Make lasting impact.

Today's high school students are tomorrow's leaders, innovators, and entrepreneurs. When local businesses and professionals support NAF academies, they are helping students to explore career aspirations, develop crucial skills, and make the necessary connections to begin a successful career.

Connect with the next generation of leaders.

NAF advisory boards provide that essential bridge between schools and the workplace. Business and community professionals who volunteer on local advisory boards play an active role in:

- Collaborating with educators to inform curricula & help organize work-based learning and internship opportunities
- Giving students the opportunity to build relationships with mentors early and learn from successful adults
- Developing their future workforce by shaping talent in high school

Industries we work with:

NAF is proud to partner with companies of all sizes in finance, information technology, engineering, health sciences, and hospitality and tourism.

How can I make lasting impact?

	Offer mentorship and provide insights and feedback on student projects
	Work with fellow board members to secure and coordinate work-based learning experience and paid internship opportunities.

	Meet on a regular basis – typically monthly – to provide sustainable and organized support.

“Whenever I interact with students, I can't help but notice that they bring a youthful infusion of input and hard work. They grew up in a time dramatically different than I did, thus bringing diversity in thought that Lenovo and I can greatly benefit from.”
