Code of Conduct & Ethical Standards

Our Purpose

We help our clients secure a better financial future for the Albertans
they serve.

Message from the Chair & Chief Executive Officer

At AIMCo, our reputation as a business will be driven by two primary components: delivering on our commitments to clients, and doing business the right way. One without the other will result in failure.

Working the right way certainly means following all the rules, and there are plenty to follow in our industry. But much more importantly, the right way requires that all of us understand and behave within a broad ethical mindset. Such a mindset can guide our behaviour beyond merely following regulations and rules.

We have devised a Code of Conduct and Ethical Standards (the “Code”) that describes the ethical values we want every employee to embrace, and the related conduct that is absolutely expected from all of us, all of the time.

Our guiding principles — AIMCo’s Purpose and Core Values — are the foundation upon which we developed our Code. The principles define our culture, our strategy and how we make decisions each and every day.

The Core Values found in the Code ought to direct us in how we conduct all aspects of AIMCo’s business and guide how we deal with each other, our clients and everyone else we encounter along the way.

AIMCo’s Core Values are:

- Excellence: Dedicated to providing a superior client experience in every facet of our business.
- Transparency: Do what you say and say what you do to ensure visibility for clients regarding how their money is managed.
- Humility: Listen more — to clients, stakeholders, and others — give praise and credit to others, whenever appropriate.
- Integrity: Act in an ethical manner...do what is right, not expedient.
- Collaboration: One Company...One Team.

Please read the Code carefully and be guided by it in every aspect of your day-to-day work. If you have questions about any element of the Code, please consult your manager, the Chief Compliance Officer or your Human Resources Business Partner.

1.0 About this Code of Conduct

1.1 APPLICATION AND SCOPE

This Code applies to you if you are affiliated with AIMCo as a director, officer, contractor, intern, secondee, or employee including temporary or permanent, or full or part-time positions. For ease of reference, all those who commit to abide by the Code are referred to as “employees” in this Code unless otherwise noted.

The requirements of the Code and relevant policies apply for the duration of your affiliation with AIMCo including during personal, short- and long-term disability absences, as well as approved parental leaves.

Consultants, contractors and seconded individuals are also expected to adhere to the principles and values set out in the Code when performing services for, or on behalf of, AIMCo. Full commitment to the Code and the underlying compliance requirements may be required by the Compliance department.

WAIVERS

Waivers of the Code and related compliance requirements will be granted only in very exceptional circumstances. The Governance Committee of the Board of Directors must approve waivers for the Chief Executive Officer, division leaders and directors of AIMCo. The Chief Executive Officer or Chief Compliance Officer may grant waivers for other officers, employees, consultants or other associates of AIMCo.

OTHER AIMCo POLICIES

At the end of each section in this Code is a list of related AIMCo policies with additional information and compliance requirements. Each individual who commits to abide by the Code also commits to abide by all the relevant policies referenced in this Code.

All AIMCo employees are also expected to abide by the CFA Institute Code of Ethics and Standards of Professional Conduct:

cfainstitute.org/ethics/codes

1.2 ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Upon commencing employment or engagement with AIMCo, you must confirm your understanding of the Code and agree to comply with the Code's principles and AIMCo's policies. The mandatory orientation and initial certifications must be completed within 10 days of the start date.

Annually, you will be asked to confirm past compliance and acknowledge the ongoing obligation to comply with the Code. Completing the annual acknowledgement along with other periodic certifications and disclosures required under this Code and AIMCo policies is a condition of employment.

1.3 FAILING TO COMPLY

Unethical or illegal conduct puts AIMCo, and in some cases its clients, employees and stakeholders, at risk. As a result, compliance with the Code is mandatory.

Employees and officers who contravene the spirit or the letter of the Code will be subject to disciplinary measures appropriate to the seriousness of the situation. The disciplinary measures may include, but are not limited to:

- Verbal warning
- A written warning placed in the employee's record;
- The breach being reflected in the employee's individual performance evaluation;
- Suspension;
- Dismissal; and
- Depending on the nature of the case, referral of the matter to law enforcement or regulatory authorities, or civil penalties.
- Further disciplinary actions for breaches related to personal trading may involve the revocation or temporary suspension of personal trading privileges, along with the requirement to surrender any profits or benefits acquired.

