the price of non-voting shares of the Company directly impacts the value of the participant's incentive compensation at payout. Payments under the RSU Plan may be in cash or in non-voting shares purchased in the market, or, subject to all necessary corporate and regulatory approvals, in non-voting shares issued from treasury. The Compensation Committee has the right to determine the vesting of each RSU allocation under the RSU Plan.

Amendments to long-term incentive plans

Change of control

In 2006, the Board adopted a set of change of control provisions in the Company's medium and long-term incentive plans, being the Management Plan, the ESU Plan and the RSU Plan. Outstanding options under all other equity plans have vested so that change of control provisions are not necessary. These amendments generally provide that upon a change of control of the Company, as defined in these plans, the Board has the discretion to take certain actions such as the conversion of outstanding options, ESUs and RSUs into options, ESUs and RSUs respectively under similar plans of a publicly traded successor corporation, the vesting of all unvested options, ESUs and RSUs, or the provision of cash or other consideration in exchange for cancelling outstanding options, ESUs and RSUs. If the Board decides not to take any of the discretionary permitted actions, then the outstanding options, ESUs and RSUs will vest as set out for each defined change of control. For details, see the description of the Management Plan on page 38.

In addition, for any participant whose employment is terminated without cause or who dies while employed by the Company within two years of the change of control, his or her unvested options issued before the change of control will immediately vest and be exercisable for 90 days after the termination of employment (or 12 months after death).

A full description of the change of control provisions, when they may be triggered under the Management Plan, and the Board's discretion relating to them, is set out on pages 39 and 40 of this circular. Equivalent provisions appear in the ESU Plan and RSU Plan.

Before recommending its adoption to the Board, the Compensation Committee conducted an extensive review of the appropriate treatment of incentives upon a change of control. Change of control provisions are designed to provide clarity to plan participants and the Board on what will occur upon a change of control, help management to stay focused on the best interests of the shareholders, and provide the Board with general principles for treating longer term incentives upon a change of control. Prior to these changes, the Management Plan already provided to the Board the ability to accelerate vesting of these incentives in their discretion, which included change of control. These changes provide more clarity on the subject. As part of its deliberations, the Compensation Committee conducted a careful review of market practices and received the advice of both the compensation consultant and independent legal counsel engaged by the Compensation Committee to advise on its duties in considering such a provision as well as the fairness of the proposed terms among market practice. The Compensation Committee concluded that the terms fairly balanced the interests of management and shareholders and were not excessive compared to market practice.

2006 performance

For 2006, the Compensation Committee has continued with a rigorous, comprehensive and holistic approach towards the assessment of the performance of the executive leadership team applying the principles described above.

This philosophy results in a high focus on performance driving pay with base salary comprising approximately 24 per cent of total compensation for the executive team overall for 2006.

Base salary

For 2006, two of the named executives received a base salary increase in recognition of the increasing complexity of that individual's responsibilities, breadth of knowledge and market competitiveness, in accordance with policies and approvals established by the Compensation Committee.

At-risk incentive pay

The at-risk incentive pay has three components:

1. Annual variable pay plan

For 2006, the corporate performance targets were tied to profitable growth, customer excellence, business efficiency and effectiveness, and team engagement. The overall result achieved was slightly below target at 0.93 against target performance of 1.0. The average of all business unit results was slightly below target performance of 1.0.

To determine the personal performance component of the incentive awards of the executive vice-presidents, the CEO evaluated their achievements and determined their corresponding PVAAM ratings. He then presented to the Compensation Committee the possible range of each component of at-risk pay that may be awarded based on such PVAAM ratings together with his recommendations on the total annual incentive award for each executive vice-president. The Compensation Committee reviewed the CEO's recommendations and determined the annual incentive payments of each executive vice-president. Payout on the individual component of performance can range from zero for substandard performance up to a maximum of 200 per cent for exceptional performance.

The following chart outlines the key metrics and highlights the corporate results achieved for 2006:

Objectives	Performance metrics	Highlights of 2006 results
Profitable growth (30%)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Revenue Free Cash Flow Earnings per Share (EPS) 	Overall the objectives were exceeded. Wireless revenue and EPS were particularly strong.
Customer excellence (30%)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Client churn Subscriber additions and Network access line (NAL) losses Customer service indices including delivery, loyalty and quality 	Overall these objectives were not fully met. Reasonable results were achieved in churn, subscriber additions and NAL losses. A series of extreme weather events in B.C. resulted in some customer service challenges
Business efficiency & effectiveness (30%)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Wireline earnings before interest and taxes (EBIT) before restructuring Wireless EBIT Cost of Acquisition (COA) 	Overall these objectives were exceeded. Wireline EBIT was particularly strong while increased competitive pressure resulted in higher than expected COA.
TELUS Team (10%)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Team member engagement index 	Overall the target was not fully met. Results in spring Pulsecheck e-survey showed improvement since the 2005 labour disruption, but with room to improve in future.

For 2006, the overall annual variable pay results for the executive leadership team members averaged 61 per cent of base salary. Comparing the 2006 actual results against comparable 2005 corporate scorecard measures would have resulted in a variable pay payout of 97 per cent for that component. This reduction is reflective of increased performance expectations that are the foundation to the pay-for-performance philosophy, and demonstrated the stretch targets in the 2006 corporate scorecard over the 2005 corporate scorecard.

TELUS performance comparisons

The Compensation Committee considered other performance results achieved by the Company, in 2006 and over a five-year period, that benefited shareholders. TELUS produced top-quartile financial growth results among global incumbent telecommunications peers and increasing share prices for the fourth year in a row. TELUS also generated strong cash flow that allowed the Company to return capital to investors in the form of three successive dividend increases of 33, 38 and 36 per cent and three successive programs to repurchase TELUS shares, as well as a significant early debt retirement. An investment in TELUS common shares, with a 121 per cent increase over the past five years, significantly outperformed an investment in a global index of telecom stocks.

2. Medium-term incentives

In 2006, the Compensation Committee continued with the ESU Plan. The number of ESUs granted for 2006 to each executive leadership team member was calculated based on the individual's annual incentive award and the share price performance of non-voting shares during 2006 as described previously. Each award was determined and approved by the Compensation Committee. The value of ESUs allocated in 2007 for 2006 performance was $53.41 per ESU and was calculated based on the weighted average trading price of the non-voting shares for the 15 trading days preceding December 31, 2006, which was higher than the price for the 15 trading days preceding January 1, 2006.

3. Long-term incentives

Overall, the Compensation Committee recommended and the Board approved long-term incentives that represented 50 per cent of total compensation for the executive team in 2006, with the result that total overall at-risk pay accounted for 75 per cent of total compensation for the executive team.

To provide a more appropriate mix of long-term incentives, the February 2007 long-term incentive compensation grant was split between share options and RSUs under the RSU Plan. This split represents an approximate allocation of one-half options and one-half RSUs to the executive leadership team (excluding the CEO) on a collective basis, based on an estimated after-tax equivalency between the value of the RSUs and the value of the options to be granted, using a Black-Scholes valuation. To strengthen retention, the options granted in February 2007 will cliff-vest in three years from the grant date and the RSUs will vest at or near the end of the second year after the year of allocation. The term of stock options granted in 2007 is seven years.

