Studio Manager (Part-Time)

About People Activation

People activation is a Manchester-based agency that exists to change the way people think, behave and perform in their roles. We work with global clients across a wide range of industries from tech to pharmaceutical.

People Activa+ion

No two days in the studio are the same. In collaboration with incredibly diverse and talented teams the work we produce ranges from campaigns, experiential, events, internal comms, and films.

We are a small but vibrant team made up of producers, creatives, and designers. We work together closely on all projects and are looking for people to match our energy and collaborative nature. People who are not afraid to challenge the norm, who can identify great ideas and insights in others, and who care about the work they produce.

About You
