CLIMATE ACTION: COP28 AND BEYOND

As the world convenes for COP28 in Dubai, the urgency for continued and enhanced climate action echoes across nations. The decisions and commitments made here will shape the climate agenda for the coming years.

The escalating pace of global warming, unprecedented levels of carbon dioxide and methane, and the increasing incidences of devastating weather events highlight the perilous path we tread. The looming threats of rising ocean levels, uncontrollable wildfires, and catastrophic storms amplify the call for urgent and sustained climate action.

What are your hopes for COP28?

What frustrates you the most about the current global response to climate action?

If you could speak to all world leaders at COP28, what would be your message?

How effective are COP conferences? Could they be done differently?

Please ensure students would be available for all rounds before applying.
