About cookies

Cookies may store information of a user's visit of the websites of Rhinoceros Operations Limited.

However, cookies do not serve to identify a particular user on the websites of Rhinoceros Operations Limited.

The use of cookies serves to make the use of Rhinoceros Operations Limited's offers more pleasant for the visitor and allows Rhinoceros Operations Limited to tailor the content of its websites to the particular customers' needs and preferences.

Types of cookies

Rhinoceros Operations Limited uses different types of cookies on its websites:

Rhinoceros Operations Limited uses so-called session cookies to recognise that a user has already visited individual pages on the websites. These cookies are automatically deleted after leaving the websites.

In addition, in order to improve usability, Rhinoceros Operations Limited also uses temporary cookies that are stored on the user's device for a specified period of time. When visiting the websites of Rhinoceros Operations Limited again, it will automatically recognise that the particular user has already been with Rhinoceros Operations Limited and what settings have been made, so that it is not necessary to re-enter them.

Furthermore, Rhinoceros Operations Limited uses cookies to statistically record the use of its websites and to evaluate it for the purpose of optimizing the offered services. These cookies allow to automatically recognise that a particular user has already been with Rhinoceros Operations Limited when visiting the websites again. These cookies are automatically deleted after a defined time.

Also, Rhinoceros Operations Limited allows third party cookies on its websites. These cookies are provided by third party companies placing content and/or running advertisement on the websites of Rhinoceros Operations Limited and survey the user's behaviour regarding the placed content and/or running advertisements.
