

How to Read Your Balance of Account

1. Balance brought forward: The total amount in your account since your last payment, before any commission is taken, and including uncleared sales.

2. Total sales: The total of all your sales within the selected date range (shown here as 1 month), before commissions and charges, and including uncleared sales.

2a. Use this tool to set the date range. You can select whether you want to see your balance over one month or for the entire time your account has been open.

3. Commission/charges: The amount of commission and charges deducted from your total sales.

4. Total payments to you: The total amount you have been paid within the selected date range.

5. Balance carried forward: The total amount you have made within the selected date range, including both uncleared and cleared sales and after commissions and charges.

6. Cleared balance: This is what you actually have in your account.

Once your cleared balance reaches over $75 you will receive payment in the following payrun

Why $75?

We pick up all the fees that are charged when we pay you, but some contributors also pick up fees when they get paid, depending on their banking situation. The $75 threshold is in place to make sure payment runs are financially practical for both us and you.

What's the difference between cleared and uncleared funds?

Cleared means we've been paid by the customer.

We show you sales as they happen, so you can also see sales we're waiting to be paid for (uncleared).

Depending on the type of customer, sales can take between 45 days up to 4 months to clear.

We pay our contributors on the first *w*orking day of each month

You can go to your balance of account to see if a fund transfer has been initiated.

This does not mean you *w*ill be paid on the date it *w*as initiated, but *w*ithin 9 *w*orking days from initiation.