CEO compensation

The principles used for determining the compensation of the CEO, Darren Entwistle, were identical to those established for the other executives, other than as noted previously or in this section.

The CEO's base salary was approved in 2005 for increase effective January 1, 2006 where it still remained below the median of the selected comparator group.

Given his already significant ownership in TELUS shares, the Compensation Committee recommended and the Board approved an all-cash annual and medium-term variable pay award to the CEO for 2006 performance, and accordingly, no ESUs were awarded to him.

Based on the CEO's personal performance results, corporate and business unit performance results, the Board awarded to Mr. Entwistle an overall annual and medium-term variable pay award that totaled 1.15 times his base salary and a long-term incentive award of $3,800,000.

The overall annual and medium-term variable pay awards to the other named executives ranged from 0.96 to 1.03 of their base salaries, and their long-term incentive awards ranged from $700,000 to $825,000.

Share ownership guidelines

Share ownership guidelines were introduced for the executive leadership team members in 2002 to provide a further link between the interest of executives and shareholders, thereby demonstrating the ongoing alignment of executives' interests with the interests of shareholders.

Until 2006, the share ownership targets were three times annual base salary for the CEO and two times annual base salary for the executive vice-presidents.

In 2006, the Compensation Committee approved a change to the definition of share ownership to exclude RSUs and ESUs from the definition. The share ownership target is now determined solely on the basis of the number of Company shares beneficially owned directly or indirectly. Shares purchased by the executive using his or her own funds more precisely and demonstrably measures each executive's commitment to the Company through chosen investment in the Company.

As a result of this change in the definition of share ownership, the guidelines for executive vice-presidents have also been revised to reflect the exclusion of non-share equities. The revised guidelines must be met by year-end 2008 and they are outlined below:

Current share ownership guidelines
CEO	3x annual base salary
Executive Vice-Presidents	1x annual base salary

The Company prohibits executive leadership team members and certain senior management from engaging in short selling or trading in puts, calls or options in respect of TELUS securities.

Executive shareholdings summary table

The following table lists total TELUS shareholdings held by each named executive (as set out in the executive compensation summary table on page 32), dollar value of shareholdings and share ownership level (dollar value to base salary ratio), as at December 31, 2006 (see share ownership guidelines above).

Name	TELUS equity (common shares/ non-voting shares/ ESUs/RSUs) ⁽¹⁾	Dollar value of equity ($) ⁽²⁾	Dollar value of shareholdings ($) ⁽³⁾	Share ownership level as a multiple of base salary
Darren Entwistle	12,984/184,807/5,042/193,580	20,644,702	10,310,411	8.74
Robert McFarlane	-/113,329/5,620/30,950	7,820,039	5,896,507	11.83

- (1) Excludes any TELUS non-voting shares that may be acquired by an executive in 2007 in payment of ESUs that vested in 2006.
- (2) At the close of trading on December 31, 2006 the market price of common shares was $53.52 and the market price of the non-voting shares was $52.03.
- (3) Excludes all RSUs and ESUs.
- (4) John Watson joined the executive leadership team in 2005. His shareholding exceeded the ownership target under the former definition, and he has until year-end 2008 to meet the target under the new definition.

In December 2006, Mr. Entwistle announced publicly that he sold 167,500 TELUS shares to facilitate personal estate planning. Following the sale, Mr. Entwistle owned 197,791 TELUS shares which represented 8.74 times his annual base salary and far exceeded his share ownership target.

Conclusion

The Compensation Committee believes that the various components of compensation are appropriately balanced to provide direction and motivation for the executive leadership team to make a positive contribution to the Company's overall success, thereby enhancing the value of the Company for its shareholders.

In accordance with executive compensation reporting requirements of applicable securities regulations, the following table provides information concerning the total compensation paid during the last three fiscal years ending December 31, 2006 to the CEO and the Executive Vice-President and CFO of the Company, and the three other executive officers employed by the Company as at December 31, 2006 who had the highest individual aggregate annual salary and bonuses for 2006 (collectively with the CEO and CFO, the “named executives”). The figures shown for each of the three years represent those amounts paid by the Company to the named executives.

- (1) Represents variable “at-risk” component of cash compensation earned under the annual variable pay plan. Amounts are paid in first quarter of the following year.
- (2) Except as noted, the value of perquisites and other personal benefits received by the named executives is no greater than the lesser of $50,000 and 10 per cent of annual salary and bonus of the respective named executives.
- (3) Annual option grants under the TELUS Management Share Option Plan awarded to the named executives in relation to the 2006 financial year were approved by the Compensation Committee and the Board on February 13 and 14, 2007. The 2005 grants include options grants approved in November 2005 and made in either 2005 or 2006 with respect to the wireline wireless merger, and the recognition award in February 2006 to the CEO.
- (4) The aggregate number of ESUs/RSUs (including accrued dividend equivalents) held by the named executives at December 31, 2006, their value at the date of allocation (excluding accumulated dividend equivalents), their value at closing market price at December 31, 2006, and their vesting are as follows:

	Number of ESUs/RSUs (ESU Plan/RSU Plan)	Value at date of grant	Value at December 31, 2006	Vesting 2007/2008
Darren Entwistle	5,042/193,580	$ 7,613,312	$ 10,334,290	93,228/105,394

John Watson	4,563/34,320	1,575,348	2,023,124	13,841/25,099

Note that the figures in the above table exclude ESU/RSUs which vested on or before December 31, 2006 that were not paid out until 2007 and exclude ESUs/RSUs allocated in 2007. The details of the ESU and RSU plans are disclosed in the Report on Executive Compensation.

- (5) The annual ESU/RSU allocations in the Summary Compensation Table are made in February of the following year. Therefore, the annual grants shown for 2006 were made in February 2007. The 2005 allocations include RSU allocations with respect to the wireline-wireless merger that were approved in 2005 and made in either 2005 or 2006 (all numbers include accumulated dividend equivalents), and the CEO recognition award that was approved and granted in February 2006.
- (6) Includes $50,000 bonus paid to allow executive to repay Company loan in that amount, deemed interest on interest-free Company loan and bonus in an amount sufficient to cover the taxes on both the loan repayment bonus and the deemed interest. This loan was fully repaid in 2005.

Options granted for the most recently completed financial year

As noted previously, in order to provide a more appropriate mix of long-term and medium-term incentives, the February 2007 grant for 2006 performance was split between share options and RSUs. This split represents an approximate allocation of one-half options and one-half RSUs among the executive leadership team (other than the CEO) on a collective basis using a Black-Scholes valuation. In addition, in order to strengthen retention the options and RSUs granted in February 2007 will in most instances cliff-vest at or near the end of a three-year period.

In order to provide comprehensive and up-to-date information, the Company has set forth in the table below option grants made in the current year. Accordingly, the following option grants to the named executives were approved and made in February 2007 with respect to 2006 performance.

The following option grants to the named executives were made in February 2007 based on 2006 performance. This has the impact of reducing share reserves available for future grant by approximately one per cent.

(2) TELUS options are granted at the arithmetic average of the daily weighted average trading price on the TSX (excluding certain block trades and trades after a certain time in the day) for the five trading days before the grant date.

