

This Week's Story:

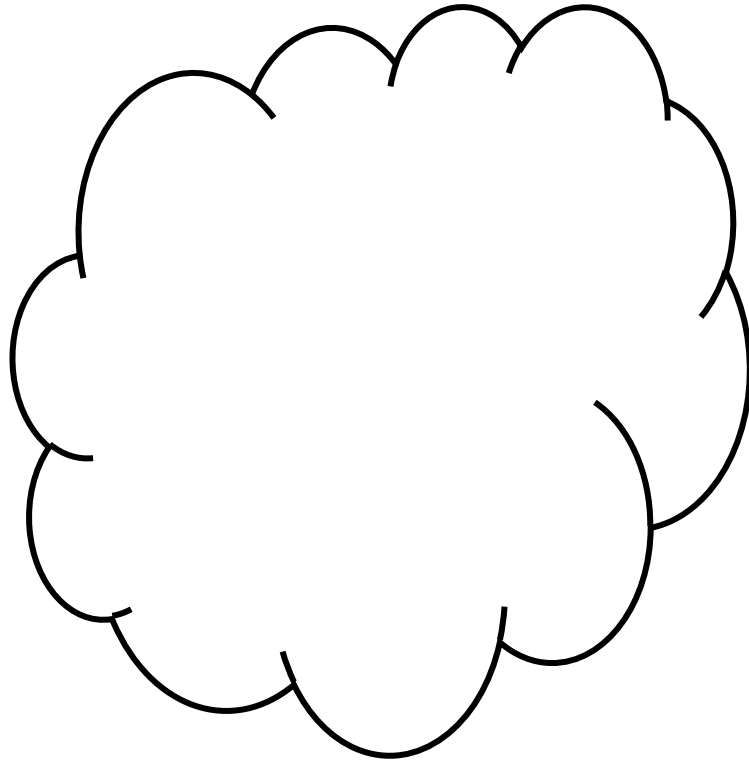

The Red Sea

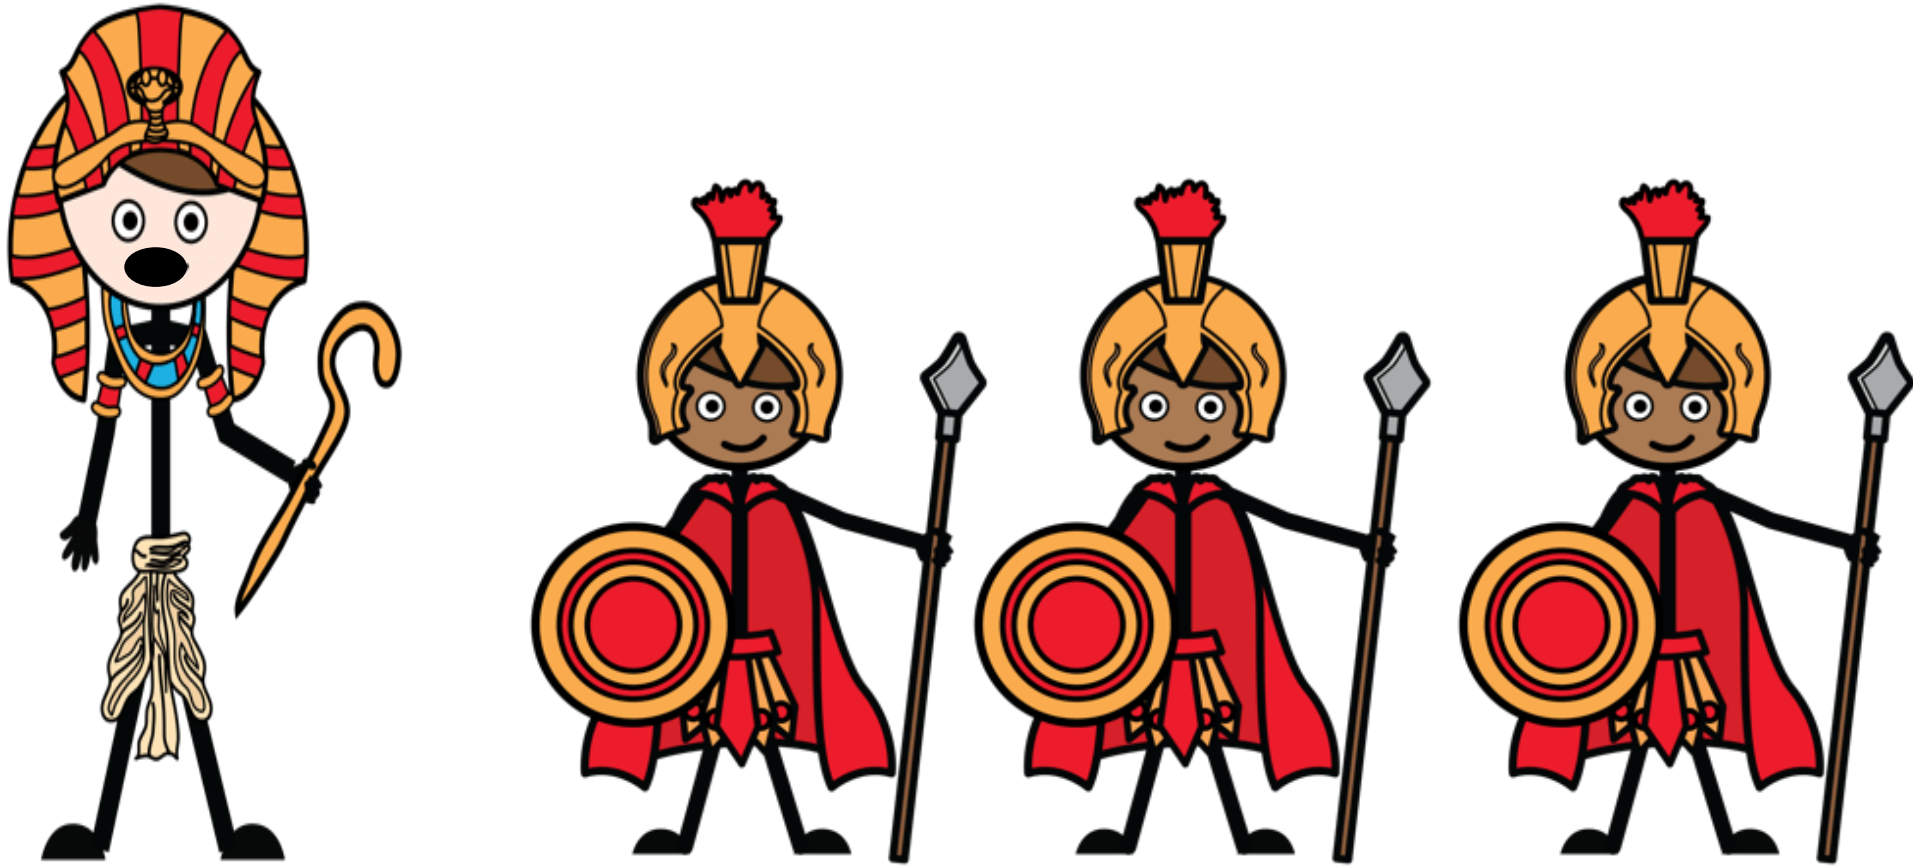

Teaching Truth:
God protects His children

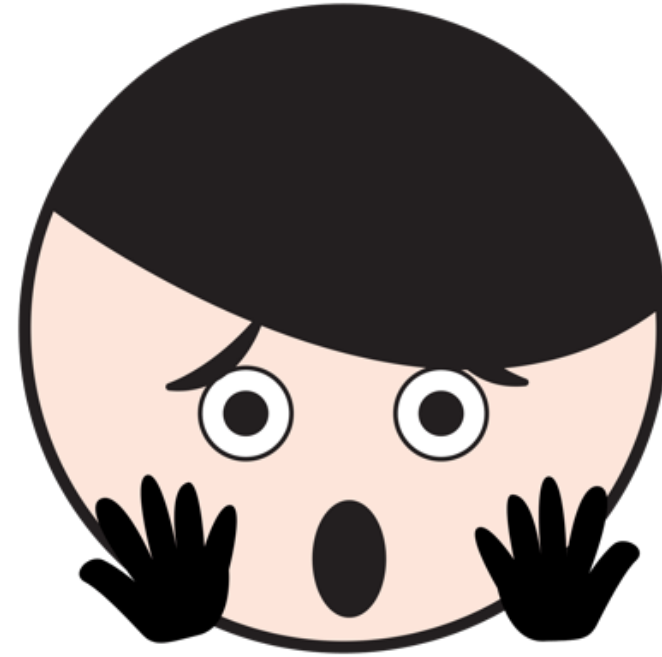

