

Jennifer Reimert

Senior Vice President, Workhuman Consulting Practice

Vision

With more than 20 years of HR industry experience, I am passionate about guiding organizations and senior leaders on how to celebrate, connect, and coach their people and teams helping people discover their full potential to do the best work of their lives. I'm honored to lead a team of subject matter experts that specialize in the power of human connection. We start with the outcome in mind, focusing on the business results our customers want to achieve. We optimize the employee experience through an ROI driven, end-to-end strategic partnership driving culture change, retention, engagement, safety and more. I am a strong believer in Workhuman's mission to make work more human, to help people feel seen and valued, and my aim is to help lift those around me as we deliver on that mission. Together, we are better.

Biography

As Senior Vice President, Workhuman Consulting Practice, Jennifer and her team of industry experts help people and leading organizations around the world have a more inclusive, positive employee experience at their workplace. An HR leader with more than 25 years of industry experience, Jennifer provides customers with critical techniques and tools to position recognition as a strategic driver of positive business outcomes and employee engagement.

Jennifer also serves as an Advisory Board member for PairUp, a platform that connects colleagues to the right onboarding buddies, mentors, and learning partners, empowering them with critical skills and connections no matter where they are in their company journey. Prior to Workhuman, Jennifer served as the VP of Total Rewards for Symantec Corporation leading executive compensation, HR Operations, and Rewards. She holds a degree in Sociology-Organizational Studies from University of California, Davis.

I have loved learning about corporate culture since the beginning of my career. At Workhuman, I'm lucky to get to help companies evolve, refine, and amplify their cultural goals throughout their organizations every day.