Asking a third party to contravene a rule, and failure to co-operate with an investigation, constitutes non-compliance with the Code.

DIRECTORS

Failure of a director to comply with the Code will be dealt with in accordance with the policies and procedures of AIMCo's Board of Directors.

1.4 GETTING ADVICE

It is critical that all of us who represent AIMCo use good judgment and common sense. Since we cannot anticipate every situation that will arise, it is important that we have a way to approach questions and concerns.

Always ask first, act later. If you are unsure of what to do in any situation, seek guidance before you act.

The Chief Compliance Officer is the key point of contact regarding the Code. However, you can also speak to your manager, division leader, a member of the People & Culture department or Legal Services department if you have questions.

2.0 Our Responsibilities

2.1 DIRECTORS, OFFICERS AND EMPLOYEES

As a director, officer, employee or other individual who commits to this Code, you are responsible for:

- Reading the Code and, each year, reaffirming that you have and will continue to comply with the Code;
- Asking questions if you are unclear about your responsibilities or the appropriateness of a particular action or behaviour;
- Complying with the Code, and any other AIMCo policies that apply to your job, at all times; and
- Reporting any actual or potential breach of the Code as soon as you become aware of it, as described in our Confidential Reporting Policy.

We expect our directors, officers and employees to promote compliance with the Code and act according to the principle that returns never take precedence over compliance with the Code.

2.2 DIVISION LEADERS AND MANAGERS

If you are a division leader or manager, you are responsible for:

- Being aware of the Code, AIMCo policies and regulatory requirements pertinent to your area of responsibility;
- Making sure that these requirements are communicated to your employees;
- Managing your employees with the objective of ensuring that these requirements are met and related processes and procedures are followed;
- Responding to questions from the employees who report to you (with assistance, if required); and
- Ensuring that any actual or potential breach of the Code that is reported to you is dealt with and/or escalated as required.

2.3 CHIEF COMPLIANCE OFFICER

The Chief Compliance Officer is responsible for:

- Applying this Code in accordance with the parameters decided by the Governance Committee or Audit Committee;
- Organizing training and disseminating the Code to directors, officers, employees or other individuals who commit to this Code;
- Implementing monitoring activities to assess compliance with the Code;
- Where breaches of the Code are identified, considering remedial action and making appropriate recommendations to the Chief Executive Officer, Chief People, Culture & Engagement Officer and other division leaders;
- Retaining all disclosures and attestations that must be provided pursuant to this Code, and taking the necessary measures to protect the confidentiality of the information provided;
- Providing interpretations of this Code as well as information and advice on its application and on ethical dilemmas;
- Recommending updates or policies on ethical issues; and
- Reporting on compliance with the Code to AIMCo's Audit Committee.

2.4 GOVERNANCE COMMITTEE

The Governance Committee is responsible for:

- Formulating rules of ethics including this Code, and authorizing exceptions to their application;
- Receiving reports on the implementation and effectiveness of this Code; and
- Reviewing this Code annually and recommending approval to the Board of Directors.

2.5 AUDIT COMMITTEE

The Audit Committee is responsible for:

- Receiving reports from management and making recommendations in respect of breaches or suspected breaches of this Code; and
- Through the Chair of the Audit Committee, receiving confidential reports and being the primary point of contact for investigations by management conducted in accordance with this Code.

3.0 Our Commitment to Acting Ethically

3.1 KEY PRINCIPLES

At AIMCo, we will:

Conduct our business in accordance with the highest standards of ethics and in accordance with all applicable laws and regulations;

Have an unwavering commitment to honesty and integrity in all of our actions; and

.....

Always perform our duties honestly, in good faith, and in the best interests of AIMCo, exercising the care, diligence and skill that would be expected of a reasonably prudent person in similar circumstances.

3.2 DEALING WITH ETHICAL ISSUES

Most ethical problems can be avoided by exercising common sense.

The following statements are warning signs that you are on ethical thin ice:

- “Well, maybe just this once. . .”
- “No one will ever know.”
- “It doesn’t matter how it gets done as long as it gets done.”
- “Better to ask for forgiveness than ask for permission.”
- “No one will get hurt.”
- “What’s in it for me?”
- “We didn’t have this conversation.”