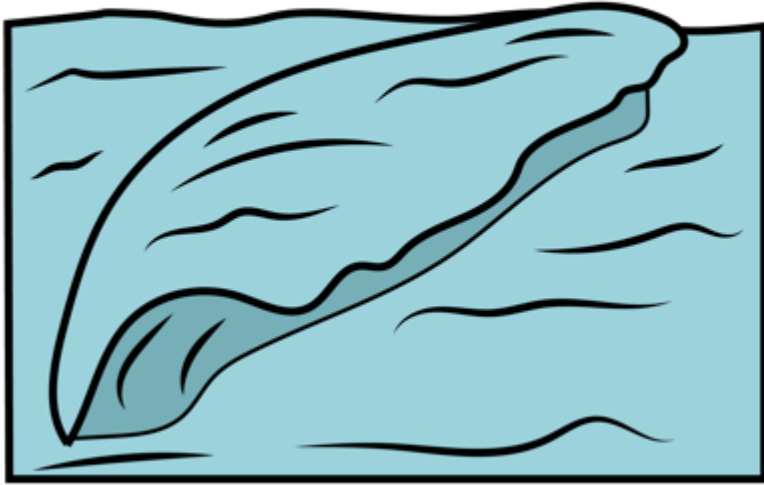

God's people were free from slavery. God was leading them from Egypt to their new home, a land filled with good things.

