Who collects the information

Each Ocado Group Company is the 'data controller' in each respective jurisdiction and where applicable, gathers, shares and uses certain information about you in line with this recruitment Privacy Notice. A data controller is the entity which determines the purposes for which and the manner in which your personal information is processed.

About the personal information we collect and process

The table set out in Part A of the Schedule below summarises the personal information we collect and hold up to and including the shortlisting stage of the recruitment process, how and why we do so, how we use it and with whom it may be shared.

The table in Part B of the Schedule below summarises the additional personal information we collect and hold before making a final decision to recruit (i.e. before making an offer of employment unconditional), how and why we do so, how we use it and with whom it may be shared.

We also use cookies and similar technologies in relation to our online recruitment activities and you should refer to our Cookie Policy for further information which is available on our website, <https://careers.ocadogroup.com/>.

Where information may be held

Personal information may be held at our offices and those of our group companies, and third party agencies, service providers, representatives and agents. Personal information may be transferred internationally to countries in the EU, the UK, the USA, Canada and other countries around the world, including countries that do not have data protection and privacy laws equivalent to those in your local country. We have measures in place to seek to ensure that there is appropriate security for information we transfer or store outside the UK and the European Economic Area (EEA). In addition, if one of our UK or EEA-based group companies collects your personal information, they will use one or more of the following safeguards if they transfer your personal information to an organisation outside the UK and the EEA:

- the organisation is based in a country which ensures a level of data protection which is equivalent to EEA or UK standards, as this has been determined by a European Commission decision and/or UK adequacy regulations;
- the organisation is bound by European Commission-approved standard contractual clauses, which offer appropriate data protection safeguards, or equivalent standard clauses approved in the UK; or
- a derogation applies in accordance with data protection laws (for example, you have provided your explicit consent, or the transfer of the data is necessary in order for Ocado to enter into a contract with you).

Automated decision-making

We do not use your personal information to make automated decisions about you which have a legal or similarly significant effect on you.

If you fail to provide personal information

If you fail to provide information when requested, where this information is necessary for us to consider your application (such as evidence of qualifications or work history), we will not be able to process your application successfully. For example, if we require references for this role and you fail to provide us with relevant details, we will not be able to take your application further. However, when we rely on your consent to collect your personal information and you select not to provide such information, this will not affect your application with us in any way. If we rely on your consent or if any information we request during your application process is optional, we will let you know at that point.

How long we keep your information

We will normally retain your personal information for a period of six months after we have communicated to you our decision about whether to appoint you to the role, unless we are required to hold this for longer or shorter in your country (e.g. in Spain, we will hold onto your personal information for one year). We retain your personal information for that period so that we can show, in the event of a legal claim, that we have not discriminated against candidates on prohibited grounds and that we have conducted the recruitment exercise in a fair and transparent way. After this period, we will securely destroy your personal information in accordance with our applicable data retention policy, please contact privacy@ocado.com for further information.

If we wish to retain your personal information on file, on the basis that a further opportunity may arise in future and we may wish to consider you for that, we will write to you separately, seeking your consent to retain your personal information for a fixed period, usually two years, on that basis.

Your rights in connection with personal information

Under certain circumstances, by law you have certain rights in relation to your information depending on where you are applying:

UK & EEA Candidates

If you are applying for a role with one of our companies in the UK or the EEA, you have the following rights:

- Request access to your personal information (commonly known as a “data subject access request”). This enables you to receive a confirmation of whether we hold your personal information and if so, to also receive a copy of that personal information and certain information about how we use it.
- Request correction of the personal information that we hold about you. This enables you to have any incomplete or inaccurate information we hold about you corrected.
- Request erasure of your personal information. This enables you to ask us to delete or remove personal information where there is no good reason for us continuing to process it. You also have the right to ask us to delete or remove your personal information where you have exercised your right to object to processing (see below).

V.10 November 2022 Recruitment Privacy Notice - Bulgaria, Spain, United Kingdom Page 4 of 12

Please note that this is not an absolute right and that we will be able to retain certain information where we have a legitimate legal ground to do so.

- Object to processing of your personal information where we are relying on our legitimate interests (or those of a third party) and there is something about your particular situation which makes you want to object to processing on this ground.
- Request the restriction of processing of your personal information. This enables you to ask us to suspend the processing of personal information about you, for example if you want us to establish its accuracy or the reason for processing it.

- Request that we provide certain details of your personal information in a “portable” format (e.g. in a pdf or .csv file) and that we transfer this to another party.
- Withdraw your consent for processing of your personal information (where we rely on your consent) at any time. However, if you withdraw your consent, this will not affect the lawfulness of any processing of your personal information carried out prior to the withdrawal of your consent.
- Complain to a supervisory authority. You have the right to make a complaint at any time to your local supervisory authority for data protection issues (see the section below entitled ‘How to complain’).

Please note these rights may be limited, for example if fulfilling your request would reveal personal data about another person or if you ask us to delete information which we are required by law to keep or have compelling legitimate interests in keeping. We will inform you of the relevant exemptions upon which we rely when responding to any request you make.

If you want to exercise any of your data protection rights, please contact the DPO in writing. We may need to request specific information from you to help us confirm your identity and ensure your right to access the information (or to exercise any of your other rights). This is an appropriate security measure to ensure that personal information is not disclosed to any person who has no right to receive it.

Sharing your personal information with third parties

Your personal information will primarily be accessed by our employees who are involved in your recruitment process, our HR, IT, finance and facilities departments, to the extent it is necessary for them to fulfil their tasks in relation to your application. We also share personal information with other Ocado group companies, when necessary in relation to the application process and with third parties as we describe below:

- a) To process your application, to enable appropriate checks and aptitude tests to be carried out, and to facilitate and undertake recruitment interviews on our behalf. For example, we work with Experian to help us carry out criminal record checks (only where this is legally permitted), recruitment and applicant tracking system providers, and the Driving and Vehicle Licensing Authority (DVLA) to conduct driving licence checks. We may also contact your referees to confirm your work history. We also use third-party service providers, such as IT system and technology application providers, to process and store your personal information;
- b) In line with our Privacy & Cookie Policy (which is available on our website, <https://careers.ocadogroup.com/>), we engage third-party service providers to help us monitor website performance, utilisation of features and services, traffic and demographic trends, and browser versions, to improve our website and services and tailor them to your interests;

- c) We share information with our business advisors, such as legal advisors or business/recruitment consultants, to the extent it is necessary for them to provide us with their services;

- d) We may share information with regulatory and government authorities and/or law enforcement agencies if required by law or if necessary for the legal protection of our legitimate interests in compliance with applicable laws;
- e) In the event that our business is sold or integrated with another business, your details may be disclosed to our advisers and any prospective purchaser's adviser and passed to the new owners of the business;
- f) We may share information for the purposes of company reporting and analysis.

When we engage third-party service providers, we require that they take appropriate security measures to protect your personal information in line with our policies. We do not allow our third-party service providers to use your personal information for their own purposes. We only permit them to process your personal information for specified purposes and in accordance with our instructions.

How to complain

We hope that our Data Protection Officer can resolve any query or concern you raise about our use of your information.

However, for further information about your rights and how to make a formal complaint, in the first instance, please contact the Information Commissioner in the UK (as this is generally Ocado's designated national data protection authority) at <https://ico.org.uk/concerns/> or telephone: (+44) 0303 123 1113.
