Join the Little Sisters of Hoboken (well, what's left of them, that is) for a hysterically haphazard variety show to raise emergency funds for the convent. After a bad batch of Sister Julia - Child of God's vichyssoise killed off fifty-two of the nuns, the survivors emptied the coffers to bury the deceased but ran out of cash before the last few bodies could be laid to rest (don't worry - they're in the kitchen freezer). Will their prayers be answered before the health department discovers their secret?

Wednesday, February 27th, Happy Hour at The Observatory

Thursday, February 28th, White Bird Dance Series presents Hervé Koubi

Pickup at 6:30pm - Cost: $20 due by Friday, February 22nd

Hervé Koubi returns with 13 male street dancers from Algeria and Morocco to perform Koubi's newest work, "The Barbarian Nights" or "The First Dawns of the World". With their virile sensuality and breathtaking energy, the dancers evoke the humanity of the early "barbarians" of the Mediterranean basin against a musical background of Wagner, Mozart, and Fauré mixed with traditional Algerian melodies.
