

Where to Celebrate Rosé Day in L.A.

12:39 PM PDT 6/8/2018 by Ingrid Schmidt

Hollywood-endorsed deals and destinations, including the new rosé bar at Shutters on the Beach, and where to get rosé sorbet and sundaes.

Once Memorial Day hits, every day is Rosé day in our book. But if you want to make it official, June 9 really is National Rosé Day, in honor of the dry pink wine best enjoyed alfresco.

Courtesy of Shutter's On The Beach
Shutter's On The Beach 25th Anniversary Rosé

Another of our favorite wine perches on the Pacific is Shutters on the Beach, where we recently spied Kathy Bates, Leslie Mann and Judd Apatow. Just in time for Rosé day, Shutter's has set up an intimate rosé and champagne bar on the patio that seats eight to 10 people, open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays and 2 to 8 p.m. on weekends. On the menu is its brand-new private-label Shutter's 25th Anniversary Rosé ($16 a glass, $78 a bottle) created in partnership with Champagne Pommery, as well as Pommery Brut Rosé ($28 a glass, $140 a bottle). Bites include a $75 seafood platter and small $10 plates such as osetra caviar with creme fraiche, kumamoto oysters, ahi tartare with avocado ponzu and (the perfect rosé accompaniment) three long-stem strawberries. Shutter's on the Beach, 1 Pico Blvd., Santa Monica