

Being able to share the story of your academy is an excellent way to showcase the breadth and depth of what your students are doing. Data enhances these stories and serves as a recruitment tool and way to inspire people to get involved. Having the data in this format can also be a way to celebrate success and guide your future planning.

You now have a multitude of metrics available through tools including the Work-Based Learning Participation Tracker, Reflection Form completed by students after each WBL activity, internship assessments, the annual student survey, and more. It's time to harness the power of this data to bring the story of your academy to life and share it!

Through the following easily customizable Canva templates, you can create storytelling documents for multiple audiences. You can view what each template looks like on the following pages.

To access the templates, you can create a free Canva account or use an existing account if you already have one. The first page of each template provides an overview of the different fields and how you can customize them and then you can scroll to subsequent pages to begin customizing the template based on what you want to highlight about your academy.
