

IS YOUR TEEN EXPERIMENTING?

Teen experimentation might seem harmless, but even "just trying" something can be dangerous—especially with fentanyl-laced fake pills and other drugs out there.

TALK EARLY, TALK OFTEN

Open up about the dangers of fake pills and other street drugs. Even experimenting once can be a deadly risk with fentanyl in the mix.

SUPPORT HEALTHY COPING

Encourage your teen to handle stress in positive ways—whether it's sports, music, or time with friends. These outlets help them steer clear of risky choices.

CHECK IN REGULARLY

Trust your instincts. If your teen seems off, talk to them. Being there can make all the difference.