(3) Closing price on the date of grant.

TELUS Pension Plan

The TELUS Supplementary Retirement Arrangement (“SRA”) establishes an overall retirement income benefit, which provides supplemental pension benefits to be paid to a retired executive in addition to the pension income under the existing registered company pension plans.

Named executives, other than John Watson, participate in the Company’s contributory registered pension plans. The SRA for the participating named executives supplements these plans by providing a total benefit at retirement determined as two per cent of a person’s highest consecutive three years’ average pensionable remuneration times the total number of years of credited service to a maximum of 35. Pensionable remuneration is base salary increased by a fixed 50 per cent for annual variable compensation to the participating named executives other than the CEO, and by 60 per cent for the CEO.

The following table shows the total of the annual retirement benefits, payable from both the SRA and registered pension plans, assuming retirement at age 60 or over:

mandate and report of the human resources and compensation committee continued

The years of credited service as of December 31, 2006 for pension plan purposes for the participating named executives are as follows: Darren Entwistle, six years and ten months; Robert McFarlane, eight years and two months; Joe Natale, three years and ten months; and Joe Grech, eleven years and three months. Mr. Grech accrued an additional five years of pensionable service during his first five years of employment. Mr. McFarlane is accruing two years of pensionable service for each year from January 1, 2005 to January 1, 2010. Mr. Entwistle and Mr. Natale are each accruing two years of pensionable service for each year from September 1, 2006 to September 1, 2011.

The following estimated pension service costs, accrued pension obligations and annual pension benefits under the Company's pension plans are being disclosed by the Company on a voluntary basis.

Executive retirement income value disclosure ⁽¹⁾
Name	2007 service costs ($) ⁽²⁾	Accrued obligations at December 31, 2006 ($) ⁽³⁾	Annual pension benefits payable at age 60 ($) ⁽⁴⁾
Darren Entwistle	798,000	2,727,000	1,025,800

Joe Natale	315,000	604,000	405,600
Joe Grech	126,000	1,414,000	321,000

(1) Amounts shown include pension benefits under the Company's registered pension plan and SRA.

(2) Service cost is the value of the projected pension earned for pensionable service in 2007. The value has been determined using the same actuarial assumptions as those used to determine the year-end pension plan obligations disclosed in the notes to the 2006 consolidated financial statements. For Mr. Entwistle, Mr. McFarlane and Mr. Natale, the service cost is the cost in 2007 for two years of pensionable service credit.

(3) Accrued obligations are the actuarial value of projected obligations for service to December 31, 2006. The value has been determined using the same actuarial assumptions as those used to determine the year-end pension plan liabilities disclosed in the notes to the 2006 consolidated financial statements.

(4) Amounts in this column are based on 2007 compensation levels and assume accrued years of service to age 60 for each of the named executives.

Employment agreements

TELUS is a party to executive employment agreements for an indefinite term with each of the named executives. The agreements provide that if the employment of the executive were terminated at any time other than for just cause or by reason of death, disability or retirement ("without cause"), the executive will be paid a severance payment, receive continued benefit coverage and be credited with continued accrual of pensionable service as follows: for Darren Entwistle, Robert McFarlane and Joe Grech – severance equal to two times annual compensation and two years of benefit continuation and pension credit; for Joe Natale – severance equal to one and one half times annual compensation and eighteen months of benefit continuation and pension credit; and for John Watson – severance equal to one and one half times annual compensation and eighteen months of benefit continuation. Each agreement contains a prohibition on the improper disclosure or use of confidential information and a one-year non-competition restriction after termination.

The agreements with Messrs. Entwistle, McFarlane, Natale and Grech provide that they will be accruing two years of pensionable service under the SRA for each full year of employment, in the following time periods:

Named executive	Employment period
D. Entwistle	September 1, 2006 to September 1, 2011
R. McFarlane	January 1, 2005 to January 1, 2010
J. Natale	September 1, 2006 to September 1, 2011
J. Grech	November 1, 2000 to November 1, 2005

Under his agreement, Darren Entwistle received a $250,000 interest-free forgivable loan net of tax obligations at the commencement of his agreement, of which $50,000 was forgiven in each year from 2001 to 2005 inclusive. This loan was fully extinguished in 2005.

In 2006, the employment contracts of Mr. Entwistle and Mr. Natale were each amended to provide for a pension service credit enhancement, on the basis of one year for each additional year over the next five years. The additional service would not be counted for purposes of determining early retirement discounts to pension and would not be used for any other non-pension related items that might be dependent on service.

In 2006, with the approval of the Board based on the recommendation of the Compensation Committee, the employment contract of Mr. Entwistle was further amended to provide that upon a change of control as defined in the same manner as the Management Plan, all of the then unvested stock options, ESUs and RSUs issued to Mr. Entwistle will vest immediately. Change of control was defined to specifically exclude conversion of the Company into an income trust. In its deliberations, the Compensation Committee considered industry practices provided by the compensation consultant, and concluded that such an arrangement is within industry norm for CEOs and is appropriate.

Indebtedness of directors and officers

No director or officer of the Company or proposed nominee for election as a director of the Company, or any associate thereof, is or has been indebted to the Company or its subsidiaries since January 1, 2006. In compliance with the July 30, 2002 enactment of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, no new personal loans to directors and executive officers were made or arranged, and no pre-existing personal loans were renewed or modified, since July 30, 2002.

The Company from time to time has notional indebtedness outstanding for brief periods from non-executive team members with respect to the cashless exercise of their options.

Securities authorized for issuance under Equity Compensation Plans

The Company has a number of equity compensation plans, but the only continuing equity compensation plan of the Company under which equity shares may be issued from treasury on the exercise of options is the TELUS Management Share Option Plan (the "Management Plan"). As of December 31, 2006, the dilution as a result of total share option reserves was approximately 5.7% of all outstanding common and non-voting shares.

Options remain outstanding under the Directors Share Option and Compensation Plan (the "Directors Plan"). But as reported below, the Board discontinued the option program for directors in 2003 and no further options have been granted to directors since then. This plan now provides for the issuance of deferred share units (“DSUs”) to directors. In February 2006, the Board determined that all obligations to deliver non-voting shares to satisfy the payment of DSUs under this plan will be met through market purchase and not through issuance from treasury.

Options also remain outstanding under the TELUS Corporation Employee Stock Option Plan (the “Team TELUS Plan”). This plan was established to grant options to most employees of the Company and its subsidiaries. In 2004, this option program was completed and further option grants under this plan were discontinued.

In addition to the foregoing, there are options outstanding entitling holders to acquire shares of the Company under the BC TELECOM Share Option Plan (the plan that was in place prior to the merger of predecessor Alberta-based TELUS Corporation and BC TELECOM Inc. in 1999) and under the TELUS Share Option Plan for Former Clearnet Optionholders (the plan that was put in place for employees of Clearnet Communications Inc. (“Clearnet”) upon the acquisition of Clearnet by the Company in 2000). No further options are being issued under these plans.

The following table provides information as at December 31, 2006 with respect to shares of the Company authorized for issuance under equity compensation plans that permit issuance from treasury.

