Client Profile

Alegis Construction is a rapidly growing national general contractor. They serve both commercial and residential markets and are built on customer and vendor relationships.

Challenges

Vendors were requesting electronic payments—but with offices in different states, Alegis needed a secure way for general managers to approve payments remotely, and a sustainable way for its AP team to deal with vendor communications.

Solution

Viewpoint ePayments powered by Corpay Payment Automation streamlined Alegis Construction’s manual check-payment process and enabled remote payment approvals, giving more control and visibility to general managers at each individual office.

Results

Alegis outsourced vendor payment questions to Corpay Payment Automation, saving its AP team over 260 hours a year handling vendor calls and emails. Plus, remote “Processing payments was much easier than what I expected. Within 8 weeks, including some in-house training with our AP person, we were up and running. All we had to do was send Corpay Payment Automation a vendor file—they took care of the rest.”
