Swedish Tax Court Case Schoeller Allibert Group B.V.

Hoofddorp, the Netherlands, 16 June 2017,

On 16 June 2017, Schoeller Allibert lost its long running tax case in Sweden before the Administrative Court of Appeal. The case goes back to a specific acquisition structure used in 2005 in Sweden which at the time was approved by the Swedish authorities. As a result, the company will have to pay the issued reassessments for the tax years 2007-2013, resulting in an approximate cash tax outflow including penalties and interest of SEK 129.3M (€13.5M). Schoeller Allibert will consider whether it wants to take further legal action.
