I had to pull a few strings to get my hands on this recipe... I agreed that the recipe creator could ask The Herald for a few favors. Although, I'm starting to regret that now that I think about the power of this particularly high profile Grandma... 🤔 *Disclaimer: apparently this recipe has been altered slightly, as our source said the true recipe would NEVER be revealed to the public...* What do you think? Anyone willing to test it out?

Just. ✨Look. ✨At. ✨These. ✨ Raven Windsor has revealed the design concept for her very first pair of commissioned shoes. Her muse seems pretty obvious... from the name, to the little clusters of diamonds on the satin. She added that the shoes were embroidered with the word 'Celestial' on the inner sole when manufactured. This design seems pretty amazing to me already, but apparently the 'customer' ( I wonder who •• ) that requested these didn't agree. Raven was sent back to the drawing board to add MORE flare and MORE diamond detailing.

After reporting on the Windsor men's poker night a while ago, we have gained some new intel about a club exclusive to the Windsor girls...

It seems all of the Windsor wives have a shared interest in romance books, and have set up a book club to discuss their thoughts.

Dion and Faye Windsor recently renewed their wedding vows (how sweet), and specified that all guests should dress in a specific shade of blue.