TELUS Management Share Option Plan

The Management Plan was established in 2005 as part of the separation of the original TELUS Share Option and Compensation Plan into the Directors Plan and the Management Plan. The purpose of the Management Plan is to strengthen retention of key management employees, to align their interests with those of shareholders and to provide incentive compensation based on the value of non-voting shares. As at March 9, 2007, there were options outstanding under the Management Plan to purchase 690,931 common shares and up to 7,822,184 non-voting shares representing 2.5 per cent of the issued and outstanding equity shares of the Company. Of these options outstanding, 333,339 options for common shares and up to 1,623,293 options for non-voting shares or 0.6 per cent of the total number of options outstanding under the plans were held by insiders (as that term is defined under applicable securities law).

Options are granted under the Management Plan to eligible employees as determined by the Compensation Committee. Eligible employees are generally senior managers or key management employees and include approximately 3,609 employees of the Company and its subsidiaries. The Compensation Committee approves the total number of options to be granted to executive management on the recommendation of the CEO as part of the Committee’s approval of executive compensation, while the Board approves the total number of options to be granted to the CEO on the recommendation of the Compensation Committee as part of the Board’s approval of CEO compensation. The CEO may determine the total number of options to be granted to non-executive management. The Management Plan provides that the number of non-voting shares to be optioned to any participant under the Management Plan, together with any other equity compensation plan for employees, cannot exceed five per cent of the outstanding equity shares. In addition, a majority of the options granted under the Management Plan cannot be granted to insiders and insiders as a group are not permitted to hold options under the Management Plan that, together with options under any other equity compensation plans of the Company, exceed 10 per cent of the Company's issued and outstanding shares.

Under the Management Plan, options may be issued with vesting provisions as determined upon granting, and if not determined, the plan provides that options cliff-vest on the third anniversary of the date of grant.

Until November 2006, the exercise price under the Management Plan was the weighted average trading price of the non-voting shares (or common shares for options granted prior to 2001) on the last business day before the grant date. Currently, the exercise price is the arithmetic average of the daily weighted average trading price on the TSX (excluding certain block trades and trades after a certain time in the day) for the five trading days before the grant date. The current formula is the same as the formula for determining the allocation price of RSUs. This change in the option exercise price was made in 2006 to better reflect market value (a five-day average is more likely to be reflective of market than the previous one-day formula) and to promote pricing consistency among different types of incentives (the new formula is the same as the RSU formula).

The expiry date for options granted under the Management Plan can be any time up to 10 years from the grant date. Currently, options are being granted with an expiry date of seven years from the grant date. Options cannot be transferred or assigned by a participant.

Options expire under the Management Plan on the earliest of (i) the day of voluntary termination of employment by a participant (other than termination on retirement or by reason of disability), unless otherwise determined by the Compensation Committee; (ii) 90 days after termination by the Company or a subsidiary of employment without just cause, unless otherwise determined by the Compensation Committee; (iii) the date of termination of employment of the participant for just cause; (iv) 12 months following the death of a participant for vested options and options that vest within that 12 months; or (v) the expiry date of the option.

For certain options outstanding on January 1, 2001, the Management Plan permits the participant to elect to receive in cash the difference between the market price of the common shares under option less the exercise price. The market price for this purpose is the average trading price on the TSX for the last business day before the determination of the price. The Company may override the election and require that the common shares be purchased.

The Management Plan also provides that at the time options are exercised, the Company may elect to have the options exchanged for a right of the optionholder to receive non-voting shares or common shares, as the case may be, in settlement for the options so exchanged. The number of non-voting or common shares to be issued to the optionholder will be the number obtained by i) multiplying the number of options exercised by ii) the number obtained when the difference between the current market price of the shares under option at the time of exercise and the exercise price is divided by the current market price of the applicable shares. The options so exchanged are cancelled, and the number of non-voting shares or common shares determined by the difference between the number of options exchanged and the number of non-voting shares or common shares issued in that exchange will be added back to the applicable reservation of shares under the Management Plan.

The Board, subject to any regulatory or required shareholder approval, has the power under the Management Plan to amend or terminate the Management Plan at any time, provided that it will not reduce the rights of a participant that have accrued before the amendment or termination. This power includes the right to amend the vesting of any option and the right to extend the expiry date of any option to a date that is not beyond the original expiry date. Shareholder approval is required for any amendment to the Management Plan that is considered material including any increase in the reservation of shares, any cashless exercise or stock settlement if the shares underlying the options are added back to the reservation, any change in the exercise price of outstanding options, and any financial assistance by the Company or increase in participation by insiders.

2006 amendments to Management Plan

Four amendments to the Management Plan were made in 2006 as outlined below. In accordance with the rules of the TSX and the amendment provisions of the Management Plan text noted above, shareholder approval was not required for these amendments.

Change of control

The Management Plan was amended to incorporate change of control provisions. "Change of control" is defined to be (i) a sale to or acquisition by persons not affiliated with the Company of assets of the Company and its subsidiaries having a value of more than 50 per cent of the fair market value of those assets on a consolidated basis; (ii) a formal take-over bid being made for voting securities of the Company; (iii) an acquisition by any persons acting jointly or in concert of 35 per cent or more of the voting securities of the Company (excluding acquisitions by a subsidiary, the Company or any underwriter); (iv) any reorganization, recapitalization, consolidation, amalgamation, arrangement, merger, transfer, sale, business combination or other similar transactions involving the Company, its subsidiaries or its shareholders, where record holders of the voting securities of the Company immediately before these transactions hold less than 50 per cent of the voting securities of the Company or of the continuing entity following the completion; or (v) any transactions that the Board determines to be a change of control.

However, subject to any other Board determination, a change of control specifically excludes the proposed income trust conversion announced in September 2006, as well as any transactions where the record holders of the voting securities of the Company immediately before the transactions continue to have substantially the same beneficial ownership in an entity that owns, directly or indirectly, all or substantially all of the assets of the Company and its subsidiaries immediately after the transactions. "Substantially all of the assets" is defined to mean assets having a value greater than 90 per cent of the fair market value of the assets of the Company and its subsidiaries on a consolidated basis.

Upon a change of control, the Board may take one or more of the following actions: (i) arrange for the options to be assumed by or similar options be substituted by the bidder or a continuing entity, subject to satisfying certain stated criteria; (ii) accelerate the vesting of the options; (iii) make a determination as to the market price for the purpose of further actions with respect to the options; (iv) arrange for cash or other compensation in exchange for a surrender of any options; or (v) make any other determinations as appropriate.

If the Board does not take any of the above actions, the following will occur by default: (i) in the event of a takeover bid, all unvested options will vest for the purpose of a participant exercising the options and depositing the shares received on exercise to the takeover bid, but any shares not taken up and paid for will be cancelled and the options will be reinstated as unvested options; (ii) in any other case, all unvested options will vest.

If the Board does not accelerate unvested options or replacement options upon a change of control as defined, then with regard to any participant whose employment is terminated without cause or who dies while employed within two years of the change of control, the unvested options issued to that participant before the change of control will immediately vest and be exercisable for 90 days following termination, and for 12 months following death.

