why do this

THE NEW OLD WAY

For tens of thousands of years when humans said “medicine” they referred to agents which not only heal body and mind but also evolve us and grow people up, maturing humans so our lives could interconnect harmoniously with others and our environs.

These “shamanic” plant medicines are now reemerging into the mainstream in a massive surge as humanity recognizes their healing power and ability to engender lasting change.

The Cannabis boom is an example of where this is headed. Yet Cannabis is merely the beginning, the ‘weed’, the pioneer species leading the way. Psilocybin mushrooms, Ayahuasca, Iboga and many others are all starting to make their presence felt and attracting passionate followers and communities of practice and exploration.

The risks in this emergence and popularization is dilution, corruption, decay, colonisation, centralization, control and capture. Middlemen and ‘authorities’ can excessively appropriate the value generated while leaving dedicated servants, discoverers and long time practitioners with scraps.

The evolving ecosystem needs rewarding of integrity, fair access to capital, to markets and positive compassionate feedback loops incentivizing collaboration and decentralization.

at the core

ELYSEOS

A wonderful meeting between one unregulated sphere so ancient it is forgotten by the mainstream and another unregulated sphere just birthing and completely nascent.

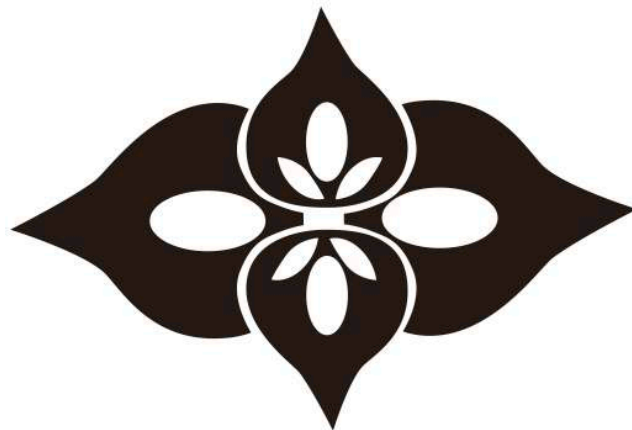

Decentralized ledgers and cryptocurrency, bypass the legacy system, whose top down hierarchical control structures tend to be resistant and inimical to what shamanic medicines represent.

These two universes share in being fundamentally distributed, robust, private and by their nature not amenable to capture and control. They often escape. Indeed in their own ways they both teach us to take deep responsibility for our agency rather than handing it off to a third party,. "Control your set & setting", "Not your keys, not your coins".

The shamanic medicines and the traditions around their use offer access to a very ancient wisdom, and a deep settled sense of place,, beingness and lineage. While the light speed world of cryptocurrency brings an electric aliveness and boundless reach and transmission. The one matures our impeccability the other facilitates transparency via the power of immutable ledgers.

Energizing and grounding - wings and roots uniting.

WISDOM DISTRIBUTION

The curanderos, ngangas,, sangomas and shamans,. The long time go-betweens risking their freedom moving medicine around the world. The “OG” tireless online information educators and sharers. The psychonaut explorers laying down pathways for others via experimenting with their own biochemistry.

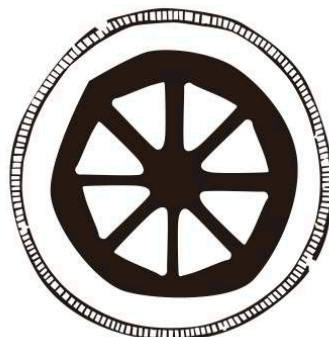

Almost a third of all our tokens will go to these giants whose shoulders we stand upon. Thokosa! We hope to bring as many of them into the ecosystems as possible not only through sharing the prosperity generated by Elyseos but also by making the opportunity's inherent in what Elyseos is available to them. Bokayé!

of all ELYS minted will be distributed to the wisdom holders and communities who have served the sacraments

To be successful our distribution process needs to be combined with education, access to technology/tools (Space-X's Starlink is soon to provide fast internet access to even the most remote places globally) , and excellent UX.

