SUSHI

We serve pickled ginger, wasabi and soya sauce with all our sushi dishes.

SASHIMI
Sashimi consists of thinly sliced pieces of fish fillet and, as with nigiri, is named according to the type of fish.

NIGIRI
Nigiri – Sushi consists of an oval ball of rice topped with fish or another ingredient. A dab of wasabi paste ensures that the fish does not slide off the rice. Traditionally, the fish side of the nigiri is dipped in soya sauce, not the rice.

MAKI
„Maki" means 'roll' and is a classic type of sushi: small rolls of rice with a filling, wrapped in a sheet of nori. Traditionally, the nori is rolled on the outside.

INSIDE-OUT
The inside-out roll, also known as a California roll or ura-maki, consists of fish and vegetables wrapped in a sheet of nori, with the rice on the outside. The rice is often seasoned with gomashio, sesame seeds or fish roe.