God led His people with a cloud during the day and a pillar of fire at night. God was protecting His children.

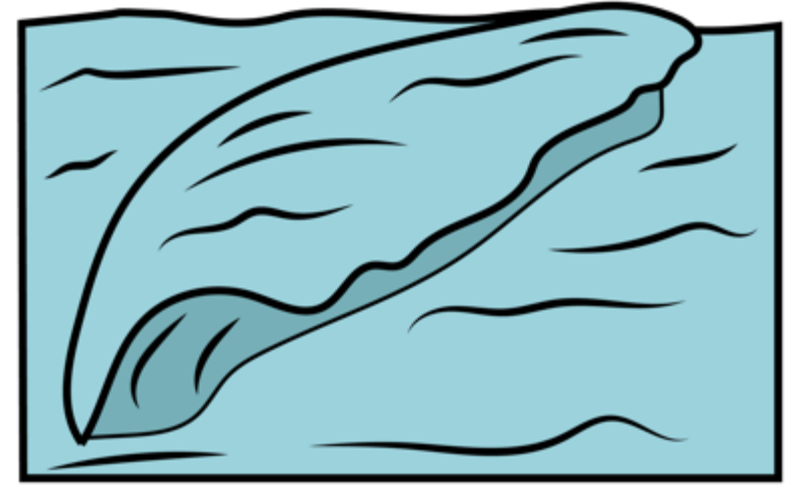

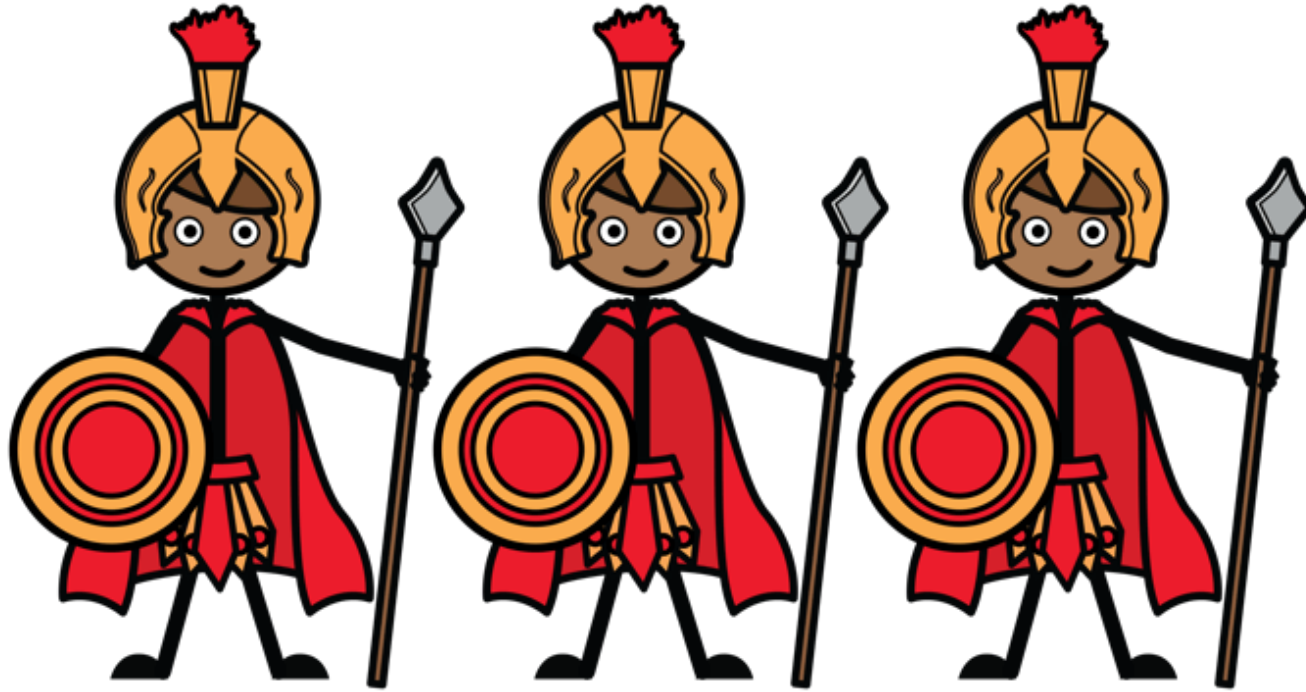

Pharaoh, the king of Egypt, changed his mind. He did not want God's people to be free, so he sent his army to chase them.

God's people were chased to the edge of a great sea.
They were scared. How would they get across?

God sent a strong wind to blow back the waters of the sea.
God's people walked across on dry ground.
God protected His children!

Pharaoh's army tried to follow, but God closed the waters of the sea over them. They were gone.

After God saved them, His people sang a song to praise Him.

God protects His children.