Enabling and including the traditional holders is a 2-way flow as they will also be able to contribute their wisdom and mana to ensuring our evolution is as impeccable as possible.

ELYS TOKEN

The abstract concept of money is such a potent egregore it has often been the primary ingresses of Wetiko among humans.

“Wetiko” is an Algonquin word for a cannibalistic spirit that is driven by greed, excess, and selfish consumption. It deludes its host into cannibalizing the life-force of others. Wetiko short-circuits the individual’s ability to see itself as an enmeshed and interdependent part of a balanced environment and raises the self-serving ego to supremacy. It is this false separation of self from nature that makes this cannibalism, rather than simple murder. It allows - indeed commands - the infected entity to consume far more than it needs in a blind, murderous daze of self-aggrandizement. (definition by Alnoor Ladha, & Martin Kirk)

Transforming and Alchemising Wetiko is possibly our most important task in our realm at this time.

WINGS & ROOTS

LAUNCHPAD Matching projects with backers, offering decentralized pre-vetting of projects, ensuring backers are fairly compensated.

INCUBATION & ACCELERATION A decentralized pool of mentors, indie consultant and advisors (similar to the Yak Collective) who are rewarded for guidance and support of those looking to launch.

COMPONENT HUB Plug and play pieces that many of the companies will need. This reuse benefits the whole ecosystem and reduces deployment time. For example ultrasonic alkaloid extraction technology is revolutionary and yet almost unknown. Component providers will be rewarded for sharing their IP thus encouraging collaboration rather than secrecy.

CROWDSALE Crowdsales provides pre-revenue for products in the same way launches do for entire projects. Very useful for market testing, refining the product pitch and funding scalable production.

MEDICINE BASKET

Working with sacramental medicines is not like taking pharmaceutical drugs with a one-size-fits-all 'prescription'. The traditional term "allies" is most accurate. Source, extraction, plant species, dosage, timing, set and setting all need to be refined artfully and individually.

MB is the "sorcerer's assistant" this app keeps all the notes of one's evolving apprenticeship in one place while enabling cross referencing and sharing with others.

It will also link to your ELYS wallet, your history of trades in the Muti Market and current studies at Thou Art.

The application is also a way to introduce and onboard people to the Elyseos ecosystem as many might simply begin using it to track their microdosing investigations and then gradually discover and enable its other features.

THOKOSA BOKAYÉ

Trust meets trustless combining the strengths of both paradigms. Trustless systems of checks, balances and rewards combined with trusted individuals who have skin in the game helping translate across the border between the physical and cryptographic spheres.

Thokosa Bokayé is a non hierarchical global network of 'feet in the soil' local agents who earn ELYS for facilitating the Elyseos ecosystem:

-  Onboarding new participants
-  Trading ELYS for local fiat
-  Adjudicating Muti Market disputes
-  Verification of organic/fair trade practices of muti-market vendors (similar to PGS system)
-  Independent feedback on Wings & Roots projects
-  identification of Wisdom holders for rewards, support and integration.

Integrity of agents is encouraged through timed release of rewards, having them stake ELYS for more responsible roles and via reward multipliers for long-term positive participation.

THOU ART

Thou Art facilitates the finding and sharing wisdom and education in the sacramental medicine space. A training ground with tools for both practitioners and explorers.

SELF-DEVELOPMENT

is a booming industry and being paired with a substance that you consume grounds and connects the virtual very viscerally to our physical world. There is a huge untapped market for education in this realm.

Microdosing courses, facilitator training, health treatments.

ONLINE COURSES

Educators in the space use the current full array of online teaching tool from 1-1 video, to group cohort classes, to fully hands off downloadable lessons. We use APIs to integrate ELYS with popular platforms while introducing decentralized alternatives whenever possible.

STUDY LOANS

Many teachers in the space educate for low remuneration. Elyseos can bridge the gap for those with the calling to serve yet needing to fund. Through backed loans, staking or pre-selling sessions via NFT tokens redeemable once graduated.