Cash settlement feature

A cash settlement feature (the "Cash Settlement Feature") was approved to permit the Company to allow for cash settlement of designated options. In lieu of exercising designated options for shares, a participant may elect to surrender these options after vesting and receive, in cash, an amount equal to the difference between the market price and the exercise price. The market price for this purpose is the volume weighted average price of the shares under option on the TSX (excluding certain block trades and trades after a certain time in the afternoon), on the business day following the election by the participant. The surrendered options will be cancelled by the Company and the shares underlying these options will not be added back to the share reservation.

Definition of "Market Price"

The definition of market value of a share was amended from a weighted average price on a day to a weighted average price of the applicable share over a five-day period excluding certain specified trades and trades after a specified time, for the reasons outlined on page 39.

Option expiry upon termination of employment without cause

The Company intends for option holders whose employment is terminated by the Company without cause to have 90 days after their last day of work to exercise vested options. Previously, the Management Plan specified that options would expire 90 days after the member is given a notice of termination. The notice date is not necessarily the last day of work or the employment termination date. This provision in the Management Plan was amended in 2006 to clarify that the 90-day period starts from the date of termination of employment as opposed to the day of notice, to better ensure that team members who work during their notice period would not lose their vested options prematurely, while avoiding an unintended extension of the 90-day period by virtue of differences in severance arrangements.

Directors Share Option and Compensation Plan

As at March 9, 2007, options to purchase a total of 41,650 common shares and 33,000 non-voting shares or 0.02 per cent of the issued and outstanding equity shares of the Company were outstanding under the Directors Plan. These options have a 10-year term and an exercise price that is equal to the weighted average price of the Company's common or non-voting shares, as applicable on the trading day immediately preceding the date of grant. As previously noted, no options have been granted under this plan since 2003 and the share reservation under this plan is only sufficient to meet the exercise of the outstanding options. Options cannot be transferred or assigned by a participant other than by will or the laws of succession on devolution.

Under the terms of the Directors Plan, options expire on the earlier of (i) 12 months after the participant ceases to be a director due to death, and (ii) the expiry date of the option, whether or not the participant has previously ceased to be a director; provided that if the participant becomes a director, officer or employee of a competitor after he or she ceases to be a TELUS director, the options will immediately terminate. For options outstanding on January 1, 2002, the Directors Plan permits the participant to elect to receive in cash the difference between the market price of the common shares exercised and the exercise price. The common shares are not added back to the reservation if this election were selected. The Company may override the election and require that the common shares be issued from treasury in their entirety.

The Directors Plan also provides that a participant may elect to receive the annual retainer and meeting fees paid to that participant in DSUs, shares or cash. DSUs are credited to an account for a participant based on the weighted average trading price of non-voting shares (or common shares for DSUs held before January 2001) on the day the fees are paid. DSUs held for a participant are credited with dividends paid on the Company's shares, and when paid out, are paid to a participant at the then market price of the applicable shares, as determined under the plan. If a participant elects to be paid in shares, non-voting shares are acquired by the plan administrator in the open market for the participant. In February 2006, the ability of the Company to issue non-voting shares from treasury in that circumstance was cancelled.

The Directors Plan was amended in 2006 to add the Cash Settlement Feature. In accordance with the rules of the TSX and the amendment provisions of the Directors Plan text noted below, shareholder approval was not required for this amendment.

The Board of Directors of the Company, subject to any regulatory or required shareholder approval, has the power under the Directors Plan to amend or terminate the Directors Plan at any time, provided that the amendment will not reduce the rights of a participant that have accrued before the amendment or termination. This power includes the right to amend the vesting of any option and the right to extend the expiry date of any option to a date that is not beyond the original expiry date. Shareholder approval is required for any amendment to the Management Plan that is considered material, including any increase in the reservation of shares, any cashless exercise or stock settlement if the shares underlying the options are added back to the reservation, any change in the exercise price of outstanding options, and any financial assistance by the Company or increase in participation by insiders.

Team TELUS Plan

In 2001, the Company established the Team TELUS Plan, which provided for 100 options to be granted, from time to time, under the plan to all regular, part-time, casual and temporary employees of the Company and its subsidiaries, other than those who were eligible to receive grants under the Management Plan. In 2001, 11,040,000 non-voting shares representing 3.1 per cent of the Company's shares issued and outstanding were reserved for issuance under the plan. As at March 9, 2007, there were 1,915,800 non-voting shares, representing 0.6 per cent of the Company's issued and outstanding shares, to be issued upon the exercise of outstanding options under the Team TELUS Plan. The Company has discontinued granting options under this plan after the 2004 grants.

Under the terms of the Team TELUS Plan, all eligible employees received the same number of options. Options were granted under this plan in 2001, 2002 and 2003. Options granted under the plan have a maximum expiry date of ten years and an exercise price equal to the weighted average trading price of the Company's non-voting shares on the trading day immediately before the grant date. The options have all vested at this time. Options terminate on the earliest of (i) the day of any voluntary termination of employment by a participant, or the day a participant is terminated for just cause; (ii) three years after the date of normal retirement of a participant; (iii) 12 months after the date of death or disability of a participant; (iv) 90 days after termination of a participant's employment by the Company or a subsidiary, or after a subsidiary is sold by the Company; or (v) the expiry date of the options. Options cannot be transferred or assigned by a participant under the plan. A participant may not assign any option other than by will or the laws of succession and devolution.

The Team TELUS Plan was amended in 2006 to add the Cash Settlement Feature. In accordance with the rules of the TSX and the amendment provisions of the Team TELUS Plan text noted below, shareholder approval was not required for this amendment.

Currently, the Board of Directors of the Company, subject to any regulatory or required shareholder approval, has the power under the Team TELUS Plan to amend or terminate the Team TELUS Plan at any time, provided that it does not impair any option previously granted. Effective June 2007, in accordance with TSX rules, the Board may not amend the Team TELUS Plan without shareholder approval.

Other existing share equity plans

TELUS Share Option Plan for Former Clearnet Optionholders (the "TELUS/Clearnet Plan")

When TELUS acquired Clearnet on October 20, 2000 (the "Effective Date"), holders of options under the Clearnet Communications Inc. Option Plan (the "Clearnet Plan") were given the right to exchange their options under that plan for options under the TELUS/Clearnet Plan.

The exercise price of the options was determined by subtracting from (a) the market price of the non-voting shares of the Company on the Effective Date, (b) the amount obtained by dividing the difference between the market price of Clearnet common shares on the Effective Date and the exercise price of the options under the Clearnet Plan, by 1.636. This exercise price reflected the exchange ratio at which TELUS acquired the common shares of Clearnet. No further options are granted under the TELUS/Clearnet Plan. The options under this plan are not assignable except by the laws of succession and devolution.

As at March 9, 2007 options to purchase 50,531 non-voting shares or 0.02 per cent of the issued and outstanding shares of the Company were outstanding under the TELUS/Clearnet plan. The options under the TELUS/Clearnet Plan expire on the earliest of (i) six months after the date of voluntary termination of employment by a participant or the date of termination of the participant by the Company or a subsidiary without just cause; (ii) three years following the date of normal retirement of a participant, or disability of a participant, provided it is not beyond the original expiry date; (iii) the date of termination of employment of a participant for just cause; (iv) 12 months after the death of a participant; or (v) the original expiry date of the option as granted by Clearnet (which was 10 years from the date of grant).

