

Kiwok and New York University Abu Dhabi (NYUAD) starts a Collaboration

Kiwok and NYUAD have started a development collaboration with the objectives to broaden the Kiwok ECG monitoring offering with a new effective blood pressure monitoring solution for the global market and to adapt our combined solutions to local UAE market conditions.

The project will engage the Kiwok development organisation with partners and the Research Center for Translational Medical Devices (CENTMED) at NYUAD. Kiwok CEO Klas Nyström and CTO Anders Björilin will lead the Swedish team and Associate Professor Sohmyung Ha and Research Scientist Dr Vega Pradana Rachim the team at NYUAD. The two parties will invite other regional medical research organisations to join the now established collaboration.

One of the first steps in the collaboration has now been initiated by Kiwok by sending an ECG monitoring solution to Abu Dhabi for testing at NYUAD research lab. This delivery of test equipment is planned to be followed by deliveries of more equipment in the end of summer or early autumn.

The matchmaking that led to the two parties started negotiations was executed by Malak Sekkat and Emma Hamre at Business Sweden Dubai office.

“We see a solution which combines multi-channel ECG with a cuffless BP monitor as an innovative and effective contribution to the global healthcare market says Klas Nyström Kiwok CEO”.

“The Kiwok ECG solution is with its advanced ECG monitor and possibilities for real-time communication an interesting component for the CENTMED research activities and for the Middle East market says Professor Sohmyung Ha”.

Kiwok Nordic AB (publ) in short

Kiwok, founded in 2003, is a Swedish medical technology company. Together with academia, we develop the next generation of solutions for trend monitoring of patients' vital parameters. BodyKom, which at launch was the first mobile connected health solution according to Gartner, is a global healthcare service for continuous remote monitoring of patients' health development over a longer period of time. BodyKom leads to earlier detection and diagnosis and ensures follow-up and recovery. Kiwok's solutions provide sustainable care and person-centered care processes.