When confronted with a situation which raises a concern, ask yourself:

- Are my actions legal?
- Would my actions align with AIMCo’s Core Values?
- How would it look in the newspaper?
- What would our clients and stakeholders think?
- Would I think that others were acting unethically if they acted this way?
- How would I feel if my family, friends and neighbours knew what I was doing?
- What would I tell my child to do?
- How will I feel about myself afterwards?
- Will I sleep soundly tonight?

Not every indicator of an ethical dilemma or situation can be listed here.

When faced with an ethical issue, we must use our best judgment — considering our Core Values — and/or seek advice using the resources noted earlier in this Code.

We will not take unfair advantage of anyone through manipulation, concealment, abuse of confidential business or personal information, misrepresentation of material facts, or any other unethical business practice.

Achieving the highest standard of ethical behaviour means that we will not engage, directly or indirectly, in bribery, kick-backs, payoffs or other fraudulent or corrupt business practices. Successfully preventing fraud and other illegal behavior at AIMCo requires an ongoing commitment from all of us.

This includes actively detecting and reporting suspected fraud, whether committed by an employee, contractor, supplier, client, government representative, or other third parties. If you suspect fraud has been or is about to be committed, you have a responsibility to report it.

3.3 OUR COMMITMENT IN ACTION

We will show our commitment to our Core Values and the principles outlined in the Code by demonstrating the following standards of behavior:

1. We Exercise Diligence and Fairness in the Execution of our Duties
2. We Maintain the Accuracy and Integrity of Our Records
3. We Promote a Respectful Workplace
4. We Foster a Safe and Responsible Work Environment
5. We Support Our Community
6. We Use Company Assets for the Benefit of AIMCo
7. We Utilize Our Information Systems & Technology Appropriately
8. We Secure Our Personal and Confidential Information
9. We Employ Discretion When Commenting Publicly About AIMCo
10. We Respect Our Obligations to the Capital Markets
11. We Avoid Conflicts of Interest

If you become aware that a process, co-worker or other person is counteracting AIMCo's commitment to diversity and inclusion, you are expected to speak up and notify your manager, division leader, relevant stakeholder or the People & Culture department without delay.

We will not tolerate any form of harassment or acts of workplace violence. We are all accountable for building an inclusive workplace by actively looking out for one another and seeking ways to be intentionally inclusive in our work.

Sometimes we are asked to give presentations or express views on matters generally relating to investments or financial services, usually due to our position with AIMCo or acknowledged expertise. We also consider that our conduct outside the workplace may reflect on AIMCo. We use common sense when offering our personal opinions in a public forum (e.g., Internet "blogs", chat rooms, newsgroups, social networking websites, etc.) and refrain from making statements that might discredit AIMCo.

AIMCo COMMUNICATION MATERIALS

We will avoid using AIMCo communications materials for personal reasons as this could lead to a misunderstanding and possibly damage AIMCo's reputation. 4.10 WE RESPECT OUR OBLIGATIONS TO THE CAPITAL MARKETS

AIMCo is a significant player in the global capital markets and, as such, has many obligations under securities law. There are significant penalties for AIMCo and individuals should those laws be breached, and the reputational damage can be catastrophic.

We are all responsible for knowing and strictly complying with the law applicable to handling inside information.

You are prohibited from:

- Insider Trading – trading in securities of a public company, whether on behalf of AIMCo or in personal accounts you control, direct or influence, based on inside information AIMCo possesses about the company or obtained from any other source;
- Tipping – disclosing inside information, except as required in the necessary course of business, including advising or talking to others regarding trading at a time when you or AIMCo possesses inside information; and

We will communicate openly and honestly and will not “put up barriers” to isolate confidential information within working groups of employees except in exceptional circumstances. As a result, we all may gain access to inside information and equally share the responsibility of adhering to our personal trading guidelines regardless of whether or not we are actively involved in investment management.

4.11 WE AVOID CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

Directors, officers, employees, agents, consultants and contract workers of a company have a duty to advance the legitimate interests of that company. A “conflict of interest” occurs when your private interests interferes in any way with the interests of AIMCo. We will not act in self-interest or further our private interests by virtue of our positions or through the carrying out of our duties.