The TELUS/Clearnet Plan was amended in 2006 to add the Cash Settlement Feature. In accordance with the rules of the TSX and the amendment provisions of the TELUS/Clearnet Plan text noted below, shareholder approval was not required for this amendment.

The Board, subject to any regulatory or required shareholder approval, has the power under the TELUS/Clearnet Plan to amend or terminate the TELUS/Clearnet Plan at any time, provided that it does not impair any option previously granted. Effective June 2007, in accordance with TSX rules, the Board may not amend the TELUS/Clearnet Plan without shareholder approval.

BC TELECOM Share Option Plan

At the time of the merger of BC TELECOM Inc. and predecessor Alberta-based TELUS Corporation in February 1999 (the "Merger"), the options then existing under the BC TELECOM Share Option Plan ("BC TELECOM Plan") and the TELUS Corporation Share Option Plan ("TSOP") were converted into options to purchase common shares and non-voting shares of the Company based on the exchange ratio for BC TELECOM shares and TELUS shares pursuant to the plan of arrangement. The exercise prices under the BC TELECOM Plan were determined based on the exchange ratio and the exercise prices of the granted options under the respective plans on the effective date of the Merger. No further options are issued under this plan. All outstanding options granted under the TSOP either expired or were exercised.

As at March 9, 2007, there were options to purchase 20,205 non-voting shares and 60,595 common shares outstanding under the BC TELECOM Plan, or 0.02 per cent of the issued and outstanding shares of the Company. These options expire at varying dates up to 2008. Under the BC TELECOM Plan, the participants hold share appreciation rights that entitle them to receive an amount in cash equal to the difference in the exercise price and the closing price of the applicable shares of the Company on the day prior to the date of exercise. To the extent participants exercise the share appreciation rights, the corresponding option is cancelled. Options and rights under the BC TELECOM Plan are exercisable on the earliest of (i) 12 months after (a) a participant retires, or (b) a participant ceases to be an officer or director of the Company, or (c) a participant's death; (ii) in all other cases other than as set out in (i), on the day a participant ceases to be an employee, unless otherwise determined by the Compensation Committee; and (iii) the expiry date of the options. All options are non-transferable.

The BC TELECOM Plan was amended in 2006 to add the Cash Settlement Feature. In accordance with the rules of the TSX and the amendment provisions of the BC TELECOM Plan text noted below, shareholder approval was not required for this amendment.

Currently, the Board may amend or terminate the plan provided that the amendment does not, without the consent of the optionee, alter or impair any options previously granted and the amendment is subject to any required regulatory approval. Effective June 2007, in accordance with TSX rules, the Board may not amend the BC TELECOM Plan without shareholder approval.

The Company also maintains insurance, which protects directors and officers of the Company against claims made, provided they acted in good faith on behalf of TELUS, and subject to policy restrictions. Such insurance currently provides for an annual aggregate limit of $135 million USD coverage with a $2.5 million USD deductible; where the Company is not able to indemnify the insured persons the deductible is nil. The approximate premium associated with the insurance protection of individual directors and officers was $1,300,000 for 2006.

appendix A: statement of TELUS' corporate governance practices

TELUS is committed to effective and best practices in corporate governance. In 2006, TELUS maintained its focus on good corporate governance and continued to seek out opportunities for improvement, while regulators continued to take measures that will impact TELUS, including:

- the announcement by the Canadian Securities Administrators (the "CSA") in March 2006 that it would not proceed with Multilateral Instrument 52-111 Reporting on Internal Control over Financial Reporting;
- the announcement by the CSA in March 2006 of proposed revisions to Multilateral Instrument 52-109 Certification of Disclosure in Issuers' Annual and Interim Filings to include additional provisions with respect to internal control over financial reporting;
- the announcement by British Columbia's Attorney-General in February 2006 that it would defer bringing the amended British Columbia Securities Act into force and the subsequent request for comments in June 2006 regarding the type of secondary market civil liability regime British Columbia should adopt;
- the release in June 2006 by the Ontario Securities Commission of proposed Policy 51-604 Defence for Misrepresentations in Forward-Looking Information; and
- the amendments to National Instrument 51-102 Continuous Disclosure Obligations which came into force in December 2006.

TELUS is in full compliance with Policy 58-201 Corporate Governance Guidelines ("Governance Guidelines"), National Instrument 58-101 Disclosure of Corporate Governance Practices ("Governance Disclosure Rule") and the Investor Confidence Rules issued by the CSA. TELUS is also in full compliance with section 303A of the New York Stock Exchange Governance Standards (the "NYSE Governance Rules") including certain elements that are not legally required of TELUS.

TELUS is committed to transparent and comprehensive disclosure of its corporate governance practices. For over a decade, the Company has disclosed its corporate governance practices, first in relation to the TSX governance guidelines adopted by the TSX in 1995, and now as required by the Governance Disclosure Rule, which was adopted by the TSX in 2005. In December 2006, the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants recognized TELUS for the second year in a row for excellence in corporate governance and reporting by presenting to the Company the Award of Excellence for Best Corporate Governance Disclosure across all industry sectors in Canada.

Consistent with TELUS' commitment to fulsome disclosure, TELUS regularly assesses emerging best practices and has provided voluntary additional disclosure on its corporate governance practices that often exceeds legal requirements. For 2006, that assessment included an evaluation of the new executive compensation disclosure rules adopted by the SEC in August 2006, and, to the extent not inconsistent with Canadian rules, adopting elements of the new rules even though they are not binding on TELUS. The disclosure contained below follows the Governance Disclosure Rule but includes voluntary disclosure not mandated by it.

disclosure of TELUS' practices

Board of Directors

Independent directors

Since 2000, the TELUS Board of Directors has adopted a policy requiring that at least a majority of its Board of Directors be "independent." In determining "independence," the Board of Directors has adopted a set of criteria that goes beyond applicable securities rules. The Board has chosen to voluntarily comply with all elements of the "independence" test pronounced by the New York Stock Exchange including those that are not binding on TELUS. Accordingly, the "independence" tests applied by TELUS comply with the Governance Disclosure Rule, the CSA's Investor Confidence Rules and the NYSE Governance Rules. These policies are reflected in the TELUS Board Policy Manual.

The Board applied this expanded test of independence to the relationship between each director and the Company based on information updated annually through a comprehensive questionnaire.

As one of Canada's largest telecommunications companies and the incumbent local exchange carrier in several provinces, the Company provides service to its directors and their family members, and to many organizations with whom the directors are associated. The Board has determined that the provision of services per se does not create a material relationship between the director and the Company. Rather, the Board examines a variety of factors including the magnitude of the service provided, the monetary and strategic value of those services to each party, the degree of dependence on such relationship by either party, and how easily a service may be replaced, in determining if any such relationship creates a material relationship. The Board considers similar factors in assessing the materiality of any relationship between the Company and any supplier or lender with whom a director is associated.

