Dear [REDACTED]

Hope this message finds you well.

We have made good progress on our project and would like to update you and your colleagues about our preliminary findings. The calculations we have done include a new estimate of the fiscal costs of gambling-related harm and some calculations of the spending profile of problem gamblers, as well as evidence of the benefits of low-risk gambling to the economy.

As discussed when we met last time, it would be great to have a meeting to talk through the result of our research. When would you and your colleagues be free?

[REDACTED]

Looking forward to hearing from you.

With best wishes,

[REDACTED]

Thanks [REDACTED] – I've just sent a calendar invite, unfortunately I can now only offer 30 mins on that date but I think we should go ahead anyway and if we don't cover everything we can arrange a follow-up session.

That's absolutely fine [REDACTED].

16th Feb 2-3pm would work well.

Best wishes,

I'm very sorry [REDACTED] but that slot isn't available now either!

We can still offer the following dates/times though if either suit you?

16 Feb- 1-2pm or 2-3pm
17 Feb – 1-2pm

Regards

Hi [REDACTED]

No problem at all. Could we say 1-2pm on 9th February?

Best wishes,

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] but it looks as though that time slot is no longer available for one of the attendees from our side. Were there any other dates that worked for you? If not I'll have another look at diaries.

Regards

Hi [REDACTED]

Here are some possible dates for a meeting to discuss your project:

- 2 Feb – 1-2pm
- 8 Feb – 2-3pm
- 9 Feb – 1-3pm
- 16 Feb- 1-2pm or 2-3pm
- 17 Feb – 1-2pm

Please let me know if any of these are convenient and I'll send a diary appointment.

Thanks in advance.

Dear [REDACTED],

Thank you very much.

Please find attached copy of our update. I would be delighted to have a meeting with you and your colleagues to discuss this and how we are taking the research forward.

Would you like to suggest a few dates and times? I will ask the team of NIESR researchers to join us if that helps.

With thanks and best wishes,

Dear ██████████,

Many thanks for your message and my apologies for not responding earlier. I was on leave until Monday and wanted to share with you a written update on our research, which I will send to you tomorrow (Friday).

To your question about the payment from ██████████, I can confirm that we received it last week. Thank you for checking.

We have made a lot of progress since we started the work in November. Besides the team of researchers at NIESR, we have established an Advisory Board that has already met and provided immensely helpful suggestions. The Board brings together both leading economists and health experts, and its membership is as follows:

[REDACTED]

We have also held very productive conversations with the ONS and others about data sets, which we will analyse using our in-house modelling capacity to generate a more accurate and authoritative measurement of the economic and social benefits of gambling, with a clear focus on gambling-related harm.

Best wishes,

Hi [REDACTED]

Sorry to chase as I'm sure you're very busy but I just wanted to flag my previous email asking for a brief update on the project. Please let me know how you would prefer to do this (ie via email or in a meeting).

Also, I know that the payment from [REDACTED] has been made, but are you able to confirm if the smaller payment from [REDACTED] has also been received please? I was assured that they would be actioning it in the New Year.

Thanks in advance and I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Subject: Update on gambling project

Hi [REDACTED], I hope you are well and managed to have a nice break over Christmas and New Year?

I just thought I'd drop you a quick email to see how things are progressing with your project to develop a new way of measuring the socio-economic effects of gambling? I know colleagues in our research and statistics team (I think you met one of them before, [REDACTED]?) are keen to hear how it's going so if you're able to provide a short update we'd really appreciate it. Alternatively, if it would be easier to have a quick meeting to share early insights please let me know and I'll happily arrange something.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Thanks