Examples of potential conflict situations include:

- Where we, our family or close personal friends are in, or may be perceived to be in, a position to benefit personally from information we receive or authority we have as a result of our role at AIMCo;
- Where we are in a direct or indirect reporting relationship with someone with whom we share a close personal relationship or would be perceived to benefit personally from the reporting relationship;
- Where we interact with someone in a professional capacity in the course of AIMCo’s business dealings with whom we share a close personal relationship, or where we have a direct influence in deciding whether AIMCo will engage in business dealings with a person with whom we share a close personal relationship; or
- Where friendship or other close personal relationship may be perceived to adversely affect our judgment or objectivity, both in the workplace and in any business dealings.

Conflicts of interest damage the trust between you, the public and AIMCo. A conflict of interest need not be real to damage AIMCo’s reputation, as even the appearance of a conflict may be equally harmful to AIMCo. We will be vigilant in all interactions, relationships or situations that could reasonably give rise to the appearance of a conflict.

We shall act with impartiality in carrying out our duties. You must avoid any relationship, influence, or activity that — in fact or in appearance — may impair your ability to make objective and fair decisions when performing your job.

You must not direct business, give preferential treatment, or undertake any activity in anticipation of a future offer of employment.

If a conflict of interest or a potential conflict arises, you must report it to the Chief Compliance Officer as soon as possible so that steps can be taken to resolve the situation.

AIMCo’s Chair and Chief Executive Officer are subject to additional obligations in accordance with the Conflicts of Interest Act:

- They may not take part in a decision in the course of carrying out their office or powers knowing that the decision might further a private interest of the Chair or CEO, a person directly associated with the Chair or CEO or the Chair's or CEO's minor or adult child;
- They may not use their office or powers to influence or to seek to influence a decision to be made by or on behalf of the Crown or a public agency to further a private interest of the Chair or CEO, a person directly associated with the Chair or CEO or the Chair's or CEO's minor or adult child or to improperly further any other person's private interest;
- They may not communicate information not available to the general public that was gained by the Chair or CEO in the course of carrying out their office or powers to further or seek to further a private interest of the Chair or CEO or any other person's private interest;
- They must appropriately and adequately disclose a real or apparent conflict of interest;
- The CEO may not be involved in any other appointment, business, undertaking or employment, including self-employment, without the approval of the Ethics Commissioner;
- The CEO may not own or have a beneficial interest in publicly-traded securities, without the approval of the Ethics Commissioner;
- The CEO must file disclosure statements with the Ethics Commissioner in accordance with the Conflict of Interest Act;
- The CEO must file returns with the Ethics Commissioner relating to persons directly associated with the CEO in accordance with the Conflict of Interest Act;
- The CEO may not, for a period of 12 months from the last day of the CEO's employment with AIMCo, lobby any public office holder or act on a commercial basis or make representations on the CEO's own behalf or on behalf of any other person in connection with any ongoing matter in connection with which the CEO directly acted for or advised a department or public agency involved in the matter;
- The CEO may not, for a period of 12 months from the last day the CEO had a direct and significant official dealing with a department or public agency, make representations with respect to a contract with or benefit from that department or agency or solicit or accept on the CEO's own behalf a contract or benefit from that department or public agency; and
- The CEO may not, for a period of 12 months from the last day the CEO had a direct and significant official dealing with an individual, organization, board of directors or equivalent body of an organization, accept employment with that individual or organization or an appointment to the board of directors or equivalent body.

4.12 WE EXERCISE CAUTION WHEN ACCEPTING OR GIVING BUSINESS COURTESIES

AIMCo is particularly sensitive to the public's perception of how we deal with business courtesies.

Business courtesies can be defined as “benefits, entertainment, gifts and favours provided to or received from existing or potential customers, suppliers, employees or others doing or seeking to do business with AIMCo”. Examples include offers to pay for travel and conference expenses, sporting event and concert tickets, and lunches or dinners.

We may offer or accept business courtesies less than the accepted currency thresholds (in the currency of your home office) provided they are not in cash or readily convertible to cash (such as securities, cheques or money orders) and:

- Are consistent with accepted business practice;
- Cannot be construed as an attempt to bribe or influence, or as a form of payment for a particular transaction or a referral;
- Do not contravene any law and would not compromise our integrity (or, in circumstances where we are offering the gift, the integrity of the recipient or their organization); and
- Would not adversely affect AIMCo's reputation if knowledge of the gift was to become public.