Applying the above tests and process, the Board is satisfied that, except for Darren Entwistle, there is no material relationship existing between any of the proposed directors and the Company, either directly or as a partner, shareholder or officer of an organization that has a material relationship with the Company. The Board has therefore determined that all of the proposed directors, other than Mr. Entwistle, are independent.

Additional disclosure on Board members, including their business experience and backgrounds, and the names of other reporting issuers or organizations on whose boards they serve, can be found in the Election of directors on page 6 of this information circular, the TELUS 2006 annual report – business review, and at telus.com/bios.

Non-independent directors

Mr. Entwistle, as President and CEO of TELUS, is the only director who is a member of management of the Company and the only director who is not an "independent" director pursuant to the Governance Disclosure Rules.

Interlocking boards

Brian MacNeill and Darren Entwistle both sit on the Board of the TD Bank Financial Group.

Meetings of independent directors

As a regular feature at regularly scheduled Board meetings, the Board meets without management other than the CEO and the Corporate Secretary, followed by an "in-camera" session without the CEO or any other member of management present. The Chair presides over these in-camera sessions of the Board. Pursuant to the TELUS Board Policy Manual, the Board is also required to hold at least one annual in-camera session without non-independent directors present. In 2006, the Board held eight such in-camera sessions.

Attendance records for each director can be found on page 10. Directors are expected to attend all Board and committee meetings.

Independent Chair of the Board

The Board has adopted a number of policies to better ensure the independence of the Board. The Chair of the Board is required to be independent. In addition, the positions of Chair and CEO must be separate. Brian Canfield, the current Chair of the Board, was CEO of BC TELECOM Inc., predecessor to TELUS, from October 1990 to July 1997. He also served as President and CEO of the Company for a brief period from September 1999 to July 10, 2000 while the Company searched for a new CEO. Mr. Canfield has passed the three-year "cooling-off period" required by the Governance Disclosure Rule and the NYSE Governance Rules for establishing his "independence" from management. The Board has determined that Mr. Canfield is an "independent" director under the Governance Disclosure Rule and the NYSE Governance Rules.

Board mandate

The TELUS Board Policy Manual provides guidelines to the Board and was developed to assist Board members in fulfilling their obligations, both individually and collectively, and to make very explicit the expectations on the Board, Board committees, individual directors, the Chair, the Committee Chairs, and the CEO. The terms of reference for the Board of Directors are contained in the Manual and also attached as Appendix "B" to this information circular. A copy of the TELUS Board Policy Manual in its entirety is available at telus.com/governance.

To help the Board fulfill its duties and responsibilities, the Board delegates certain powers, duties and responsibilities to committees to ensure full review of certain matters. The terms of references of the committees set out the mandates, duties and authority of the committees, and the scope of their authority. In addition, each committee uses an annual work plan to guide its deliberations during the course of the year. The committees report to the Board on their activities on a regular basis.

To further delineate the responsibilities of the Board, the Board has adopted a Delegations Policy under which the Board delegates certain decisions to management. This policy provides guidance to the Board and management on matters requiring Board approval including major capital expenditures, acquisitions, investments or divestitures.

The Board has also approved a Policy on Corporate Disclosure and Confidentiality of Information, a copy of which is available at telus.com/governance. The policy is reviewed annually with the assistance of the Chief Internal Auditor for continuous improvements. The policy sets out the Company's policies and practices on corporate disclosure and applies to all TELUS team members, including directors, officers and employees. The policy's objectives include i) disclosing information in a timely, consistent and appropriate manner; and ii) disseminating material information pursuant to all applicable legal requirements. Material changes to the policy, as approved by the Disclosure Committee, must be reported to the Audit Committee and approved by the Board.

Position descriptions

The Board has developed a description of the role and responsibilities the Chair of the Board, and brief position descriptions for the Chair of each Board committee, all of which are described in the TELUS Board Policy Manual. The duties of the Chair include leading the Board in its management and supervision of the business and affairs of the Company, its oversight of management and promoting effective relations with shareholders.

The Board has also developed terms of reference for the CEO, which are described in the TELUS Board Policy Manual. The Board annually approves the Company's goals and objectives for which the CEO is responsible for meeting. As well, his annual performance objectives relevant to compensation, which are reviewed and approved by the Compensation Committee, supplement his mandate. With input from the remaining directors as part of the process, the Compensation Committee evaluates the performance of the CEO against his annual objectives and reports its conclusions back to the Board. For further details, see Mandate and Report of the Human Resources and Compensation Committee on page 21.

Orientation and continuing education

The Corporate Governance Committee reviews, approves and reports to the Board on the directors' orientation program and plans for the ongoing development of existing Board members. Directors and management identify topics for continuing education through discussions at Board and committee meetings, annual evaluations and skills self-assessment surveys.

The Board's continuing education program evolved in 2006 by the addition of two innovations at Board meetings: first, discussions on technology, industry or specific business strategy led by different TELUS executive leadership team members were added as a recurring feature; second, a new "Ask the CEO" in-camera discussion with the CEO was introduced at every regular board meeting, structured to allow the CEO and the Board to engage in interactive discussions on key business strategy, operations and risks in addition to the regularly scheduled CEO in-camera session. In addition, educational topics are regularly presented at either meetings of the Board or the committees for review and discussion, relevant literatures are circulated, and the directors are canvassed each year for topics of interest. In 2006, the Board engaged in education sessions on: developments in the telecommunications industry, including the major players and impact on the Company; the impact of emerging technologies on the communications industry and TELUS; emerging best practices in corporate governance, including a review of US and Canadian practices on majority voting and mandatory retirement; updates on corporate governance regulations and privacy law; emerging issues in pension governance; and emerging best practices and changing regulations regarding executive compensation. Finally, in accordance with TELUS policy to fund director education, the Chair approved Company funding for a director's participation in the Directors Education Program at the Institute of Corporate Directors.

Ethical business conduct

TELUS has adopted an Ethics Policy, which applies to all TELUS team members, including directors, officers and employees of TELUS. Copies of the Ethics Policy are available at telus.com/governance. As part of the policy, TELUS created the TELUS EthicsLine, which provides the public and TELUS team members with a channel for anonymous and confidential questions or complaints on accounting, internal controls or ethical issues that are reported on a quarterly basis to the Audit Committee.

TELUS has also established an Ethics Office, which conducts investigations, provides advice on ethical dilemmas and establishes appropriate policies and guidelines on TELUS' expected standards of business conduct. The Ethics Office oversees ethics training, including an online interactive ethics course that is mandatory for all TELUS team members, and annually requires each director to review the Ethics Policy and affirm that he or she has done so.

The Audit Committee of the Board is required to review the Ethics Policy on an annual basis and recommend changes for approval to the Board as appropriate. The Audit Committee also receives quarterly reports from the Chief Internal Auditor on the results of any investigation of whistleblower, ethics and internal controls complaints. Waivers granted under the Policy must be pre-approved by the Board of Directors or their designate.

The Ethics Policy also provides guidelines on how to deal with conflicts of interest and requires disclosure of actual or potential conflicts by TELUS team members. Furthermore, under the Business Corporations Act (British Columbia) and the Company's Articles, any director or executive officer who holds any office or possesses any property, right or interest that could result in the creation of a duty or interest that materially conflicts with the individual's duty or interest as a director or executive officer of the Company, must promptly disclose the nature and extent of that conflict. A director who holds a disclosable interest in a transaction or contract into which the Company has entered or proposes to enter may not vote on any directors' resolution to approve that contract or transaction.