The accepted currency thresholds are set at amounts that AIMCo believes would not reasonably be construed as an attempt to influence behavior. What could potentially influence behavior may differ from person to person, but under no circumstances should you offer or accept a gift higher than $/£/€/S$100 or hosted event higher than $/£/€/S$500 per occurrence without the appropriate approval. AIMCo employees should refer to the Business Courtesies Policy for further guidance. You must promptly disclose to the Compliance department any business courtesy offered or received that is greater than the accepted currency threshold. In addition, you must adhere to the $/£/€/S$500 single source annual limit set out in the Business Courtesies Policy.

GIFTS

You must not solicit, accept or offer gifts in exchange for, or as a condition of, exercising your duties as an employee of AIMCo. Should an unsolicited gift be received that exceeds the accepted currency threshold, it must be disclosed to the Compliance department and may be declared an asset of AIMCo and disposed of as appropriate. We will not tolerate any violation of applicable law or of our policies related to business courtesies.

BRIBERY AND CORRUPTION

You are strictly prohibited from engaging in any form of bribery or corruption.

It is illegal to bribe anyone. However, special care should be taken when dealing with government officials. In particular, you must not offer, promise or give any financial or other advantage to a government official (or another person at the government official's request) with the intention to influence the government official in their official capacity to retain or obtain business or an advantage in the conduct of business.

AIMCo is subject to a number of complex laws and regulations in Canada, the U.S., the U.K., Singapore and other jurisdictions that govern the provision of gifts and entertainment to government officials. Consequences for breaching them are severe.

5.0 Reporting Violations

5.1 REPORTING PROCESS

We will be accountable to one another, and accept the responsibility, freedom and the power to act and make a difference at AIMCo. We will also be watchful of the practices that we see occurring around us, and will take reasonable steps to prevent or detect improper conduct and report any suspicion of fraudulent, abusive, unethical or illegal activity.

In that regard, you must report any breach of this Code, including any activities by a director, officer, employee, agent, consultant or contract worker that may constitute:

- Unethical behaviour and breaches of AIMCo policies and procedures, including but not limited to the Code;
- Accounting, investment valuation, or financial reporting irregularities;
- Bullying, harassment or intimidation in the workplace that has not been reported and addressed in accordance with the Respectful Workplace Policy;
- Mismanagement of funds;
- Conflict of interest or other unethical business conduct; or
- Any other matter of concern that you believe is a breach of this Code or any policies referred to in this Code.

You should take your concerns to your immediate supervisor, or any other management personnel you feel comfortable talking to. Should you not feel comfortable doing so, you may contact the Chief Compliance Officer, in confidence. At all times, AIMCo's Chief Legal Officer, Chief Risk Officer, Chief People, Culture & Engagement Officer and Chief Executive Officer are also available to you.

You may not remain anonymous if the report is of your own error, wrongdoing or breach of the Code.

We encourage the use of the system to report significant issues where an employee is not comfortable speaking to a supervisor or one of the individuals noted earlier.

INVESTIGATIONS

We will investigate all complaints with care and discretion in accordance with our Confidential Reporting Policy. We will keep any such reports confidential to the extent possible, consistent with the need to conduct a thorough investigation.

You must cooperate in any investigations. Failing to cooperate or providing false information will result in disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment.

5.2 PROHIBITION AGAINST RETALIATION

We will not retaliate or discriminate against any person who has submitted a good faith complaint. Specifically, we may not discharge, demote, suspend, threaten, harass, or in any manner discriminate or retaliate against a complainant or other person who provides information in good faith.

If you feel that you have experienced retaliation as a result of making a complaint or providing information, you should report such incidents to your supervisor, other management personnel or the Chief Compliance Officer, Chief Legal Officer or Chief People, Culture & Engagement Officer. Many jurisdictions also provide legal protection for individuals bringing forth complaints or providing information to investigators.

We will investigate violations of our no retaliation policy and individuals who have been found to retaliate or discriminate will be disciplined up to and including termination of employment. Similarly, individuals who are found to have intentionally made false and malicious claims may be subject to disciplinary action.