Nomination of directors

Upon the recommendation of the Corporate Governance Committee, the Board annually reviews the size and composition of the Board and the committees, and proposes nominees for election as directors, in accordance with the TELUS Board Policy Manual, to advance the objective of forming an effective-functioning Board that presents a diversity of views and business experience.

The Corporate Governance Committee, which is comprised entirely of "independent" directors, is also responsible for assessing and making recommendations regarding Board effectiveness and establishing a process for identifying, recruiting, nominating and appointing new directors. This process has been outlined in the TELUS Board Policy Manual. Furthermore, during the evaluation process, the Chair of the Board aims to identify for the Corporate Governance Committee impending vacancies on the TELUS Board as far in advance as possible to allow sufficient time for identification and recruitment of new directors.

When recruiting new directors, the Corporate Governance Committee considers, among other things, the strategic imperatives for the Company, the skills and competencies of the current directors, the existence of any gaps in Board skills as a whole and the attributes and experience new directors should have in order to best enhance the Company's business plan and strategies. Key components of this review are the Board and director evaluations and skills self-assessments and the Committee's consultations with the Chair of the Board and the CEO. The Corporate Governance Committee formulates a list of the most desirable mix of attributes and experience, including track record of business success and relevant industry experience, and may retain an external search firm to assist in the identification of candidates meeting the requisite criteria. Prospective candidates meet with the Chair and the President and CEO and any other directors the Corporate Governance Committee deems appropriate, and are informed of meeting schedules and the commitment the Company expects of its directors. The Corporate Governance Committee also assesses the financial literacy and independence of prospective candidates prior to making its recommendation to the Board.

The terms of reference for the Corporate Governance Committee are set out at telus.com/governance. For a summary of the responsibilities, powers and operation of the Corporate Governance Committee see Mandate and report of the Corporate Governance Committee on page 14.

Compensation

Officers' compensation

The Board has delegated to the Compensation Committee, which is comprised entirely of "independent" directors, the responsibility for reviewing and recommending to the Board compensation of the CEO, and approving the compensation of the remaining executive management.

The Compensation Committee is a proponent of pay-for-performance by linking executive compensation directly to the achievement of business objectives and has adopted a market-based approach to executive compensation to ensure that the Company provides competitive compensation.

In addition to setting executive compensation, the Compensation Committee reviews the Company's overall organizational structure for executive management, and recommends to the Board for approval the appointment of executive leadership team members. The Compensation Committee reviews and recommends to the Board for approval annually the CEO's succession plan. In addition, the Compensation Committee reviews, approves and reports to the Board on an annual basis, or more frequently as required, succession plans for the remaining executive management including specific personal development plans and career planning for potential successors. For more information on the Compensation Committee's responsibilities, including the process by which it determines compensation of TELUS' executive leadership team, see the Mandate and report of the Human Resources and Compensation Committee on page 21.

Compensation consultant

The Compensation Committee engages the services of an external compensation consultant, Hewitt Associates, to assist the Committee in its review of executive compensation practices, executive compensation design, market trends and regulatory considerations. For further information regarding the compensation consultant, including its mandate, see the Mandate and report of the Human Resources and Compensation Committee on page 21.

Directors' compensation

The Corporate Governance Committee reviews and recommends to the Board the compensation and benefits of Board members. In this regard, the Committee considers factors such as market data, time commitments, and responsibilities of the directors. In 2003, TELUS stopped granting options to directors. In 2005, the Corporate Governance Committee discussed the Company's philosophy on directors' compensation, determining to conduct a fulsome review of directors' compensation in 2006. The Corporate Governance Committee conducted the comprehensive review in 2006, with the assistance of Hewitt Associates, employing a market study of compensation arrangements of a peer group of public companies in similar industries and public companies of comparable size and complexity in different industries. For details on the review and the 2006 and 2007 compensation payable to directors, see Director compensation on page 10.

The Company aligns the Board's interests with the interests of shareholders by maintaining equity ownership thresholds to be attained by directors, and by choosing equity payment in the form of deferred share units in lieu of options. In February 2006, the Corporate Governance Committee recommended for approval to the Board an increase in the Chair's equity ownership threshold from $400,000 to $500,000, to be acquired within five years of joining the Board. For all other non-management directors, the minimum equity ownership was also increased from $200,000 to $300,000 to be acquired within five years of joining the Board. In addition, the Company requires that half of the annual board retainer be directed to the purchase of TELUS shares or paid in the form of deferred share units, until the target equity ownership threshold is reached. As of March 9, 2007, all of the proposed non-management directors (including the Chair) have exceeded their minimum equity ownership levels. All non-management directors' shareholdings are disclosed under the Election of directors on page 6.

Other Board committees

In addition to the Audit, Corporate Governance and Human Resources and Compensation Committees, the Board has established a Pension Committee. The Pension Committee is responsible for overseeing most of the pension plans pertaining to the Company and its subsidiaries. Its specific duties include responsibility in respect of the actuarial soundness of the Pension Plans (as defined in the Pension Committee's terms of reference), the administrative aspects of the Pension Plans, investment policy, the performance of the investment portfolios and compliance with government legislation.

All committees have the authority to retain external advisors at TELUS' expense in connection with their responsibilities, and both the Corporate Governance Committee and Compensation Committee have done so in 2006 as described in their reports. Detailed descriptions of each committee's mandate are found in this information circular on pages 14, 16, 18 and 21, while the full text of each committee's terms of reference can be found at telus.com/governance.

Assessments

The Corporate Governance Committee, in conjunction with the Chair, carries out an annual assessment of the Board and its members that is comprised of three components: a Board effectiveness survey, a peer evaluation and a skills self-assessment. In the first, directors are asked to rate the effectiveness of the Board, each committee, the Chair of the Board and committee chairs. The survey also asks directors to rate Board and committee processes and the Board's relationship with management and provide suggestions for improvement in any and all areas surveyed. The director peer evaluation survey, initiated in 2002, provides each director with feedback from his or her peers on his or her performance. It also provides directors with suggestions for improving their effectiveness as directors and contributions to the Board. Finally, the directors complete an annual skills self-assessment, designed to assist in determining the strengths and gaps in Board skills as a whole and to enable a comprehensive and meaningful assessment of skill requirements for nominating future directors and succession planning. This self-assessment also assists the Corporate Governance Committee in determining topics for continuing education and assessment of each director's financial literacy.

The Board effectiveness assessment and peer evaluation are conducted confidentially and, in accordance with the TELUS Board Policy Manual, the Chair conducts separate interviews with each director to discuss the results of the director's evaluations and self-assessment. These interviews provide an opportunity for frank and constructive discussion of any and all issues, with a view to enhancing the personal contributions of each individual. The Chair reports the collated results of the interviews and the three assessments to the Board. Similarly, the Chair of the Corporate Governance Committee reviews the assessments of the Chair of the Board, discusses them with the Chair and reports the collated results to the Board.
